Mellon Rumors.
Expensive Prohibition.
Switzerland Votes Wet.
Chewing the Clippings.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WALL STREET "enjoyed" a bad day yesterday, thanks to rumors, and, perhaps a few facts.

One rumor told of Mr. Mellon's coming resignation. Mr. Mellon is not that sort of person. When he is through with his job, and feels like attending to his own business, he will resign. Nobody will crowd him into resigning.

WHEN he does resign, the people should find a way to show their gratitude for service rendered by the ablest Secretary of the Treasury in the history of the United States.

THERE is "always good in evil," and little lambs that saw values shrinking yesterday will, perhaps, find comfort in the fact that the price collapse meant happiness for Federal Reserve gentlemen.

They had not been very successful in efforts to smash the market thus far, and even a little success must be gratifying.

IN 1928 this government spent $936,000,000 trying to enforce prohibition.

The money would have been well spent, had the spending made the people temperate.

UNFORTUNATELY, all of the millions and all the shootings have not interfered with the operations of 32,000 speakeasies in the City of New York alone. They have not interfered with the operations of drug peddlers, or the working of tens of thousands of private whisky stills.

INSTEAD of spending millions trying to enforce prohibition, the nation might class gin, whisky and other alcoholic poisons with deadly drugs, and class light wine and beer with tobacco, deriving a gigantic revenue from the regulated sale of both. That is what Thomas Jefferson advised. It might be worth trying.

EVERY one of the 24 cantons in Switzerland voted against prohibition and local option. The Swiss, a small people, have ruled themselves and kept as sober as they cared to be, for many centuries.

THE proposed prohibition law would not have affected beers and wines. European countries having always used them temperately, do not call them "intoxicating."

The Swiss, in every one of the 24 cantons, expressed the opinion concerning strong alcoholic liquors that they would continue to drink or not drink them as they thought best, rather than let some law decide it for them.

THE fight against drugs is particularly difficult.

A prisoner in California received several newspaper clippings, editorials containing lofty advice.

The prison chief said, "You can't have them unless the editor of the publication sends them to you direct."

THE reason is interesting. Men soak newspaper clippings in a liquid containing strong drugs. The clippings are dried, then sent to convicts and the convicts, instead of reading them, chew them, and extract the drugs.

RAMSAY MACDONALD, head of the British Labor party, a self-educated and WELL educated man, urges Britons to vote for Labor at the coming election.

His vote will be very big. Lord Beaverbrook, who belongs to the many-time-millionaire party, believes that Labor will poll the biggest vote.

UNFORTUNATELY for Ramsay MacDonald's sincerity and earnestness, theory is one thing and practice is another.

The Labor party went in to settle the nation's labor troubles, and almost immediately the country was plunged into the worst strike that England had. The Labor party left the coal industry of Britain apparently ruined, and tens of thousands of men have been out of work ever since.

CLEMENCEAU has changed his book about to be published, and announces that it will contain no attack on Foch—the great marshal being dead.

Marshal Foch had attacked Clemenceau, the attacks based on the fact that Foch was a deeply religious man, and Clemenceau notoriously irreligious.

Clemenceau's lack of religious belief prevented his election as president of France, after the war.

Frenchmen, not very religious as a rule, have a saying, "I don't want my clergymen to bother me, but I don't want anybody to bother my clergyman."

FOCH and Clemenceau, of course, will meet in Heaven, in the front row where good patriots sit together. And both will be surprised to meet there.

Foch by that time will know that but for Clemenceau there would not have been any "great Foch," or any victory for the French, and will probably consider that as important in the long run as technical religious belief.

ZEP TO SAIL TOMORROW FOR U. S.

International News Service.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 14.—Fridjof Nansen, famous Polar explorer, arrived here today to bid farewell to Sir Hubert Wilkins, who will leave for the United States tomorrow morning upon the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin. Sir Hubert is renowned for his exploration by airplane in both the Arctic and Antarctic.

The start of the dirigible for Lakehurst, N. J., was postponed until noon tomorrow, owing to bad weather over the Atlantic. It was to have left early in the morning.

N. Y. WOMAN ABOARD

The only woman passenger on her voyage to America will be Mrs. Mary Pierce, of New York City. Mrs. Pierce, who is only 30, motored up from Italy with her chauffeur and her maid and walked into the zeppelin offices this morning. She asked the price of a ticket and without protest paid down the $2,000 asked.

Scenes of great activity were enacted at the Zeppelin airport here as final arrangements were made as final arrangements were made.

With the exception of loading on the fuel and putting the finishing touches to the great airship's luxurious larder, everything is now ready for the start.

This early start, which had been selected in order to give the Zeppelin the greatest possible advantage of the daylight hours, was the only factor to make the ship's departure different from the prosaic sailing of any trans-Atlantic passenger liner.

POSTOFFICE ABOARD

To facilitate departure and arrival at Lakehurst, passport formalities have been reduced to a minimum.

Thousands of letters have stacked up at the little postoffice here

Zeppelin Escort To Be Piloted By Masked Woman

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS.)—Enter the feminine "Masked Marvel" of the world of aviation.

As the Graf Zeppelin pushes its nose through the fog over the North Atlantic it will be met 1,000 miles from the North American shore line by a masked and unknown woman piloting a seaplane of the old NC type, in which the round-the-world flyers made their historic flight.

The "Masked Marvel" and her alternate pilot, an unknown man, will wave greetings to the Zeppelin's passengers and then will accompany the big dirigible to Lakehurst.

Announcement of the woman's plans was made here today by Lieut. Leigh Wade, famous army flyer.

The "Masked Marvel's" flifiht to meet the zeppelin, according to Lieut. Wade, will be preparatory to an ocean flight which she is contemplating for the near future.

'Kidnaped'

MRS. THOMAS E. BIVINS

CASH LACK COST BRIDE, CHARGE

The "cash and marry" philosophy of others wrecked his marital bark, Thomas Bevins, 24, of 233 Lakewood avenue, West View, charged today while he vainly tried to find Mrs. Stella Cousins Bevins, his bride of a day, and process servers with a habeas corpus writ sought her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gonoghan, also vainly.

Bevins said that, after he had been accepted for a year as a suitor by the girl and her parents, his financial status suddenly became a matter of extreme importance to his fiancee's step-father, Monoghan.

"Get some money first," he was told, Bevins said.

Bevins got enough to acquire a small apartment at the West View address. It suited the girl, but not her parents, the bridegroom said. Saturday, a day after their marriage, Bevins was separated from his bride. He believes she has been spirited out of town.

"I love her and I'll go to the end of the world for me," declared Bevins, who is 24. His wife was 21 on March 2.

In his petition to Judge Thomas J. Ford for the habeas corpus writ, Bevins set forth that he and his bride had been called to her mother's home last Saturday. There, he alleged, Mrs. Bevins was locked in a room while her step-father confiscated the newlyweds' marriage certificate and ordered Bevins from the house.

Pirate Game, Two Others Called Off

Rain general throughout the East kept the Pirates idle today and resulted in the postponement of three of four games scheduled in the National League.

The Pirates-Robins game at Brooklyn was postponed shortly after noon when a heavy downpour drenched the Flatbush field, the Reds-Giants game in New York, and the Cards-Phils game in Philadelphia also were washed off the day's slate. The Braves and Cubs escaped the showers epidemic and were able to play in Boston.

O'BRIEN NEW PHILA. CO. PRESIDENT

John J. O'Brien, of Chicago, head of the Byllesby organization, was elected president of the Philadelphia Company at a stockholders' meeting here today.

Frank R. Phillips was elected a director.

O'Brien succeeds A. W. Robertson, who resigned recently to become chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

At the next meeting of the board of directors, Phillips, is was stated, is slated to be elected first vice president and general manager.

The principal subsidiaries of the Philadelphia Company are the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the Duquesne Light Company and the Equitable Gas Company.

Phillips was vice president and general manager of the Duquesne Light Company.. It is understood that in his new capacity he will exercise all of the operating duties of president of the Philadelphia Company, in addition to his Duquesne Light Company work.

O'Brien, the new head of the Philadelphia Company, is the president of the Standard Gas and Electric Company, main holding company of the utility system of which the Pittsburgh companies are a part.

O'Brien's headquarters will continue to be in Chicago.

Anne's Aunt Coming Home for Wedding

PARIS, May 14.—(INS.)—Alice Morrow, a sister of Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador to Mexico, arrived here from Constantinople today en route for the United States to attend the marriage of her niece, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. She has booked passage upon a United States liner sailing Thursday. Miss Morrow told International News Service she did not know the exact date of the wedding, although her brother had requested her to hurry home for it.

250 Textile Strikers Freed Without Bail

ELIZABETHTOWN, Tenn., May 14.—(AP.)—The more than 250 textile strikers arrested today on charges of intimidation, were released shortly before noon after Ben Allen, county attorney general, had addressed them. They were freed without bond and Magistrate George Ryan said he did not know whether hearings would be held.

Richard Dix Soon To Leave Hospital

BALTIMORE, May 14.—(INS.)—Richard Dix, screen actor, who has been in Union Memorial Hospital here for a week undergoing a "simple operation," is well on the road to recovery, and will be able to leave in about a week, hospital attaches said today.

CITY COUNCIL CAB RIDES PROBED

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt intends to find out if councilmen or other city officials have received free tickets from the Green and Yellow Cab companies.

He so declared on being informed of reports that books of taxicab coupons had been much in evidence in the City-County Building on several occasions.

TICKETS, NOT PASSES

The question of free tickets is to be investigated in connection with the hearing on the city's complaint against the higher taxi rates that the the Green and Yellow are to put into effect next week.

It is alleged the companies gave out, not passes, but books of coupons of various denominations that were accepted in lieu of cash for taxi rides. Attorney Hiram D. Hirsh, Pittsburgh representative of the Public Service Commission, said if this were true it would be regarded "more harshly" than if passes had been issued. The Public Service act forbids the granting of free transportation by common carriers, or transportation at a rate other than the authorized tariff.

INCOME AFFECTED

The question of free tickets is to be raised because of its bearing on the income and operating expenses of the companies seeking to raise their rates.

Former Police Magistrate Walter J. Lloyd, who was at one time public relations counsel for the Yellow Cab Company, and also for the Green, said the companies sometimes paid for cab stand privileges with books of coupons.

"How about the tickets sent out as Christmas gifts?" he was asked.

"You should ask Paul Houston of the Green Cab Company and Ed.

East End Pastors Aid in Destroying Big Liquor Stores

Thirteen ministers, members of the East Liberty Ministerial Association, were guests of Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington at an anti-liquor demonstration staged in the Allen warehouse, Allen street, when several hundred gallons of government-seized beer, wine and whisky were destroyed.

The ministers joined in the destruction, hurling bottles of liquors of good and questionable quality into the elevator shaft pit.

Mrs. Pennington was a member of the party which included the Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan, the Rev. Dr. W. M. Woodfin, the Rev. E. Hulley, the Rev. R. B. Johnson, the Rev. A. R. Robinson, the Rev. G. W. Englar, the Rev. Dr. George C. Fisher, the Rev. R. P. Graham, the Rev. E. W. Byers, the Rev. W. R. McGeary, the Rev. W. L. Ritter, the Rev. E. J. Keifer and the Rev. H. H. Forsythe.

COLLETT BEATS BRITISHER

ST. ANDREWS, FIFE, Scotland, May 14.—Glenna Collett, American national titleholder, heading the United States invasion in the British Women's Open golf championship, scored her second victory of the tournament here today by defeating Miss M. Bryant, of Ashford, 3 up and 2 to play.

Marion Hollins, former American champion, defeated P. Ramsey, a Northumberland player, 4 and 3, and joined her compatriot, Miss Collett, in the third round.

Gertrude Boothby, of Rochester, Minn., eliminated Mrs. J. A. D. Bell, 6 and 5.

Joyce Wethered, British star, thrice-winner of the championship, crushed Mrs. D. G. Madill under a score of 8 and 7.

In the third round tomorrow Miss Collett will meet Beryl Brown, of Formby, a former semi-finalist in the English native championship.

King George Likely To Attend Races

LONDON, May 14.—(AP.)—It was announced yesterday as a probability that King George will attend the Ascot race meeting on June 18 while he is staying at Windsor.

GIRL FLIER DIES, QUIZ BEGUN

The death of a girl student aviator called for an investigation today by county detectives.

The student pilot, Rose Collins, told detectives before she died in Mercy Hospital that a Homestead woman had performed an illegal operation on her.

Miss Collins, 24, was a waitress at the Country Club, where she lived. Last year she won a student pilot's license after instructions from a commercial flier at Rodgers Field. She had not carried on her aviation activities for the last seven months.

She told the detectives of the Homestead woman when she was admitted to the hospital last Saturday. A man to whom she referred as "Herman" also is being sought.

A brother, Thomas A. Collins, of 123 Tipton street, Hazelwood, said a sister, Mrs. F. J. Grogan, of Kennedy Township, would claim the body.

Former Pittsburgh Man Goes to Atlanta

WHEELING, W. Va., May 14.—Fred L. "Double Six" Mentz, a former Pittsburgher, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and serve two years in the federal prison at Atlanta when found guilty in the United States District Court of a third liquor law violation.

Mentz had been convicted and served a term in the Washington (Pa.) County Jail following conviction for liquor running several years ago.

BEAT DRIVER, DEPUTY FLEES

A dozen men in two automobiles early today attacked a Liberty Dairy Company wagon on the North Side, put two employes and a deputy sheriff to flight, caught one of the employes, and after a desperate battle hurled him through the front window of a private residence. The other employe and the deputy escaped.

The attackers then fled before the gunshots of a policeman. Two men were arrested later and lodged in North Side Police Station on charge of being suspicious persons.

OFFICER OPENS FIRE

Eugene Sines, 23, of 827 Turtle way, and James Moore, 34, of 1010 Western avenue, guarded by a deputy sheriff, were delivering milk near Mendota and General Robinson streets when the men approached in two cars. Moore was attacked first, but succeeded in eluding the men who turned to Sines, pursuing him and surrounding him in front of 324 East Lacock street, where he battled with them for several minutes. He was finally subdued by a blow on the head and thrown through the window of the house.

Policeman Leonard N. Brown, attracted by the crash of the broken window, chased the men who leaped into their cars and sped east in Lacock street under a hail of bullets from the policeman's revolver. One machine slowed down and Brown arrested two men who gave their names as Floyd Hesner, 23, of 228 Cedarville street, and Fred Kunze, 29, of 520 Goehring avenue, alleged to be striking drivers.

Straw Hat Show Comes Tomorrow For Summer Run

Persons who wear felts and derbies after today do so at their own social risk. Tomorrow straw hats, harbinger of warm sunshine, are the thing in all strata of society.

It has been a great season for both felts and derbies. The derby interests assert that this year their headgear covered more heads and jazz band cornets than they served in any previous year.

The manufacturers of felt hats point with pride to the fact that it was a felt that Whoopee McGurk wore.

The weatherman promises satisfactory weather for the first straw hat day, although he warns that there may be showers. In such case the thing to do is to stand under an awning until the rain stops.

OAKLAND POLICE HUNTING POODLE WHICH BIT FIVE

Police today were searching for a white poodle, believed to be rabid, which bit four women and a man in Oakland yesterday afternoon. The dog, in its wild dash through the streets, terrorized pedestrians and eluded more than a score of police who scoured the district.

Miss Virginia Famariss, a Carnegie Tech student, of 4702 Fifth avenue, was the first victim. She was bitten on the right leg when the dog invaded one of the school buildings. She told police that the animal followed her when she left for school.

Another Tech student, Miss Charlotte Ball, of 5502 Forbes street, was attacked near the campus. Bitten on the right ankle, she, like Miss Famariss, was treated at the school by a physician.

Dr. S. W. Downey, of 4317 Bayard street, was the third victim. He was bitten on the left leg at Bayard and Craig streets, and treated at Homeopathic Hospital, police said.

The poodle snapped at the heels of Mrs. L. Packard while she was standing on the porch of her home, 4900 Center avenue. It then ran to the Packard yard where it attempted to bite Mrs. Packard's chauffeur, but was routed.

Mrs. L. W. Hanzell, of 6356 Waldron street, another victim, was bitten on the leg while walking near the Schenley Apartments. The wound was cauterized by a nearby doctor. Oakland police said they were informed that three other persons whose names they were unable to learn also were attacked.

LOOKS LIKE LINDY, ANNE WILL BE WEDDED IN MAINE

NORTH HAVEN, Me., May 14.—(INS.)—What looks like a miniature "honeymoon airport" for Lindy was being constructed on the Morrow summer estate on this island today.

The clearing of a 10-acre sheep pasture that slopes to the sea on the 70-acre farm of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was regarded by natives as clinching assurance that the Ambassador's daughter, Anne, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would be married here in June.

With its long, rolling and narrow approach, the "honeymoon airport," if such the field is to be, would bring a plane low over Penobscot Bay in landing, and Lindy would have to "watch out" for the sheep that dot this and nearby pastures, the rocky shore and the dense woods in the rear.

Gangs of workmen were busy today plowing and clearing the land about the Morrow home and planting gardens. The vanguard of the Morrow household, two maids, will arrive May 17 to open the house.

The whole village was "perking up" today. Grounds of the Community Church, of which the Rev. H. F. Huse is island pastor, were being cleared and new trees planted. Other homes were being "groomed." The island golf course was being "polished."

TOWN HALL SITE SPLITS OAKLAND

The Schenley Farms Civic Association took no action on the proposal to put the $6,000,000 Town Hall in the exclusive Schenley Farms residential district at its meeting in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association last night.

Another lively session is expected tonight when the Oakland Board of Trade discusses the site question in the grill room of Hotel Schenley. Downtown and Monument Hill site advocates, it is said, will attend the meeting.

A controversy arose recently in the civic organization after Lincoln S. Dickey, town hall expert, had submitted his report, recommending the site as the most logical of five sites given him for study by the Town Hall Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. This resulted in calling of the meeting.

Vigorous argument for and against location of the hall in Oakland, with opinion about evenly divided, marked the meeting. It was attended by about 100 persons.

NICOLA FAVORS SITE

Location of the hall on the Oakland site bounded by Bigelow boulevard, Fifth, Ruskin and Lytton avenues, "would mark completion of Pittsburgh's civic center, completely protect residential property and greatly increase real estate values," F. F. Nicola declared in an address favoring the site. Nicola described a plan for providing parking platforms, at the Junction Hollow bridge, to care for 5,300 automobiles. This, he said, would eliminate congestion and solve all problems of congested traffic and noise.

Frank Wilbur Main, secretary of the organization, declared:

"Nothing I can think of would add to our troubles like the kind of town hall Mr. Dickey has suggested. He says it must be a commercial venture to be a success. This means circuses, chicken shows, horse shows and like events, with their attendant noise and huge crowds. If we do not get that kind of hall the only thing that can be built is a glorified soldiers' memorial and I don't think the taxpayers of Allegheny County would stand for the latter kind of a building."

RESIDENTS AT ODDS

In an open forum discussion between the addresses of the two speakers, A. H. Burchfield, builder of the first home in the elite residence section, said:

"The Town Hall should be downtown. I am so certain that it would depreciate property values in this district if put here that I would sell my home to anybody who wanted it for 50 cents on the dollar."

Mrs. A. J. Kelly, lifelong resident of the district, berated the members of the organization for their "selfish attitude in presuming to decide for the entire county where the Town Hall should be." She urged those present to "have confidence in F. F. Nicola, whose foresight changed the district from a cow pasture to a world famous civic center, and depend on his judgment of the site as the proper one for the hall."

Several other property owners voiced their openions.

VOTE PREVENTED

A motion made by Burchfield that the meeting take a vote on the question of endorsement of the proposed Town Hall site was overruled by Paul C. Dunlevy, president of the organization, who presided.

This precipitated a heated parliamentary discussion in which Dunlevy explained that during his absence from the city the meeting had been called by Main. The meeting adjourned without any action being taken.

A downtown site for the Town Hall, preferably the ground on which the Exposition buildings stand, was indorsed by the East Liberty Woman's Club at its monthly meeting yesterday. The Exposition site at the Point recommends itself because the city already owns the property, it was stated, the building the Town Hall there would hasten the erection of a wall around the waterfront. Indorsement of the site followed a talk by the Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton.

Hammerstein Weds Australian Actress

BALTIMORE, May 15.—(INS.)—Oscar Hammerstein, II, New York theatrical producer, and Mrs. Dorothy Blanchard Jacobson, an actress of Melbourne, Australia, were married here today. The ceremony was performed in a hotel by the Rev. William A. Melvin, Methodist minister.

The couple left for New York and will sail for Europe Friday, returning July 1.

TERROR SCENE PAINTED BY VESTRIS' SURVIVOR

LONDON, May 14.—(AP.)—A vivid description of the terrible scene when one of the lifeboats of the ill-fated Vestris, containing more than two score women and children, was sunk after its launching was told by George Amsdell, storekeeper of the vessel, at today's session of the Board of Trade inquiry into the disaster.

Amsdell also told how he and several others swimming in the wreckage were shoved away from two other boats with oars and were left to their fate.

The storekeeper said boat No. 6, of which he was in charge, jammed when being lowered. Somebody shouted: "Cut the falls!"

He cut the aft fall and "either a big wave hit the boat and released the forward fall or somebody cut it for she dropped clean into the water." This good fortune was not to continue, however, for, said Amsdell:

"We were shoving her off when I looked up and saw a big white thing hit the ship's side and drop on top of the boat and the boat went down. I think what hit us was one of the patent davits."

He saw eight or nine bodies, some of children and others of members of the crew floating on the water with lifebelts, but was unable to say whether they were with their faces upwards as he did not note sufficiently.

TOWN HALL-R. R. STATION URGED

A combination of Town Hall and railway terminal building is embodied in suggestions for the proposed civic improvement by W. J. Strassburger, president of the Grant Building, Inc., and submitted to county commissioners. His plan would involve construction of a terminal at Grant street, Second avenue and the Panhandle Railroad, which would be used by the Baltimore and Ohio, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and the Panhandle Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Leaders in the Allegheny County Town Hall Association said that the site suggested had been under consideration by that body's engineers.

Removal of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station, Strassburger said, would eliminate traffic congestion at the Smithfield Street Bridge, and permit a huge plaza where the present station now stands, with the new terminal fronting on Grant street.

Parking space for 4,500 cars would be provided by a ramp garage, and an upper ramp surrounding the building would relieve traffic on the street level.

The proposed site contains 11 acres, three times the land necessary for the proposed Town Hall, Mr. Strassburger pointed out. A large part of the property is said to be owned by the Baltimore and Ohio, which would leave only a small portion to be purchased from the funds of the $6,000,000 bond issue.

POLICE SHOT ENDS RAID

several men believed to have been cut on their heads when Sines struck them with a heavy wire basket used in carrying milk bottles.

All men on strike, including 70 drivers, were paid off today and notified that unless they returned to work by 5 p. m. they would be discharged, according to P. P. Carney, superintendent of the plant.

INTIMIDATE WORKERS

"Attempts have been made to intimidate wives of drivers who otherwise would return," said Carney. "The women have been told that their husbands would be attacked or their homes blown up if the men returned to work."

Virtually all routes were manned today, 56 delivery and 15 wholesale trucks being sent out from the Forbes street plant, according to Carney.

Two striking employes, Joe Daggett, 1316 Fifth avenue, and Albert Klamer, of Crafton, arrested yesterday, charged with molesting employes near the plant, were discharged by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Central Police Court today after promising to cease their activities as pickets.

STUDENT SPIES SAVED FROM COLLEGE MOB

DES MOINES, Ia., May 14.—(INS.)—Rescued from an irate undergraduate crowd which denounced them as "spies," four Canadian students at Des Moines University were on their way to their homes today after being escorted to a train under police guard.

The quartet were Frank Smith, E. Knechtel, J. F. Dempster and Morris Rose.

They were accused by the enraged students of attempting to spread alien propaganda in the school.

A faculty member and a trustee of Des Moines University have gone to Buffalo, N. Y., to present to the Baptist Bible Union convention the student and faculty side of the dissension that has shaken the school.

"RAZZ" MISS REBMAN

On the same train with these two—Dean Earl C. Callaway and the Rev. Minor Stevens — was Miss Edith M. Rebman, secretary of the university board and also of the Bible Union.

There was a demonstration against Miss Rebman when she entrained last night. A small group of undergraduates sang a song ending, "Rah, Rah, George Washington"—the song which was said to have provoked feeling between Canadian and American students.

The students hissed as the car in which Miss Rebman rode went past them.

PRESIDENT REMAINS

Of the major actors in the discordant affairs of the university, only one, Dr. Harry C. Wayman, deposed president, remained. Although he is listed to speak before the Buffalo convention, he decided to stay here to keep the university in operation. To leave, he believed, might be in contempt of a court injunction obtained yesterday by students under which the school is ordered to continue its classes, despite an edict by the board of trustees closing the institution indefinitely.

Dean Callaway indicated that the principal point of attack he and Mr. Stevens would make to the Bible Union would be against continued control of school administration by Dr. T. T. Shields, chairman of the university board, and Miss Rebman. He said the deans were willing to sign the trustees' resolution, adopted Saturday, clearing Dr. Shields and Miss Rebman of charges of indiscretions, but that they had been given no opportunity to do so.

CONVENTION OPENS

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 14.—(INS.)—Fundamentalists from all sections of the continent were here today for the opening of the seventh annual convention of the Baptist Bible Union of America and the coincidental battle against the militant leaders of Modernism.

The outstanding problem which is scheduled to be heard during the early hours of the convention is the crisis at Des Moines University, the Bible Union's only school, which is now continuing classes under an injunction issued by a District Court following the dismissal of instructors and the president, Harry C. Wayman, by the board of trustees.

Dr. T. T. Shields, chairman of the board of trustees of the university, and president of the Bible Union, who is regarded as the storm center of the fundamentalist-modernism warfare, was expected to address the convention tonight and explain the causes of the university board's action.

It was indicated by fundamentalist leaders that Dr. Shields would charge Dr. Wayman with sympathizing with students of modernistic leanings.

TRIAL DELAYED FOR WEDDING

The roles of bridegroom and of defendant in Criminal Court are too much for one man in one day, Judge James B. Drew decided today.

Therefore, he postponed trial of Eddie Burke, of the Lawrenceville Burkes, until May 22. Burke today was to have faced charges of impersonating an officer, pointing firearms and entering a building, in connection with a burglary in Herron Hill.

At 9:30 the judge and jury were ready, but Burke was reluctant. He had, his attorney told the court, been married just 30 minutes before. Judge Drew set the honeymoon at one week.

Drug Suspect Gets Year, Blames Wife

WHEELING, W. Va., May 14.—Albert Kemple, 60, former Pittsburgh resident, now residing in Moundsville, was sentenced to serve a year and a day in the Federal prison at Atlanta when he was arraigned in court yesterday, charged with violating the Harrison narcotic law. He blamed his wife, Laura Kemple, for his downfall and asked to be sent to prison that he might be cured as an addict. The wife was sentenced a few days ago to serve a year and six months in the female prison at Alderson, W. Va., on a charge of selling dope.

Construction of the parking spaces illustrated on this map of Schenley Park was proposed at last night's meeting of the Schenley Farms Civic Association. Parking would be free.

ZEP WILL SAIL TOMORROW FOR U. S.

to be carried aboard the dirigible. A branch postoffice has been installed aboard so that passengers may mail letters as well as send wireless dispatches.

Everything has been done to take this trip out of the category of "adventures," and to make it merely the latest phase of the most modern and speediest method of passenger and freight transportation.

The Graf Zeppelin will be heavily loaded when she takes off tomorrow under the command of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the famous dirigible pilot and designer. There will be a total complement of 20 passengers and a crew of 39. In addition, on board will be a female gorilla known as "Missi," which is destined for the Chicago zoo.

Efforts were made to have "Missi" listed as a passenger at half the ordinary rate of charge, on the grounds that she is halfway between animal and human being.

"MISSI" NOT PASSENGER

The dirigible company decided decided that "Missi" might prove entirely too much of a burden in the passengers' quarters, and she has been consigned to the baggage room.

Convinced by yesterday's trial flight of two hours over Lake Constance that the great dirigible is in splendid condition, Dr. Eckener is certain that he will lop considerable time off his two previous crossings in the Graf Zeppelin.

However, he will sacrifice speed in the interests of safety, and if necessary will take a deep southerly course across the Atlantic if storms threaten on the northerly route.

As laborers worked from the early hours of the day on loading the Zeppelin's huge cargo, reason was seen for the new name—"Freighter of the Air"—with which the ship has been dubbed.

CARRIES MUCH MAIL

The Graf Zeppelin will carry the greatest batch of mail ever transported in the air, as well as two tons of freight, which includes a grand piano, two kegs of smoked herrings, several packages of silver and gold jewelry and any number of miscellaneous items. Its passengers will be of an equally varied nature, numebring a diamond merchant, an engineer, a wholesale grocer, a newspaper man, an Arctic explorer, a pianist, a physician and a number of German aerial experts.

A German youth with a lust for adventure was found hidden among the crates and boxes destined for the voyage just before the trial flight yesterday. And Dr. Eckener hurriedly sent him on his way, resolving that he would have no excess baggage in the form of a stowaway this trip.

FRANCE DENIES DELAYS

PARIS, May 14.—(AP.)—The French foreign office today stated that permission had been granted to the dirigible Graf Zeppelin to fly over France and characterized as a canard a report from Friedrichshafen that tomorrow's scheduled departure had been postponed because France was withholding her permission.

Union Acts to Avert N.Y. Building Tieup

NEW YORK, May 14.—A sudden recession in their attitude of refusing to supply men on jobs of three members of the Building Trades Employers Association by the electrical workers union this afternoon promised to avert the lockout of 75,000 union workmen scheduled for tomorrow.

The declaration of the lockout by the employers' association was accompanied by the charge that the union leaders had attempted to force these three employers out of the association.

Crushed in Freight Car, Workman Dies

John Skicira, 50, of 58 Ohio street, Stowe Township, died in St. John's General Hospital today of injuries suffered yesterday when he was crushed by the door of a freight car in the Pressed Steel Car Company yard, McKees Rocks.

Statue of Liberty Used in Death Leap

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—The Statue of Liberty yesterday was used as a means to suicide.

Ralph Gleason, 22, of the Bronx, leaped from the head of the statue 300 feet to his death on the rocks of Bedloe Island at the statue's base.

'KNOWS NOTHING' OF PASSES

Wray A. Houston, president of the Green Cab Company, who returned to Pittsburgh Sunday from a long sojourn at Atlantic City, was asked if free tickets had been given to councilmen or city officials.

"Not that I know of," he answered.

"Have you given free tickets to anyone?"

"So far as individuals are concerned, I know nothing of it. But I am not disposed to discuss it. It has nothing to do with the rate matter."

The same questions were put to Walter S. Laird, president of the Yellow Cab Company, who answered:

"We have given out nothing, except for services rendered. I do not know of any tickets being given to councilmen."

COUNCILMEN DENY

Waldschmidt said he did not agree with President Houston of the Green Cab Company that the issuance of free tickets had nothing to do with the rate matter. Told of the reports, Waldschmidt said he knew nothing of city officials receiving free taxi tickets but would find out.

Several councilmen, interviewed on the subject, declared they had not received free taxi tickets themselves, had not heard of others receiving them, and did not believe they had.

Councilman P. J. McArdle said the Public Service Commission would be the appropriate body to investigate the matter.

Councilman Robert Garland said he did not believe there was any foundation to the story.

SUE BONDSMEN IN KNAPP CASE

Mrs. Charles Knapp, wife of the man who served a jail sentence for his part in the bond swindle that led to the closing of the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company, today filed suit in County Court for $1,250 against Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goldwasser, of 503 North Negley avenue.

Through Attorney Ralph H. Frank, Mrs. Knapp asks for the return of the money, charging Goldwasser and his wife accepted a premium of $1,250 for posting $25,000 bond for Knapp in February, 1927. Three days after Knapp was released the Goldwassers lifted the bond, although they had agreed to wait until the charges were disposed of, Mrs. Knapp charged, and never returned the $1,250.

NEW YORK SNAKE EXPERT DIES FROM RATTLER'S BITE

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS.)—Charles E. Snyder, who, with one exception, "knew more about snakes than any man on earth," lay dead here today, a victim of a venomous rattlesnake whose virulent poison brought death to Snyder within a few pain-wracked hours.

Snyder was formerly head reptile keeper at the New York Zoological Gardens, where his mentor friend, Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, was considered Snyder's only peer in the care and handling of reptiles.

Of late years Snyder had been connected with a brokerage firm here, but snake hunting remained his hobby. Sunday he went to an isolated section of the Ramapo Mountains in New Jersey, accompanied by his brother, Paul, to hunt for rattlers that infest the Jersey hills.

The brothers separated. Charles finally came upon a fine specimen of the deadly rattler. Undaunted by its ominous, warning buzz, he stooped and seized the reptile by the tail. Like a streak, the snake's mate, hidden beneath the brush, uncurled and struck. The fangs sunk into the hunter's hand, spitting out their venom.

One fang had cut a clearly-defined puncture—the other had left a scarcely visible mark. Snyder sucked at the larger wound, the other escaping his notice. Soon his arm began to swell and he ran two and a half miles to the nearest highway where he was taken by automobile to Good Samaritan Hospital at Suffern.

All staff physicians set to work and serums were injected, but the swelling persisted. Soon the arm turned black and the entire right side became infected.

Snyder fell into a coma that ended yesterday with the death of the man who "milked" captive snakes of their venomous poison.

ZEPPELIN FIT, SAYS WILKINS

By SIR HUBERT WILKINS

Famous explorer, who will cross the Atlantic Ocean this week on the Graf Zeppelin to write the story of its second trans-atlantic flight.

FRIEDERICHSHAFEN, May 13.—After a one hour and forty-seven minute trial flight today, Flight Captain Ernest Lehmann pronounced the Graf Zeppelin ready for its next trans-Atlantic journey. The engines and instruments have undergone a thorough overhauling since the last Mediterranean flight, and performed perfectly today.

Commander Ilugo Eckener expects to give the command "Let's Go" at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning (1 a. m. New York daylight saving time.)

MEETS GRAF CREW

After a leisurely steamer trip across the Atlantic, a perfect flight from the Croydon aerodrome in England to the Berlin flying field, and a smooth train journey through the rain-soaked and spring-clad southern part of Germany, I arrived at Friederchshafen at noon today.

Almost immediately the Zeppelin company extended its courtesies through the company officers, and I was introduced to all the flying officers of the Graf.

After inspection of the great airship, Dr. Eckener very hospitably invited me to join Capt. Lehman on the trial trip, really a test flight, which started promptly at 5:54 p. m.

The silver giant of the air floated between the groups of men, forming the ground crew, on either side of us, and hundreds of tourists lined the field as we rose smoothly and gracefully from the ground and flew until almost 8 o'clock.

PERFECT FLIGHT

We hovered at a low altitude over beautiful Lake Constance, and then rolled smoothly over the intensely cultivated hills of Seltzer.

As we turned back toward the home hangar, the snowclad Alps shone dimly in the distance, losing themselves in the darkness as we came to a skillful landing and brought the giant Graf into its hangar safely.

The passengers who have gathered at Friedrichshafen to embark on this Graf's second journey across the ocean are eagerly awaiting the starting signal. Not one anticipates anything but the safest and most enjoyable trip, over the famous great circle route, with a speedy and joyous landing at Lakehurst for the week-end.

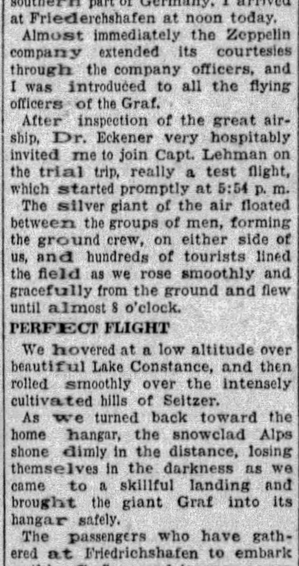
Favorable



GEORGE D. EDWARDS

Mr. Edwards, president, Commonwealth Trust Company, heads another of the big banking institutions that favors action by Congress for the reduction of the tax on earned incomes.

EXECUTIVES, EMPLOYES GIVE AID

George D. Edwards, president of the Commonwealth Trust Company, favors a lower Federal tax on earned incomes. Executives and employes in the Commonwealth have signed the Sun-Telegraph petitions asking Congress to act in the downward revision of the tax on professional men, salaried people and wage earners.

The views of Mr. Edwards are reflected in the stand taken by officials in other banks whose personnel today is engaged in writing their signatures on hundreds of petitions. More than 2,000 bankers and bank employes in this district have already joined in the petitioning. Included are banks in the East End, North Side and the suburbs.

INDUSTRIAL PLANTS JOIN

The campaign goes on in the large industrial plants with increasing interest among officers and workmen. The first of these concerns to take up the systematic circulation of petitions is the McClintic-Marshall Company where hundreds of skilled men and the clerical force at the steel construction and fabricating plant at Rankin voluntarily started the signing of petitions. In Rankin and Braddock there has been a rush to assist the tax reducing movement by the business men of the community as well as the mill men.

The employes' organization of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at a meeting last night considered steps for cooperating in the campaign.

STORES HELP

Five-and-10-cent stores throughout Allegheny county as well as the managers and employes of various chain stores have contributed hundreds of signatures to petitions circulated during the last three days.

State officials and the army of clerks in the capitol building at Harrisburg received petitions today and are taking up their assistance in the movement which is spreading throughout Pennsylvania.

In Philadelphia the campaign has been started in the city hall under the direction of Mayor Harry A. Mackey and will be taken up by the department stores and shipyards.

J. A. TWICHELL DIES IN N.Y.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Stricken while transacting business, James A. Twichell, former Pittsburgh oil and mining man, died in a Wall street broker's office at noon today.

Mr. Twichell, who has made his home here for the past 10 years, resided in Pittsburgh for 20 years previous with offices in the Hartje Building. He was associated in many oil enterprises at that time with James M. Guffey and the late Emery Myers. Mr. Twichell was one of the pioneer producers in the Sistersville, W. Va., oil boom and was interested in wells throughout Pennsylvania and New York state. His mining interests included copper, zinc and gold mines in Oklahoma and Arizona. He was one of the pioneer zinc producers in the Joplin, Mo., district.

Mr. Twichell leaves his widow, Mrs. Clara E. Goodrich Twichell, and one son, J. Ward Twichell, both of New York City, and one daughter, Mrs. W. M. Everson, of the Hotel Schenley, Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Duquesne Club, Pittsburgh.

RUM DISTILLER ESCAPES RAID

A man operating a 150-gallon still at 2925 Spring way escaped over the roof when federal prohibition agents raided the place early today, they reported.

The still, 75 gallons of whisky, and 42 barrels of mash were confiscated, the agents reported.

A two-story frame house at 516 Stanton avenue, Millvale, also was raided and a 75-gallon still, moonshine and sugar seized, according to the agents' report.

Miss Poli to Wed Italian Marquis

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 14.—(AP.)—Word was received today from Florence, Italy, of the engagement of Miss Lillian Poli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Z. Poli, of New Haven, to Marquis Lip Gerrini, son of Princess Theresa Torlonia, of Italy.

S. Z. Poli, father of Miss Poli, a former theater magnate, recently disposed of his holding, which included 20 theaters, to the Fox Theaters Corporations for $26,000,000. He is now retired. He came to this country as a poor boy.

Engine Fumes Kill Man in Stalled Auto

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 14.—(AP.)—Overcome by gas fumes as he sat in his disabled automobile waiting for assistance, Melvin Mills, 22, of Philadelphia, was found dead yesterday in his stalled car. Death had occurred several hours before he was discovered, a coroner's jury reported.

Mills was accompanied by James Clark, of Philadelphia. Their car became stalled in the mud on Effort Mountain and Clark returned here to get assistance. It is believed Mills kept the engine running to keep warm during the long wait.

These passes take today's $5 award to current pass holders:

38,183 75,151 28,332 70,098 19,111

Awards such as the above will be made in the Sun-Telegraph every day. In addition, $200 will be given to street car riders once each week by means of current pass numbers, $100 as a grand weekly award, $50 as the second grand weekly award, and 10 $5 awards.

Employes of the Sun-Telegraph and Pittsburgh Railways Company are not eligible in this campaign.

WOMAN HIRES TAXI FOR RIDE TO DEATH

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 14.—Calling a taxi to her home late yesterday, Mrs. Bessie Deist, 34, wife of George Deist, 36, steel worker, rode to the new Fort Steuben bridge, north of the city, dismissed the driver in the middle of the bridge and before he could interfere, climbed a railing and jumped to her death in the Ohio river.

John Jones, 28, the driver, reported the suicide to police. River men summoned from Government Dam No. 10 recovered the body about one hour later.

Roy Merryman, Steubenville attorney and former prosecuting attorney, identified the body as that of his sister.

Mrs. Deist had been a semi-invalid for two years. Sunday a new nurse was employed and yesterday Mrs. Deist sent her to a store. When the nurse left the house she called the taxi, telling the driver she was to meet a friend on the bridge.

510,725 Pounds Air Mail Flown in April

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP.)—The Postoffice Department announced yesterday that air mail poundage for April totaled 510,725 pounds, a daily average of 17,024, compared with 523,414 for March, a daily average of 16,884 pounds. Figures for the month indicated a decrease of 12,689 pounds in April compared to March, but the daily average was higher because of the added day in March.

Punxsutawney Boy Honored at Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 14.—(AP.)—F. Lorraine Yost, of Punxsutawney, Pa., was one of five students who won Phi Beta Kappa honors at the University of Kentucky. The honor is the highest in the arts and science department.

BAFFLING FLU MALADY KILLS JUDGE, TWO SONS

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS.)—Baffling all efforts of medical science, a strange malady known as streptococchenia today had claimed Sidney Van Wart as its victim, marking the third death in the Van Wart family in 10 days. Percy Van Wart, stricken with the same insidious sickness, is fighting for life in Kings County Hospital.

Dr. Franklin B. Van Wart, head of the research bureau of the department of health, died at the hospital Wednesday, and former Municipal Court Justice Gerald B. Van Wart succumbed Saturday to the disease which caused the death of two of his sons.

Analyzed in the language of the layman, the disease is a virulent type of spotted pneumonia which causes death within five days—a combination of the Spanish Flu and a form of strepto coccus blood poisoning.

Adams Makes First Flight as Navy Chief

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP.)—Secretary Adams yesterday made his first flight since he assumed charge of the Navy department. He made a round trip to Norfolk, to inspect the air station, supply base and other navy units there. Assistant Secretary Jahncke also made the 180-mile trip. They left the Naval air station at Anacostia in separate planes early in the day, and returned late in the afternoon.

Piloted by Lieut. Ralph Davison, Secretary Adams made the trip in a tri-motored Ford navy transport. He was accompanied by his aide, Capt. George F. Neal, and a mechanic.

Man Hurt in Auto Collision

ROCHESTER, Pa., May 14.—Forrest Jackson, 26, Negro, of Merchant street, Ambridge, is in the hospital here, his left hand badly lacerated and several tendons and blood vessels severed by flying glass, when his automobile collided with a car driven by A. T. Cordes, Rochester Township, along the Rochester-New Brighton road.

Dog Guard Gives Clue to Home of Lost Children

HARRISBURG, May 14.—(AP.)—A police dog that stood guard over his charges yesterday enabled police to return Anna Amelia Batterby, 5, and her brother, Hiram, Jr., of Chester, to the home of relatives with whom they were staying here. The children became lost and were found by a patrolman, with the dog patiently standing at their side. The owner of the dog located by means of the tag, was found to be Felix Roberts, at whose home the children were visiting.

EQUITY TO HEAR HELEN KANE

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS.)—Helen Kane, musical comedy star whose sudden disappearance from the cast of "Good Boy" threatens that show with "curtains" in Boston, was to appear before the council of the Actor's Equity Association here today.

Arthur Hammerstein, producer of "Good Boy," has filed a formal complaint against Miss Kane with the association. The actress may, if she chooses, demand one week's time to produce affidavits or other evidence at the council's session today.

Meantime Hammerstein is reported harassed by threatened suits of other high-salaried members of the musical comedy cast who say their interests are suffering while Helen is being sought.

ZIONISTS CLOSE MEETING HERE TODAY

Final sessions of the two-day convention of the Mizrachi Association, a section of the Zionist Association, are being held in the Adath Jeshuren Synagogue, Margaretta street, East End, today, when final business is being attended to and a program of activities for the coming year outlined. Five hundred delegates from many sections of the country are attending the conference.

Speakers at the session yesterday included Rabbi Elihu Inzelburch, of New York; Rabbi M. A. Ashinsky, of Detroit; A. Cohen, of New York; Rabbi S. Natalauch, of Harrisburg; Gedalia Rublick, president of the organization; Rabbi Wolf Gold, Rabbi Meilbrich, Leon Gelman and Isidore Epstein, vice president of the junior Mizarachi.

In his address Rabbi Inzelburch denounced the attitude of the extreme orthodox society, the Agudch, in Palestine, declaring that "the Agudch is tending to disrupt the United Jewry in Palestine by its extreme fanatics-fanaticisms."

Claysville Council Names New Burgess

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 14.—The Claysville Council has named D. B. Hancher burgess of the borough to succeed R. B. McGlumphy, who has removed from the town and resigned. Hancher, who also is justice of the peace at Claysville, was appointed burgess of the town 30 years ago to fill a similar vacancy and then elected to a full term. He is serving his twenty-second consecutive year as a justice of the peace.

Sweetheart Myth, Mail Wooer Asks Money Back

CHICAGO, May 14.—(AP.)—For six years Henry Redfeldt wooed a comely young maiden by mail. Correspondence sparking doesn't include movie shows and such, so Henry sent money—$6,000 in all.

The girl wasn't!

Henry told Judge Edgar A. Jones yesterday that his correspondence sweetheart had been woven out of the imagination of his former landlady, who, he charges, got the money. He asked a warrant for her arrest.

The money was sent, he said, to an address in Wisconsin given to him by his landlady. She also had shown him a picture and urged him to romance, he charged.

GENE TELLS OF WIFE'S DANGER

By EDWARD L. DEUSS,
International News Service.

BRIONI, Italy, May 14.—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion of the world, made a detailed and authoritative statement to International News Service today concerning the recent operation performed on his wife, the former Polly Lauder, multi-millionaire heiress of Greenwich, Conn.

The statement, which is the first word Tunney has said regarding the operation, completely confirms the International News Service dispatch from Brioni last Friday, which revealed the narrow escape Mrs. Tunney had from death.

Tunney's statement was made through his wife's attending physician. It revealed that all danger has now passed and that Mrs. Tunney is expected to be able to leave her bed within the next three or four days.

THOUGHT INDIGESTION

"Mrs. Tunney first became ill three weeks ago," the former fighter declared. "At first, the illness appeared to be a mild case of intestinal fever resulting from indigestion.

"Her condition, however, became worse.

"Dr. Otto Lenz, resort physician on the Island of Brioni, who was immediately called in to treat Mrs. Tunney, decided upon a consultation. He called in Profs. Fritz Meyer and A. W. Mayer, internal disease specialists of Berlin, who several days later diagnosed the case as an abdominal abcess.

"Mrs. Tunney was immediately removed to a beautiful private villa on the seashore, where on April 18, Prof. Mayer performed the operation with the assistance of Dr. Meyer and Dr. Lenz.

COMPLETE SUCCESS

"The operation was completely successful. The appendix was not removed.

"Mrs. Tunney is now taking light nourishment and all danger has passed. She is expected to leave her bed for a short period probably within three or four days."

In previous dispatches from Brioni, International News Service revealed that the surgeons found an abcess near the appendix, but decided not to remove the organ owing to prevailing circumstances. The operation was performed on a kitchen table, as no better facilities were available.

Officers of Store Employes Installed

Seventeen newly elected officers of the Association of Men Employes of the Joseph Horne Company were installed last night. They are: E. A. Moore, president; Albert A. Horne, first vice president; L. A. O'Neil, second vice president; T. H. Kohl, treasurer; H. E. Phifer, corresponding secretary, and J. W. Davis, financial secretary; Edward Giver, C. F. Goettman, Clay Meyers, H. M. Phifer, Thomas Eccles, R. G. S. Ruffner, W. G. Madere, S. H. Eccles, John Darling, B. S. Horne, Jr., and A. H. Burchfield, Jr., directors.

LAVISH BEAUTY AT GARDEN EXHIBIT

Beautiful flowers and romantic settings of rustic charm make the Garden and Flower Show in the William Penn Hotel one of the most notable exhibitions in Pittsburgh's history.

The booths and exhibits were completed today and the display is declared to be the most lavish ever attempted by Western Pennsylvania florists and nurserymen. The entire eastern wing of the seventeenth floor of the hotel has been transformed into growing gardens with winding walks, blooming flowers, bubbling fountains, wild waterfalls, crystal pools and cool groves of evergreens. The landscape artist has not found his work cramped by having to carry out his designs indoors.

In another part of the building there is an exposition of garden implements, motor apparatus for clipping lawns and spraying trees and shrubs and various accessories for the florist and horticulturist. Various civic and welfare organizations are co-operating with exhibits of the progress in the beautification of homes by means of flowers and shrubbery. Mrs. W. E. Hamnett and the various garden societies and flower guilds are assisting. The show will continue until the end of the week.

TEXAS WOMAN SLAYS RIVAL

AMARILLO, Tex., May 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. L. P. Stallworth, of Amarillo, shot and killed Mrs. Grace Morrison, of Plainview, Tex., when she met her in front of a hotel in the downtown district here late yesterday. Mrs. Stallworth surrendered to police and told them, they said, that Mrs. Morrison was a rival for her husband's affection.

Before the shooting, Mrs. Stallworth, accompanied by her mother-in-law, had gone to a rooming house in search of Mrs. Morrison. The landlady, who saw Mrs. Stallworth was angry, informed her Mrs. Morrison was not at home and ordered her to leave.

MEET IN STREET

A block from the rooming house Mrs. Stallworth met Mrs. Morrison and fired three times. Police said several witnesses declared the two women were less than three feet apart when Mrs. Stallworth began shooting.

The weapon used was an old .41 calibre single action pistol and it was necessary to cock it after each shot. One bullet struck Mrs. Morrison in the neck, a second in the chest and a third in the arm. She died on the way to the hospital.

MOTHER-IN-LAW HELD

Mrs. Stallworth was taken to jail from the scene of the shooting. Her mother-in-law also was held as a material witness.

Mrs. Morrison had been making her home here to be with her 12-year-old daughter, who is attending a local academy. Her husband, notified of the tragedy at his home in Plainview, was on his way here.

Stallworth, a railroad man, who was out of town at the time of the shooting, returned early today.

Youth, 17, Arrested As Holdup Suspect

Raymond Arnold, 17, of 7443 Monticello street, was arrested late yesterday as a suspicious person. Police say they believe he was connected with a number of holdups and robberies in the Homewood and Brushton districts during the last three months. Police who arrested him said he carried a blackjack and a loaded revolver.

BURKE'S BOND REPLACED

John Burke, of Twenty-sixth street, former pugilist, after his conviction in Criminal Court yesterday for violating the liquor laws, was arrested by Constable William Duncan on a bail piece obtained by Owen McManus, Republican chairman of the Second Ward, who had been bondsman for Burke in a liquor case in Federal Court. He was taken to Federal Court clerk's office, where he posted a new bond, furnished by Thomas F. Coyne.

Burke is one of the defendants in the "Strip" rum conspiracy cases listed for trial Monday in Federal Court.

He is said to have been active in political affairs of the "Strip," being affiliated with the Verona-Flannigan-McManus faction, but recently had changed over to the administration faction, headed by O'Malley.

Grove City Campus Pageant Set May 25

GROVE CITY, Pa., May 14.—Miss Helene Bow has been chosen to head the cast of the May pageant, "Comus," to be presented by 250 Grove City College students on the campus May 25. Miss Roberta Melcher is author of the play.

MUSIC CLASS PLANS RENTAL

Intermediate and advanced violin and piano pupils of Mathilde Meyer Chapman will give a recital in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Swissvale Thursday evening. Mrs. Alice Young Sheats, contralto, will present several solos of Mrs. Chapman's composition.

Lucio Coccia, vocal teacher and former tenor of the Milan Opera Company, will also sing. Pupils taking part include Bobby Clark, Isabelle Peterson, Virginia Science, Teddy Science, Dorothy Bergguist, Margaret Lindberg, Mildred Patterson, Betty Smith, Ruth Peusch, Helena Riddell, Gertrude Pearson, Eddie Rose, Betty Patterson, Katherine Helfrick, Louise Lindberg, Carl Watson, Betty Weiss, Irma Schobert, Resler Calihan, Billy Lower, Ruth Watson, Virginia Hoffmann and Margaret Seitz.

School Pupils Join Missing Boy Hunt

ATLANTIC, Iowa, May 14.—(AP.)—Atlantic schoolboys were dismissed today to join in the search for 7-year-old Duane Rowe, who disappeared Sunday when he went to a pasture to gather a bouquet of flowers for his mother.

Three hundred persons searched in vain all day yesterday and far into the night for trace of the lad.

Searchers suspect foul play and link the disappearance two weeks ago of Faye Martin, 15, and Kenneth Judd, 18, high school pupils, with that of the boy. Neither has since been found.

WESTON, FAMED WALKER, DIES POOR AT 90

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—Edward Payson Weston, famous pedestrian and veteran of more than 1,000 athletic events, died yesterday at his home in Brooklyn. He was 90 years old.

Mr. Weston, whose first claim as a long distance walker dated back to 1861, had been ill since he was struck by a taxicab here two years ago.

Recently, after taking a ride in a wheel chair on his ninetieth birthday, he had expressed the hope that he might be able to engage in walking in warm weather.

TWICE DISAPPEARED

Twice in 1926 the aged pedestrian was found wandering through the streets of New York apparently in a daze, some time after disappearing from Philadelphia, where he then resided.

Afterward the man who had walked across the continent in 100 days, suffered a paralytic stroke in his little flat.

Later a $30,000 fund was set aside for him by Anne Nichols, playwright and producer, which assured him a $150 monthly income.

Two years ago, somewhat improved in health, Mr. Weston had a cheerful eighty-eighth birthday as guest of honor at a luncheon of the Press Club. On that occasion a solid silver figure of the Winged Victory, inscribed to "E. P. Weston, Champion Walker," was presented to him. A short time later he was struck by an automobile while on his way to church to give thanks in prayer for the aid that had been given him.

Although he was able to return to his home from the hospital, he never regained his strength, and friends said one of the saddest days of his life was his ninetieth birthday when he was unable to take his customary anniversary walk.

Ford Plans Export Assembling Plant

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—A huge assembling plant for the export trade in Ford motor cars is to be built on the bank of the Hudson River at Edgewater, N. J., opposite One Hundredth street, Manhattan, the Times says today.

The project was revealed yesterday with the announcement of the sale to the Ford interests by the New York Edison Company of a 30-acre tract at Edgewater. The purchase was negotiated by Edsel Ford and the price was approximately $1,250,000. The Ford company plans to cut transportation expenses by loading cars directly from the assembly plant into ships.

Richard Dix, Under Alias, Operated On

BALTIMORE, May 14.—(AP.)—Richard Dix, motion picture star, under another name, has been recovering in Union Memorial Hospital here from an operation performed several days ago, but not until yesterday did his identity become known.

The actor, who was expected to be able to leave the hospital soon, was entered on its rolls as E. C. Brimmer. He explained yesterday that the present operation was necessary because some of his strenuous athletic efforts before the camera had opened up the wound of an earlier operation for appendicitis.

'Holdup' Held Hoax To Cover Shortage

ERIE, Pa., May 14.—(AP.)—Police said yesterday that John Roland, street car conductor, who claimed he was robbed of $50 early Sunday morning, confessed that there had been no robbery. He was quoted as saying that shortage in his funds caused him to tell the holdup story. He was arrested.

DARROW IN DRY DEBATE WITH DR. WILSON

BALTIMORE, May 14.—Brickbats and bouquets were tossed at prohibition last night when Clarence Darrow, noted lawyer, and Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Board of Temperance and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, locked horns in debate here.

Arguing the question, "Resolved, that prohibition is right in principle and a success in practice," Darrow launched a vicious attack against the Methodist Church, terming the headquarters of Dr. Wilson's organization, opposite the Capitol in Washington, the "Methodist Vatican."

'BENEFITS' CITED

Dr. Wilson in the beginning refused to say that prohibition had dried up all sources of supply of liquor and declared that lawlessness was not the result of prohibition because the liquor traffic always had been lawless. He cited the following benefits:

The liquor traffic has been outlawed in the United States.

The saloon has been annihilated.

The American license system "that picked up souls of citizens for revenue" is gone.

Legalized temptation has been taken away from men.

Prosperity has resulted after a great war for the first time in the history of the world.

DERISIVE LAUGHTER

Dr. Wilson's statement that there was not a drunk in the House or Senate was greeted with derisive laughter. It increased when he said that "the old soaks are gone."

Darrow opened his argument by saying that a prohibitionist has a great advantage over a wet—he can make up his facts as he goes along. No matter how foolish they are, other prohibitionists will believe him.

He attacked each of Dr. Wilson's statements, especially the one regarding post-war prosperity, saying:

"I wouldn't trade my individuality for all the gold you could pile up. When men talk of exchanging freedom for dollars, they are either bigots or crazy."

The prosperity resulted, he declared, from high wages during the period immediately before and after the war—when men had what they wanted to drink.

Lineman Lives After 22,000-Volt Shock

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 14.—(AP.)—George Goppert, 24, of Chester, W. Va., a lineman for the Ohio Power Company, was alive today although 22,000 volts of electricity passed through his body while at work yesterday. His safety belt touched a wire while he was descending a ladder at a sub-station and he fell 18 feet. He was taken to a hospital, suffering burns on both hands.

Flapper, 74, Takes Fourth Spouse, 76

ENGLISH, Ind., May 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, 74, of Taswell, Ind., today had as her fourth husband Pleasant Brown, 76, of Bloomington, Ind., whom she met for the first time last Saturday, after a courtship of one month conducted by mail. She is Brown's second wife.

Sentenced to Year For $3.80 Theft

WHEELING, W. Va., May 14.—Charles O. Holdren, of Parkersburg, stole a package of magazines, valued at $3.80, from an express office. Pleading guilty in Federal Court, Holdren said that he had been drinking. He was given a year and a day in the federal prison in Atlanta.

Auto Driver Held In Bellboy's Death

William E. Smith, 19, of 3931 Liberty avenue, was held on a charge of manslaughter today by a corner's jury inquiring into the death of Bronislowaa Zenk, 18, a bellboy at the Duquesne Club.

Smith was driving the car in which Zenk was riding when the machine struck a guard rail in Green Spring avenue, Mifflin township, on April 28. Zenk died of a fractured spine the same day.

Smith admitted on the stand that he had been drinking wine in the car.

START ON NEW POSTOFFICE DUE IN FALL

Work on Pittsburgh's new $8,000,000 postoffice, to be built at Seventh avenue and Grant street, likely will be started this fall, according to postal authorities.

James Francis Burke, general counsel for the Chamber of Commerce, was in Washington today to discuss the new building with Postmaster General Walter F. Brown.

Mr. Brown will be in Pittsburgh Thursday to address the Chamber of Commerce and the Personnel Association. He will be a guest of Mr. Burke.

Although George W. Gosser, Pittsburgh Postoffice head, has received no notification of when work on the new building will be started, he declared today that he had heard unofficially that a start would likely be made this fall.

Tests to Be Made For New Skyscraper

Drilling tests for the foundation of the skyscraper to be built by the Gulf Refining Company at Seventh avenue and Grant street will be started in a few days. Plans for the building have not been completed. The structure will be as high as the Koppers Building.

FRESH ATTACKS MADE ON FARM MEASURE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Two fresh assaults on the President's farm relief program perplexed administration leaders in the Senate today, as a final vote neared on the new farm bill, with its Hoover-opposed export debenture plan.

The same Democratic-Insurgent coalition which forced adoption of the debenture over Mr. Hoover's opposition, sponsored two amendments calculated to disrupt the administration's financial program and upset Hoover policies. One, by Senator Heflin (Dem.), of Alabama, would increase the farm relief revolving fund, authorized by the bill, from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. The other, by Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, would authorize the President to purchase $20,000,000 of wheat and wheat products for free distribution to the "starving peoples of China."

WOULD WRECK PROGRAM

If adopted—though the chances appeared light — these proposals would wreck the administration's financial program. In opposing the debenture, one of the President's chief objections was that it would take $200,000,000 out of the federal treasury. Nye's proposal alone would do that.

The Heflin amendment meanwhile would double the liability of the government in financing farm relief and double its possible losses. With the President contending that the government should not pay agriculture's losses, he could scarcely approve a proposition to increase its liability.

There appeared small likelihood of either amendment being adopted, although the Democratic-Insurgent coalition could write both into the bill by maintaining the same ranks shown in the debenture fight. The belief prevailed that a number of Democrats would break away from the coalition and join administration forces in defeating both amendments, thus giving the President a change of political diet.

MORE CHANGES MADE

The Senate, meanwhile, continued to "perfect" the administration's bill. A number of minor amendments have been adopted, all tending to improve the administrative features of the proposed new farm board's control of marketing crops. An amendment by Senator Copeland (Dem.), of New York, proposing to prohibit loans for the creation of new marketing facilities unless it were demonstrated that existing facilities were inadequate, was defeated without a record roll call. This provision was written into the bill by the House with the President's approval, but insurgent leaders condemned it as a "joker" and the Senate rejected it.

Administration leaders were hopeful of securng a final vote on the bill this afternoon, although they had the same hope yesterday.

THRILL BANDITS ASK PAROLE

Paroles for the so-called "thrill bandits," sons of two prominent Wilkinsburg families who were sentenced to from 16 to 30 months in jail last January, were asked in Criminal Court before Judge Josiah Cohen. Decision was reserved.

George Taylor, 20, and Richard Phifer, 19, are the defendants. They were sentenced last January when they pleaded guilty to stealing a taxicab, shooting at a policeman and to several hold-ups. Their sentence was dated back to the time they were placed in jail, November 20, 1928.

Many character witnesses appeared for them.

Judge Cohen said:

"The parole law is being abused. The lawyers wait until one third of a sentence has been completed and then come in with a parole petition and expect the court to throw off the other two-thirds. No parole should be granted unless something can be presented to mitigate the sentence. The sentences in this case were most moderate. The judges have a duty to perform regardless of creed, color or social standing. Nothing has been offered in this case today that was not presented at the time these boys pleaded guilty, and I must reserve my decision."

It was stated in the petition that the prisoners had behaved well in jail and were able to obtain employment or engage in studies if paroled.

2 Lions, Scorned By Wheeling Park, Offered Free

WHEELING, W. Va., May 14.—Who wants a couple of good healthy lions? A Wheeling business man and philanthropist has a pair he would be glad to have taken off his hands.

Some time ago this Wheelingite was on a trip to the Pacific coast and saw two likely-looking lions in a menagerie in California. Thinking of his home city and how pleased the children of Wheeling would be to see the lions in a cage in Wheeling Park, he bought them and had them shipped here.

But the park commissioners don't want the lions because they eat too much and because it would cost too much to construct suitable cages for them.

It has been suggested that the Wheeling Lions Club take over the animals, but, in view of what the park commissioners have said, the club members are hesitating.

1,500 AT PHILA. COMPANY VETERANS' ANNUAL DINNER

Fifteen hundred persons last night attended the third annual banquet of the Veteran Employes' Association of the Philadelphia Company in McCreery's dining room. Each member has been in the employ of the company 20 years or longer, two of them having more than 50 years to their credit.

Speakers were Dr. Edward James Cattell, former city statistician of Philadelphia; F. R. Phillips, vice president of the Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas Companies, and William T. Rossell, general manager of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, who took the place of Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president, who was unable to attend. W. G. Marshall, personnel director, was toastmaster. He paid special commendation to Thomas Clarke, Harry Morrell and John Spear, who have been in the service 53, 51 and 43 years.

The newly elected officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas Companies were introduced to the veterans.

$500,000 Bankruptcy Claims in Coal Case

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 14.—Bankruptcy proceedings of an involuntary nature involving claims in excess of $500,000 were brought yesterday in Federal Court here by the Fidelity Trust Company, of Baltimore; the First National Bank, of Midland, Md., and the Second National Bank, of Cumberland, Md., against James O. Watson, George T. Watson, H. L. Heintzelman and R. T. Cunningham, prominent Fairmont business men. The obligations are said to be interlocked and four separate actions were instituted. The defendants are understood to have lost large sums by the demoralization of the coal industry.

NORTHWESTERN OUSTS TWO FRATS OVER GIN PARTIES

EVANSTON, Ill., May 14.—(AP.)—Gin-spiked punch served at stag smokers was given today as the reason for the expulsion of two fraternity presidents and the suspension of the organizations by the board of supervisors of student activities at Northwestern University.

Rolley F. Myers and James C. Austin, presidents of Phi Pi Phi and Phi Mu Delta fraternities, were those expelled from the university and their fraternities suspended. The expulsion and suspensions were ordered last night by the supervisors after evidence had been presented that alcohol had been poured into punch at parties given by the fraternities in each other's honor.

Myers, desk editor of the Daily Northwestern, student in the school of speech, and member of the sophomore student council, was held responsible for the Phi Pi Phi party, while Austin, a senior in the school of journalism, who expected to be graduated next month, was blamed for the Phi Mu Delta reciprocal smoker. Myers' home is in Zeigler, Ill., and Austin's is in Highland Park, Ill.

Members of the faculty were present at each smoker, the supervistors were told at the four-hour session, and partook of the punch.

No More Oily Skin

Creamed Magnesia quickly corrects oily skin, refines coarse pores, changes sallow, off-color skin to true-color clearness, heals eruptions and dissolves blackheads

Creamed Magnesia beautifies the skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that creamed magnesia is much better for oily skin than any soap or cleansing cream. It beautifies the skin instantly, in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with creamed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture almost as if by magic. Being astringent, it drives away the tell-tale signs of age. You will marvel at the effect of your first five-minute facial massage. It rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely tonight, years younger. It's marvelous how magnesia dissolves blackheads, clears eruptions and corrects oily skin.

No More Ugly Nose Pores

And because it is so mild, mothers use it instead of soap to bathe infants. It certainly is a blessing as a face wash for fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. Being greaseless, it cannot fatten the face or grow hair. It removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than soap or cold cream. It changes dull, sallow skin to radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons. Test it on those clogged nose pores that stand out so boldly. Let it whiten your neck. It will also keep your hands soft and white. Until recently, creamed magnesia was used only by New York doctors' wives, and nurses. But now the large druggists everywhere find it hard to keep enough on hand to supply the demand. To get genuine creamed magnesia, ask for Denton's Facial Magnesia. Remember, five minutes works wonders. So, get your magnesia today and look lovely tonight. It costs almost nothing to try. It's Guaranteed!

CAUTION: Modern skin specialists say never use soap on your face if your skin is oily. All soap contains caustic, which paralyzes the little oil glands of the skin, keeping them constantly opened. That's why oily skin always gets more greasy-looking after soap. Oily skins should be cleansed only with Facial Magnesia, which corrects oily skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach.

Edgar J. Kaufmann Phones From Vienna

Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of Kaufmann's store, now touring Europe to study stores for ideas which he will embody in the $3,000,000 expansion of the Pittsburgh store, yesterday talked to Pittsburgh by telephone from Vienna, Austria. He discussed his trip with Oliver M. Kaufmann, vice president and treasurer of the store, and Irwin D. Wolfe. In Vienna he is opening a studio for his son, who will remain there two years to complete his studies.

Mascagni Sought To Direct 'Talkie'

LONDON, May 14.—(INS.)—Signor Pietro Mascagni, the famous Italian composer of the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana," has been approached by an American film company to supervise the making of a gigantic talking film of his work, and is expected to accept the offer, according to word received by International News Service from Rome today.

Just A Touch Of Ice-Mint. PRESTO!
Corns Wither and Lift Out With Fingers. No Pain.

Corn sufferers, gather round; get right up close and listen, here's good news for you.

The real genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No humbug. Ice-Mint, the new discovery made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery. Think of it; only a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

It just makes a pair of tired, swollen, aching, burning feet glow with cooling comfort.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened callouses just shrivel up and lift off so easy, it's wonderful.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask in any drug store for Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing like it.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS FAIL TO INCLUDE SINCLAIR

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP.)—After a two-week recess, the Supreme Court met yesterday but did not hand down decisions in any of the cases before it attracting national interest.

These include the Sinclair jury-shadowing contempt case, the O'Fallon attack on the methods used by the interstate commerce commission in valuing railroads and the validity of pocket vetoes by the President. Decisions in these as well as in other important cases may be handed down on one of the three opinion days remaining before the court ends its term on June 3.

RULES IN BANK CASE

National banks were interested in a case from Massachusetts which sought to challenge the validity of that section of the McFadden law under which national banks are authorized to continue to act in any fiduciary capacity occupied by a state bank with which they may consolidate. The Worcester county national bank sought to compel the courts of Massachusetts to recognize it as the executor under the will of Julia A. Legnard, in which capacity the Fitchburg Bank and Trust Company, with which it had consolidated, had been acting.

The Massachusetts courts were sustained by the supreme court in an opinion by Chief Justice Taft, holding that under the laws of Massachusetts the courts of that state have control over the appointment of executors and administrators. Chief Justice Taft suggested that the National Bank should make the formal application, leaving it to the state courts then to decide whether it will be appointed.

The courts also held that states may require outside corporations to pay a tax on their outstanding stock issued without par value for the privilege of doing business within their borders. The case was brought from New York, where the trustees of the Thermiodyne Radio Corporation of Delaware objected to paying $15,000 levied as a tax of six cents per share on its non-par value stock.

STATE TAXES UPHELD

Annual franchise taxes imposed by state on corporations may be levied on a valuation placed by the state on their stock issued without par value. The court so declared in a case from Missouri brought by the International Shoe Company of Delaware, which objected to its non-par stock being valued at $100 a share in levying the tax.

Another state law was sustained, that of Maryland requiring oyster packing houses to deliver to the state 10 per cent of the shells of oysters taken in its waters. This had been opposed by I. L. Leonard & Company, of Cambridge, Md.

An important deportation ruling held that aliens shall be considered under the immigration act as "arriving" at the time they take up their regular residence ashore, and that the five years' limitation in which they may be deported does not run if on their coming here they spend substantially all their time on ships at sea.

TO REVIEW BREWERY CASE

Among the cases which the court consented to review was one brought by the government arising from the abolition of breweries under the prohibition law. A proceeding won by the Haberle Crystal Springs Brewing Company, in New York, is being challenged by the government, which seeks to prevent that company from deducting for the loss of good will in making their income tax returns.

The court declined in a case brought by the Tootal Broadhust Less Company, Ltd, of Manchester, England, which has offices in New York City, to interfere with the decision of the lower courts holding the Federal Government could tax its income derived from sales in this country.

Under another decision, express companies cannot be punished for causing false entries to be made in railroad records under the law against that practices which applies to railroads The government had charged that the fruit growers express made false statements to the Pennsylvaina Railroad as to the amount of ice in its cars and that this was passed along by the Pennsylvania, the ultimate consumer finally paying the bill.

BORDER RULING STANDS

The court refused to reconsider its recent decision regulating the crossing of the Canadian border by aliens, which stipulated the times that aliens were entitled to enter the country on "business" without complying with the quota restrictions.

A suit attacking the 1926 reorganization of the Motor Products Corporation of New York, brought by Newell B. Wallace, was dismissed.

Kentucky and Indiana asked the court to decide without waiting for oral argument the controversy arising from their agreement to construct a bridge across the Ohio river at Evansville, Ind. This will expedite final decision.

New Jersey asked the court to permit it to bring suit against New York state and city to prevent the carrying out of the plan to increase the city's water supply from the headwaters of the Delaware river, and to proceed against the city to prevent it from dumping garbage in the ocean off the Jersey shores.

Auto Leaves Road, Guest Sues Owner

Charles E. Gates, musician in the Hotel Riverside orchestra, Cambridge Springs, filed suit against the Potter Title and Trust Company, administrator of the estate of Eugene C. Gates, late of Dormont, in Common Pleas court, seeking to recover $25,000 for personal injuries. While a passenger in an automobile driven by Eugene C. Gates on the William Penn highway August 18 last, the car ran off the road, struck a pole and overturned, due to recklessness of the driver, who was killed, the suit alleged. Charles E. Gates, in his suit, stated he was seriously injured in the accident and spent three months in a hospital.

DRY SNOOPERS GET 12 YEARS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 14.—(INS.)—Sentences of from 12 to 15 years in state's prison each were given two civilian liquor investigators employed by the police department liquor squad when they were found guilty in superior court this afternoon on three counts of giving false testimony and making false affidavits in at least eight liquor cases. The men—Samuel J. Lacicot, 29, and William J. Fernette, 36, were denounced by Superior Court Judge David F. Dillon and District Attorney Charles A. Clason.

One woman was sent to jail as the result of the alleged perjury of the men and had served one month of a three months' sentence before her release.

Gellatly Gives Art To National Gallery

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—The art collection of John Gellatly, of New York, including what is said to be one of the finest groups of American paintings in private hands, is to become a national art treasure by gift of Mr. Gellatly to the national gallery of the Smithsonian Institution.

The collection also includes rare porcelain, pottery, examples of jewelry, Gothic sculptures in stone and wood, tapestries and stained glass. Twenty-three American paintings and 22 water colors and pastels, which were added a year ago, were estimated to have cost $250,000.

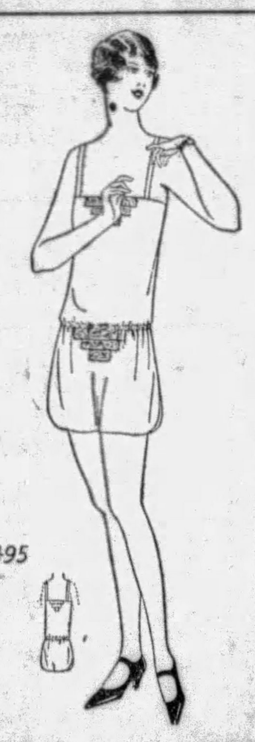
Woman Vet Mourns Passing of Waldorf

NEW YORK, May 14.—Few persons mourned the passing of the famous Waldorf Astoria Hotel as did Mrs. Bertha Smith, who sent messages all over the world for many of its famous guests. Since the hotel was opened 36 years ago, Mrs. Smith had worked at the Western Union branch office, of which she was manager at the time the famous hostelry was closed. While she was on duty there she had seen every president since Cleveland.

Man Gets 1 to 20 Years in Fire Plot

LISBON, O., May 14.—A prison sentence of one to 20 years was pronounced yesterday by Judge W. F. Lones, in the Columbiana County Common Pleas Court, on Dominick Iatti, of Follansbee, W. Va., who was found guilty of burning the home of Frank Guigno, in Wellsville, with intent to prejudice the insurer. Guigno, who pleaded guilty, was given a like term, a few weeks ago.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A DAINTY UNDERGARMENT.

Batiste in a peach shade was chosen for this model, with trimming of bands of filet set in on front and back Pink crepe de chine is also suggested with the trimming of light blue crepe de chine bound with pink. Other color combinations are also attractive. Rayon, cotton, crepe, georgette and pongee could be used. The upper (waist) portions of this garment are lengthened by step-in body portions. The fullness is held by an elastic or ribbon band run through a casing. The shoulder straps may be of ribbon.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. To make a medium size will require 1⅞ yards of material 32 inches wide or wider. To make the trimmings of lace will require 2 yards. Shoulder straps of ribbon require 1 yard. Elastic band requires 1 yard.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

dandruff

Dermatologists tell us that many serious cases of dandruff and falling hair could have been prevented by simple, early treatments.

If you have any evidence of dandruff, go after it with full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic. It has checked this humiliating condition for tens of thousands. You simply douse it on full strength and massage the scalp vigorously. Don't expect results over night. Keep it up systematically. Within ten days you ought to see a real improvement.

Listerine checks dandruff because dandruff is a germ condition, and full strength Listerine is powerful against germs,—destroys even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and also kills 200,000,000 of the Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in 15 seconds. Yet it is entirely safe to use, and actually soothing in effect. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

HAMP, CRUMIT ON RADIO; WHITEMAN IN SPIRITUALS

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

CHARLES W. HAMP hit for the circuit in his Keith-Orpheum appearance last week and the deluge of fan mail has prompted the management to schedule him again with Ben Bernie's Orchestra, Jack Petet and Pets, Little Jack Little and other good talent. It's WCAE at 11 p. m.

"Exclusive" between the two leading radio networks seems to be as elastic as the old rubber band. One of the Columbia System's "exclusive artists"—Frank Crumit—is either going to pay a big fine or find himself in the cold when he sings with the Orchestradians over KDKA, an NBC station, at 10:30 o'clock. Are rules made to be broken?

Belle Cutter

If Frank wants to know how a jury acts he might tune in on WCAE and the Eveready Players at 9 o'clock. "How's the Judge?" may furnish a pointer or two on what he may expect from Burns Panatelas.

Paul Whiteman's concert, WJAS at 9, will feature a medley of Negro spirituals. As usual the versatile Paul has selected a very good program.

Mme. Belle Forbes Cutter, soprano, will be the featured soloist with Guy Lombardo's Canadians on the Curtiss Hour, WJAS at 11 o'clock.

"HOW'S THE JUDGE"
Such anthropological attitudes as moth ball designers, bear rug opticians, and a man who can imitate six birds purposely will be on the jury in the Eveready production of "How's the Judge."
The impanelling of the jury in "How's the Judge" brings the information from the bear rug opticians that he's the man who put the eyes in bear skin rugs. The moth ball designer explains that by making moth balls round instead of square many of them are lost. Also there is disclosed the man who makes the paper panties that go on lamb chops. With a jury like this almost anything could happen and does.
The trial of a suit for plagiarizing a jazz opera occurs in this mythical court and a jury of 12 men who admit they know nothing about music return a verdict that nobody can understand.
To complete the burlesque, a number of musical selections are introduced in connection with the jazz opera trial. The Eveready Hour Orchestra will render this portion of the program.

VALUABLE DATA IN TEMPERANCE CONTEST

By LESLIE PAUL CLIFFORD,
Former Newspaper Editor and a Manuscript Reader in the Hearst $25,000 Temperance Prize Contest.

As the reading and re-reading of the 71,000 plans submitted in the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest progresses it becomes increasingly evident that the great competitive symposium has resulted in the assembling of an invaluable collection of sociological data.

In seeking to evolve a workable temperance plan for the nation's benefit, the majority of the contestants, especially public officials, physicians, lawyers and other professional men, have attacked the problem from an impersonal standpoint. Tens of thousands of other contestants have discoursed in passing regarding the immediate effect which prohibition has had upon their own lives and fortunes.

The overwhelming majority of contestants have evinced an attitude hardly less temperate than the cause they have espoused, but other thousands have reverted to the more colorful style of oratory popular in the early days of the republic when Thomas Jefferson was declaiming about "the blood of tyrants."

One expert manuscript reader who has spent months in examination of plans, impressed by the stupendous amount of labor which they represent, has sought to dramatize the flood of protests in the following way:

The average plan represents at least six hours' work on the part of the contestant.

AVERAGE AGE 35

He places the average age of the contestants at 35 years. A considerable number of entrants were between 80 and 90 years old. He fixes the time which would be required for a contestant to read rapidly his plan aloud at 10 minutes, or 100 words a minute.

Utilizing the foregoing calculations, this reader suggests that if the 71,000 contestants were regarded as one man, he would have had to live 250,000 years before he was prepared to get down, in the light of his experience, a plan for solving the prohibition problem. If this composite contestant then read his plan orally for seven hours a day every day in the year it would be six years before he came to the end of his plan.

JOSEPH JASTROW ENTERS

Among the contributions which were examined yesterday at the New York headquarters of the temperance committee were those of the following contestants:

Prof. Joseph Jastrow, formerly of Colombia and Wisconsin universities and formerly president of the American Psychological Association; Iredell Meares, attorney and authority of constitutional law, Washington; Dr. V. W. Taylor, mayor, Delta, O.; Vivian L. Page, member Virginia House of Delegates, Richmond; Julius Klumpp, commissioner of charities, Union City, N. J.

Finest Tobacco

Only the finest tobacco—the cream of the crop—is used in Lucky Strike Cigarettes. Leaders of sport, art and fashion testify to the improved flavor. 20,679* physicians say toasting does in fact make Luckies less irritating to the throat. And the public confirms these opinions. Increase in sales, greater than all other cigarettes combined, prove world-wide confidence in Lucky Strike.

BUSINESS MEN START CREDIT FUND DRIVE

Ninety Pittsburgh business men today began a canvass to raise $65,000, Pittsburgh's quota in the national drive for $1,750,000 in the Second Credit Protection Fund of the National Association of Credit Men.

The campaign opened at a dinner in the Chamber of Commerce last night, when aims of the drive were explained by officers of the association. Frank C. Demmler, of Demmler Brothers Company, chairman of the campaign, at that time announced that 19,550 of the quota already had been subscribed by a number of Pittsburgh concerns. They are the Gulf Refining Company, $2,500; Carnegie Steel Company, $1,600; National Tube Company, $1,600; American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, $1,600; American Bridget Company, $1,000; Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., $1,000; Union National Bank, $700; Colonial Trust Company, $300, and Alling & Cory, $250.

Speakers were J. C. Nevin, managing director of the Pittsburgh Branch, Federal Reserve Bank, Maxwell Mattuck, of New York, counsel for the Credit Protection Department, Eastern Division, National Association of Credit Men, and Leslie W. Sprague, of New York, campaign manager.

Representatives from Credit Men's Associations in Altoona, Johnstown, Uniontown, New Castle, Erie and Wheeling attended the dinner.

First reports of the drive will be made at a meeting of workers in the Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

How Can a Man Resist Marriage?

SOME men go into marriage with their eyes wide open; lots of them have to be blindfolded and backed into it; but I wonder how many thousands are lured into it by the advertisements in the street cars and magazines.

How many thoughtless and unsuspecting bachelors begin to wonder what they are missing, as they gaze on that picture of the little bride mopping up a spotless kitchen, with a radiant smile on her face, and somebody's peerless mop?

Or gloating with a grim of triumph over her new washing machine, as she merrily turns hubby's shirt through the patent ringer? Or joyously and eagerly washing the pots and pans, with somebody's perfect washing powder?

HELEN ROWLAND

And there is that heart-touching picture of the happy family group, with wife and daddy and two faultlessly behaved children, all eating their unexcelled breakfast-food with smiles of delight on their faces.

And that one of the cute little woman patting her husband's face and saying fondly, "Now you won't have to shave so often. The cream with the lather gives the shave that lasts!"

* * *

Or playfully pushing hubby out of the front door, with the laughing admonition, "Run right along to your lodge and enjoy yourself. The new radio will keep me company!" Ha, ha!

And then, there's the picture of the devoted wife smoothing her tired husband's forehead as she holds the teaspoonful of famous headache cure to his lips. Or rubbing the soothing liniment on his sunburned shoulders. Or applying the corn-plaster to his tired feet.

Oh, yes! And that reassuring one of the frugal young thing smiling jubilantly as she re-colors all her last year's hats with somebody's magic solution. Or repaints the old dressing-table to "look like new" with somebody's dry-while-you-wait paint.

And the mouth-watering vision of the glowing little housewife, in a pastel morning frock and a fresh marcel, turning the griddle cakes and saying cheerily, "Oh, not a bit of trouble, dear! I can mix them in five minutes with this ready-to-cook flour!"

* * *

And last, but not least, there's the one of the cheery little woman down on her knees happily shellacking the dining room floor with her own fair spotless hands.

Oh, beautiful land of perfect women, flawless wives, spotless houses, faultless children, smiling brides and delighted husbands! Where nothing ever goes wrong or gets mixed or lost or burnt or broken—and everybody works but Father!

* * *

No wonder a bachelor feels sorry for himself! How can any man RESIST marriage?

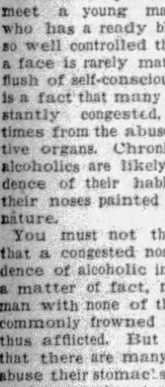
How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Health Depends on Control of Nerves

IT has been said that we are "fearfully and wonderfully made." It is indeed true; if we were to study the brain and nervous system alone, we would find more remarkable things than the radio and all other amazing inventions and discoveries of modern times.



DR. COPELAND

Between the brain and the spinal cord is a portion of the nervous system known as the "medulla oblongata," or brain-stem. Without discussing other functions, one thing this region does is to regulate the nerves controlling the muscular coats of the blood vessels.

Let me see if I can make clear to you how important the function really is. You need not be a scientist to know that if it is to do its work, the stomach must have more blood when it is full of food than it requires when empty. How is it to get that blood.

The nerve center in the medulla sends a message to the muscular coats of the blood vessels in the stomach lining. This message is an order, is it to get that blood?

It is important to govern our living in such a way as to have the nervous system well nourished and normal in function. Then every organ of the body will be supplied with exactly the qualities of blood needed for its immediate purposes.

But this system of regulating the blood supply may be put out of order by abuse. For instance, the stomach may become congested and even seriously inflamed by reason of bad eating habits. When the blood vessels are habitually enlarged the normal regulation fails.

It is rather pleasing, I think, to meet a young married woman who has a ready blush. We are so well controlled these days that a face is rarely mantled with the flush of self-consciousness. But it is a fact that many a face is constantly congested, too, many times from the abuse of the digestive organs. Chronic drinkers or alcoholics are likely to give evidence of their habits by having their noses painted bright red by nature.

You must not think, however, that a congested nose is sure evidence of alcoholic indulgence. As a matter of fact, many a pious man with none of the weaknesses commonly frowned upon may be thus afflicted. But the trouble is that there are many persons who abuse their stomachs by eating too much, or eating too much of the wrong things. This practice may discolor the face just as alcohol does.

When the blood vessels of the middle zone of the face are constantly filled, you can see that the regulation which should be under the control of the medulla is entirely lost. This is another example of what our mistakes do to overturn the normal functions of the nervous system.

Of course, it makes little difference whether you can blush or not, but if the loss of this power is due to abuse of the digestion, it is a real pity. We should lead such lives that the delicately regulated nervous system may be permitted to function normally.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Soliciting References

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When asking a person for a reference, a priest or friend, for instance, is it right to offer him money? If so, how much?

2. When going to a person to ask for a reference how should one ask?

3.—When asking your employer for a reference what should you say? A READER.

NO, do not offer the person, whoever he or she is, money for giving you a reference. As a matter of fact, nothing should be more objective, and to offer money might so easily be interpreted as bribing.

2. It is far better, when asking this favor, to write to the person and ask for the reference. Then the person will be given time to think it over, and to say, in the reference, exactly what he or she wishes to sponsor.

3. Quite directly say, "Mr. Marchbanks, I hope you feel that you can give me a reference, and if you do, will you please be so kind as to write one for me?"

Mother Invites Him

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A very dear friend of mine from a distant city is planning to visit me. He is a college boy and cannot afford to stay at a hotel for the five or six days of his visit. Would it be wrong to have him stay at my home since I am his only acquaintance in this city? Incidentally, his sister is my cousin through marriage.

2. Do my handwriting and note paper convey any impression?

B. G. L.

THIS would be quite correct if you will have your mother, or whoever is the hostess of your home, write the invitation. The invitation should not be in your name—the boy, who will know what's what in this kind of social detail, should not be willing to accept this kind of invitation.

2. Yes, an excellent one. Your paper is perfect, of an excellent size, and your handwriting is careful and good. But do not abbreviate the name of your state and the name of the month.

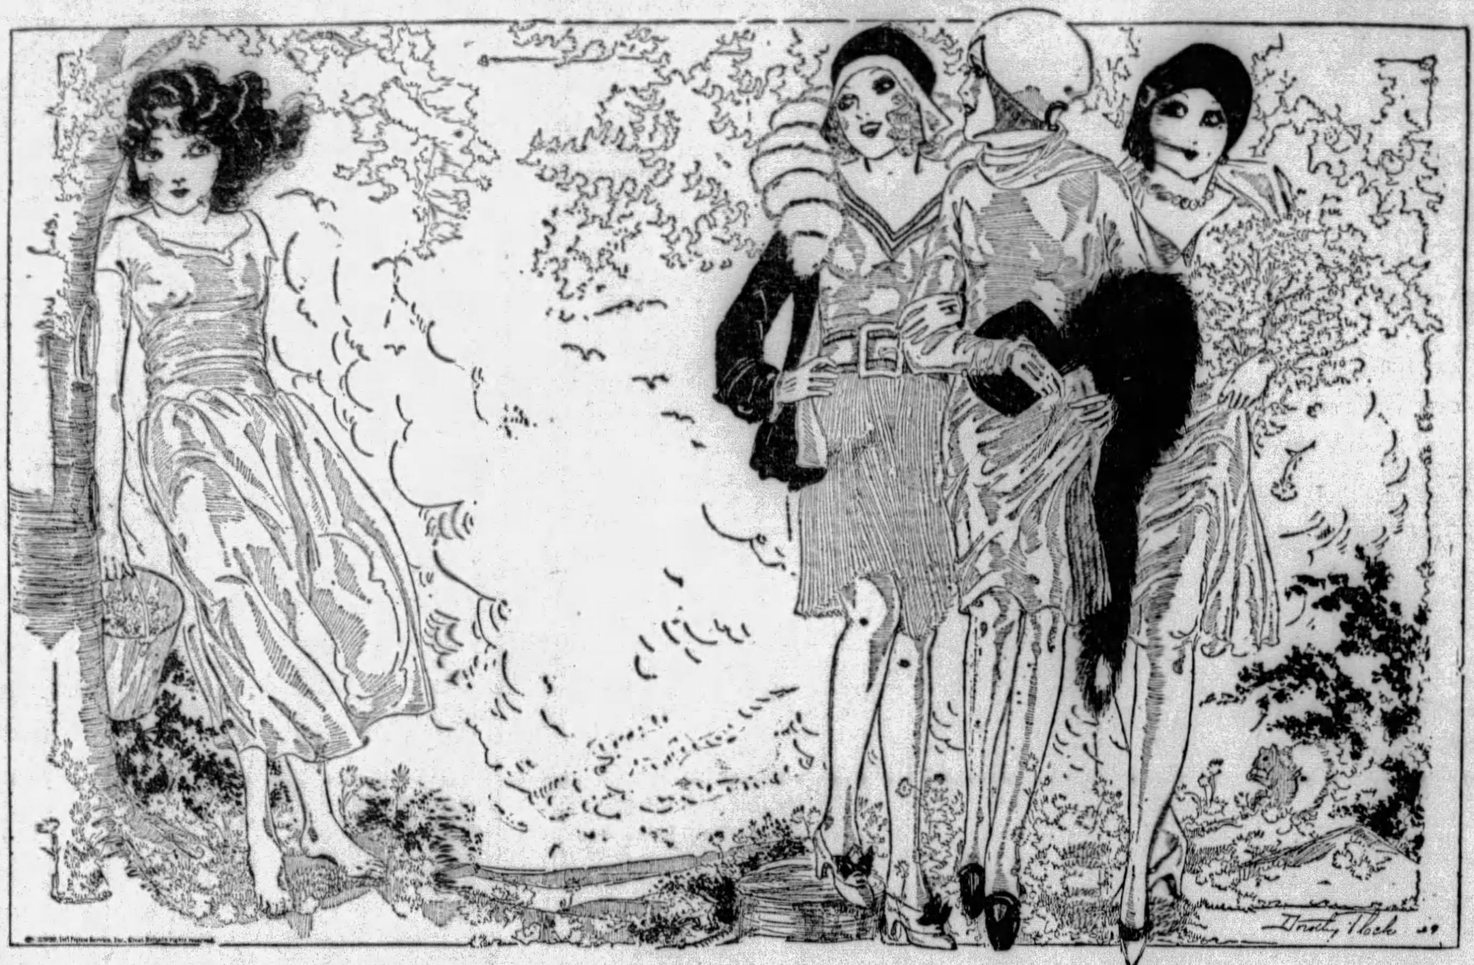
WORLDS APART

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



AS FAR apart as though they lived on different planets, yet so closely akin that they're almost sisters. In fact, if you went back maybe only one generation you'd find that the grandmother of the City Girl was exactly the same type they are now laughing at—the simple, little Country Maid.

After all, they're all girls with the same hopes and dreams and outlook on life. True, the City Girl has had, perhaps, more modern advantages than the country sister, and yet the girl in the country can tell her more modern sister plenty which she never even heard.

So don't laugh when you see a girl whom you jokingly insist "looks as though she came out of the Ark." Never fear, she's not half as unhappy as you are. She may envy you your modern clothes and sophisticated manner, but at heart she's finer and sweeter and less envious than you.

And Love doesn't stop to find out where you come from; it's the heart he seeks, and the soul and the loyalty. And perhaps the country girl has more of this than you'll ever possess. She has ambitions, just as you have, only hers are more apt to be realized than yours, for she doesn't demand so much.

Just because you have better surroundings and finer clothes doesn't make you superior to her. Remember, "Fine feathers make fine birds," and if the country girl had your clothes she might so far outshine you that you in turn would be envious. Be glad you're on earth and have what you have, but don't make fun of others.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Puzzled as to Cause of Mary's Tense Excitement

MARION'S appeal to me for permission to drive with Ronald to see the sunrise on the ocean brought to a decision a debate which had been going on in my mind ever since Mary had suggested the trip.

"Shall I interfere?" I had asked myself, knowing that I must not waken Lillian, and that I stood in her place. Would she have assented to the plan if she had been the recipient of Marion's appeal instead of me?

There was one thing certain. She would not question my decision, no matter what her own might have been, and both my heart and my brain urged me to give assent to the plan. The drive down to the beach would be a short and perfectly safe one, Ronald was as clean-cut, and as chivalrous a youth as one would wish to see—I hoped my own boy would grow up into the same sort of chap—and Marion, who never before had been thrown into association with any boy, was entitled—I told myself—to this first heady draught of masculine admiration which is every young girl's birthright, but which too many of them never receive.

So I stifled the lingering fear that Lillian might secretly disapprove my plan, and spoke cordially:

"Of course you may go, dear, but you must wear your heavy coat."

Marion's thanks and her promise to wrap up were drowned by Ronald's exuberant expressions of gratitude. He was like a small boy receiving a coveted toy, I thought indulgently as he seized my hands and began to thank me extravagantly.

"I'll take ever so good care of her, Mrs. Graham," he said, and I smiled indulgently at him as I imagine women of all ages will do all his life.

"I'm sure you will, Ronald," I told him, "but all you young people must go to bed at once or you'll never be able to awaken in the morning."

"I'm asleep now," Carolyn declared, rubbing her brown eyes, and another minute saw her, with Marion, on their way to the room they previously had agreed to share, while Ronald lingered only to ask me a pertinent question concering the best method of getting one of the Brixton cars out in the morning without disturbing the rest of the house.

"Please don't call me young people, Auntie Madge," Dicky's young niece said as she slipped her arm affectionately through mine. "I feel old as the hills tonight and I couldn't sleep a wink if I went to bed now. There must be things to clear up in the kitchen in order to keep Katie from exploding in the morning when she sees 'dot fool mess dirty dishes shoost lige vun pig pen.' Won't you let me do it, while you and Aunt Katherine go to bed? You've worked enough for one evening."

I laughed at her irresistible mimicry of Katie and gave a prompt assent to her request. Her flushed face and eyes too brilliant told me that she indeed was too excited to sleep. That the cause of her excitement lay in some hidden decision of her own investing her unusual cordiality toward Noel, I was sure, and I knew that work was the best panacea for tensed nerves.

"You may help us clear up, certainly," I told her, "but we shall stay until it is finished. There isn't so very much to do. Katherine and I cleared up as we went along."

"'For that's her weakness now,'" she hummed with an impudent grimace at me, and kept up a lively chatter all through the process of getting the kitchen back to the orderliness which Katie loves. When she finally went out of the kitchen with an exaggerated dancing step, Katherine and I looked at each other with troubled faces.

"That child's near the breaking point with excitement," she said.

"I know it," I returned, "and when the Brixtons go, I will try to find out what is troubling or pleasing her. But until then I can only consider one thing, guarding Lillian against whatever scheme those two men may be concocting."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, May 15

ACCORDING to the predominant planetary influences, this may prove to eb a day of conflicting situations and incidents. While things may be satisfactorily lively and pleasant as to their purely personal contacts, yet there is danger to employment and hazard in the manipulation of finances. Also there may be disappointments, obstructions and post onements, as well as a disturbed and restless state of affairs. Social and domestic activities hold compensatory qualities.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of satisfactory activity, but with doubt attending the outcome of the liveliest endeavor. The finances are at stake, employment is in peril, and generally there are restlessness, uncertainty, delays and disappointment. But there are offsetting equations in the purely personal relations or in artistic and social contacts.

A child born on this day may be clever and popular and have fine social and domestic graces, but nevertheless may have many difficult traits to frustrate its career.

Removes Corns In 3 Minutes Without Pain

Make Your Feet Fit to Stand On—Know What Real Foot-Comfort Means

Three minutes ends the toughest, most painful corn or callous when you use Shur-On. This amazing new remedy stops all pain the instant it is applied; positively will not irritate or affect healthy skin, but so quickly softens the corn or callous that in a few minutes you can easily take it out—root and all. Why use old-time preparations which so often irritate and require several days' treatment? Get Shur-On of May Drug Co., or of any other good druggist, follow the simple directions and enjoy real foot comfort at once.

To Our Patrons:

We regret the inconvenience caused our patrons by the arbitrary action of some of our employes. They insist that we turn over to them the right to employ and discharge our working force and that we reinstate men whom we discharged for acts inimical to our service. To this we will not agree.

We believe delivery delays and interruptions will be of short duration, as most of our employes are loyal, have no grievance and desire to work.

We have addressed the following letter to our men:

To Employes of the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation:

The present disturbance among our employes is the culmination of a series of events starting with the discharge of men whom we found interfering with the proper delivery of milk to our customers. The offense was so serious that we could not tolerate it, and we do not believe that you are in the slightest sympathy with the men discharged or with their disloyal acts.

The elimination of these men was made the basis of a move to draw contented employes into the situation and force us to reinstate the trouble makers. This we declined to do and will not do.

Practically all of our employes are loyal and contented, are satisfied with their wages and working conditions and want to work. These employes we propose to protect and, while we will be only too glad to discuss the situation with a committee of our employes, we will not treat with any self-constituted outside organization which is not interested in our business and whose methods are those of violence.

Our policy is to make our employes happy and contented, pay the best wages possible and provide excellent working conditions. We do not oppose a union of our employes, in fact we favor any organization that will better their working conditions and will co-operate with them in every way to develop the proper organization. Many of our employes are now affiliated with unions, and they are highly desirable citizens. We believe that the greatest prosperity of our employes will mean the best possible service to our customers. That is our aim and ambition.

Milk drivers who do not report for duty Tuesday May 14 at 5 o'clock p. m. will not be restored to their former positions.

The Liberty Dairy Products Corporation has made a pledge with its customers to give them the highest quality of milk and the best possible service. It therefore cannot consent to the ultimatum that it relinquish control over the employment and discharge of its employes. The health of the community so far as milk is concerned demands that we maintain the highest standard of employes. Upon this we insist.

THE LIBERTY DAIRY PRODUCTS CORPORATION.

ROBBER SHOOTS MAN, 5 HELD

A Negro, known to police, was being sought today for the shooting and robbing of James Cronin, 37, of 84 Forty-fifth street, in front of a restaurant at 46 Arthur street, at midnight. Cronin, with a bullet in his spine, is believed dying in Passavant Hospital. Four men and a woman were held in Center Avenue Police Station on charges of being suspicious persons.

Capt. John Schnurr and Lieut. W. J. Lavery, of the Center avenue station, were told by Cronin that he delivered a five-gallon can of moonshine liquor to the restaurant of Viola Turner, Negro, for which he was paid $15. He said he left the place and was getting into his automobile when a Negro who had followed him from the restaurant ordered him to "stick' em up." Believing the man joking he pushed him aside, and the man fired. He then took $215 from Cronin's pocket and fled.

Police arrested the Turner woman and Vesper Taylor, 26, of 53 Arthur street Oscar Stinson, 33, of 2405 Center avenue, and Walter Nesbit, 42, of 67 Arthur street, Negroes. Later Frank Hummell, 39, a white man, of 1831 Arcena street, was arrested by officers, who said they saw Hummell carrying a five-gallon can out of the restaurant.

River Crash Victim's Body Is Recovered

The body of Robert Minick, 23, of Hyndman, Pa., was recovered from the Ohio River last night near the Dead Man's Island Dam, where he and two other men were drowned last Tuesday when a yawl in which they were crossing the stream upset after striking a barge. The body was taken to the county morgue.

Everywhere you see scenes like this

A NEW house under construction; half a dozen cars in front of it. Or a factory working to capacity with a hundred, or five hundred cars around it.

Who own these cars?

American workers.

How have they been purchased? Many of them as "used cars," through the convenient GMAC Plan.

The world goes forward in proportion as its workers can make effective use of their time. The used car has made it possible for millions of men and women to increase their incomes and improve their living by applying their time more effectively.

3 out of 5 buy used cars

Of the cars you see on the road today, three out of five have been purchased by their owners as "used cars." Many of them are serving as "second cars" for a family which needs two or more cars to meet the requirements of all its members. Many others are affording satisfactory transportation to families who otherwise would be denied automobile ownership.

The cars which General Motors dealers are taking in trade offer real opportunities in unused transportation at low cost. They present a wide choice of body types and styles; and for convenience in purchase, General Motors extends the GMAC Payment Plan.

"THE GREAT NECKER," AT PITT, POKES FUN AT CENSOR IN AMUSING FARCE

By GEORGE SEIBEL

WHEN December marries June it's either a tragedy or a comedy—in "The Great Necker," produced by George Sharp's Players at the Pitt Theater last night, it turns into uproarious farce. There is every ingredient of the comic strip except the bald-headed beau—and of course we can't expect Kenneth Daigneau, who usually plays the ambrosially curled heroes, to submit to tonsorial clippers, even though Alice Ann Baker gets her hair bobbed and resigns as movie censor to go to Hollywood herself.

These few hints will suffice to show of what stuff this comedy is made—hard-boiled sophistication trying to pretend at love's sweet dream, but waking up before it's too late.

As Pauline MacLean, in her role of the twice-widowed charmer, who finally salvages the disappointed "Great Necker," tells him and the audience before the last curtain, "God made women beautiful so the men would love them, and he made them dumb so they would love the men." That's the moral of the play, if it has any moral. The other moral may be that sweet sixteen may be a cold-storage chicken.

"The Great Necker" is farce-comedy of the most modern vintage, and movie censors like the one played by Alice Ann Baker wouldn't consider it quite the thing for their daughters supposed to have seen only "Peter Pan," like Peggy Daugherty who plays the daughter.

SOME SAUCY SATIRE

If there is any deeper lesson to the play, it's in the satire pointed at holier-than-thou censorship. In the first act the movie censor gets a private view of a picture at the home of the man who has put $150,000 into it. The censor is shocked—and well she may be—as the picture is shown on the screen put up in the apartment.

But movie censors are only human, and the permit is secured after the producer, played by Gus A. Forbes with an East Side accent and a Semitic proboscis, deluges this censorious lady with grape-juice that has a lumber-yard instead of a stick and inveigles her into matrimony and second flapperhood. Adolph Cohen is one of the best comedy characterizations Mr. Forbes has yet given.

And Robert Fiske as the stuttering husband of a termagant flirt is also screamingly funny, especially when he appears in lodge regalia to join the parade, having gone off so many times to "lodge" that he has to make good to quiet his wife's suspicions.

LOVER'S POSTOFFICE

That troublesome wife, acted with her usual spirit by Mabel Kroman, has found an ingenious new way to send her lover notes by putting them in her husband's hat. Here is a novelty in the postal department of Cupid's realm. Miss Kroman also provides another novelty by a Wild West exhibition of revolver practice, which might have turned the farce into melodrama.

But nearly everybody has some astonishing things to do—like Peggy Daugherty playing the modern Juliet by climbing down to her Romeo. That Romeo is Hugh Banks, disconsolate for nearly three acts but undismayed to the last, when his perseverance is rewarded.

And the Great Necker—well, his own neck is caught in the noose, and everybody is happy, or ought to be—certainly the audience was, for it enjoyed many rich laughs, saw some capital acting, and one of the most beautiful stage pictures, the Long Island Garden scene of the last act.

The play has never before been seen in Pittsburgh, and it is well worth seeing. It reveals again the versatility and intelligence of these players, who gave a smooth and enjoyable performance at every point.

Milton Sills Enright Star

Milton Sills and Maria Corda are appearing in "Love and the Devil" on the Enright screen. Sills plays a noted British explorer and Miss Corda is seen as a popular opera singer in Venice. Their romance—rather dull—consumes 6,431 feet of film. The picture has a musical accompaniment and an incidental song or so. There is no dialogue.

Dick Powell's newest revue, "Fun Frolic," is the stage attraction. It is quite a family affair. There are the Caites Brothers, the Letts Sisters and the Gaudsmith Brothers. The Caites boys prove keen tappers and steppers, while the Gaudsmith fellows come out with clown make-up and a couple of performing dogs and go through some acrobatics. The Letts girls, with Louise, present some vocal harmony. Mr. Powell leads his band through a novel interpretation of the "Tin Pan Parade" and later vocalizes about the dreamer, the lover and the clown. Incidentally, he gets himself quite a lot of applause. The Enright Rockets and Martha Patti, soprano, also are on the bill.

Ruth Mix Tops Sheridan Show

Ruth Mix, daughter of Tom Mix, is featured on the stage in the Sheridan Square the first three days of this week. She offers a collection of songs and dances. The screen has "It Can Be Done," a part-talk film, with Glenn Tyron. Sue Carol appears in the leading feminine role.

Other stage acts include The Briants, who offer pantomime; Scanlon, Denno Brothers and Scanlon, in a pot pourri of comedy, song and dance, and Pope and Polr. Fox Movietone News and additional film entertainment is also on the bill.

COURT TRIAL IN PENN TALKIE

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Norma Shearer is on trial for her life in the Penn this week in the screen version of the Ann Harding stage play, "The Trial of Mary Dugan." It is a gripping photoplay.

In filming the production the movie-makers made it an all-talkie. Now it has a few silent moments. Incidentally, these hushed episodes are due to a discriminating Pennsylvania board of movie censors, which has seen fit to delete a sentence or so of dialogue in several instances.

The picture, dramatic and entertaining, marks the unusual in talk screen court trials. There are no flashbacks to the scene of the murder involved. In fact, with the exception of the brief opening sequences, all of the action, with its accompanying talk, occurs in the court room. The picture also offers the unusual in heroes, as the hero involved is a brother and not a sweetheart of the heroine.

PORTRAYAL EMOTIONAL

Miss Shearer gives an emotional and impressive portrayal of Mary, the girl accused of the murder of her wealthy admirer, reaching keen histronic heights at the trial's close, when realization comes to her that she is a free woman once more. This is all we're going to tell about the story, for further information will serve to tame the surprises that arise in the dramatic and somewhat lengthy court trial.

The supporting cast is intelligent and capable. What's more, the majority of it talks in understandable voices. Raymond Hackett, youthful emoter, does a grand piece of work in the prominent role of Mary's brother. Lewis Stone gives a finished performance as the defense attorney who quits the case in the middle of the trial only to dramatically appear on the scene near the fadeout. H. B. Warner strikes true in the prosecutor's part.

A WELL MADE TALKIE

Briefly, "The Trial of Mary Dugan" is a well executed talkie. There is an atmosphere of reality about it and it holds interest throughout. Also it has some comedy moments, well done, that give balance to its emotional episodes.

The stage presents "Pearls of Bagdad," a colorful revue of song, dance and comedy. Idrena does some Oriental dancing and Murray and Alan, the "3,000-year-ago boys," generate a lot of laughs. There also is an interpretive dancer all greased up in red paint, and two singers, Arch Cannon and Gladys St. John. Band music and elaborate costumes are other features.

The bill also includes a Dick Leibert organlogue.

Grand Keeps 'Show Boat'

"Show Boat," Universal's lengthy picturization of the Edna Ferber novel, is being presented for a third week in the Grand. The picture is offered to the accompaniment of Ziegfeld music and has some of the stars of the stage production in prologue sequences, Laura La Plante and Joseph Schildkraut play the leading dramatic roles.

Laura La Plante

Miss La Plante appears as the daughter of a river show-boat. Schildkraut's role is that of a dashing gambler with whom she falls in love and weds.

'Frivolities' Academy Show

Harry Strouse's "Frivolities," featuring Tangara, Oriental dancer, and Charles (Bimbo) Davis, comedian, is the current burlesque show in the Academy. One of the show features is a sketch built about the movies. The cast includes Bee Belle, prima donna; Charles Williams, eccentric comic; Adeline Parks, soubrette; James Hall, straight man, and Johnny Cook, dancing juvenile.

Regent Offers Beery Picture

Wallace Beery has the star role in "Chinatown Nights," current film in the Regent. Florence Vidor is seen as the heroine. Beery plays the role of a Chinatown boss. The picture has talk sequences.

SEEN ON SCREEN -:- IN PHOTOPLAYS -:- OF CURRENT BILLS

Norma Shearer and Lewis Stone, in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," an all-talkie version of the stage play of the same title, which is being presented as the picture feature of the program in the Penn.

Richard Dix is the star of "Nothing But the Truth," offered as the principal photoplay in Stanley.

Sue Carol has a principal role in "It Can't Be Done," showing of Harris and Sheridan Square screens.

Stepin Fetchit has a leading part in "Hearts in Dixie," audible picture with Negro cast, in the Aldine.

"HEARTS IN DIXIE," ALDINE FILM, IS GOOD PICTURE WITH NEGRO CAST

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

THERE are hearts in Dixie—human hearts beating the same rhythm beneath black skins as they do beneath white—beating time to the same human emotions, the same human errors, the same human weaknesses. If we have forgotten these truths, they are impressively called to mind by witnessing "Hearts In Dixie," photoplay in the Aldine. It has a cast in which a white person is seen only occasionally and then in some minor part.

We hesitate to call it a great photoplay, but have no hesitancy in terming it as fine and enjoyable a picture of the contrast between human frailty and human greatness as you ever have seen—a most agreeable illustration of the humble life of the old South. It has much of what the critical call "hokum," which means that it has plenty of the old elemental appealing things which never really grow old.

JUST A SIMPLE STORY

It is just a simple little tale of life on the plantation. Just such a one as you might see in the making were you to walk around and peep into the rude cabins for a moment or two, continue on to a cotton field and to the wharf and to the Negro church and to the barbecue, and then taking all the confused scenes and putting them in order as to sequence, and coupling up all the incidents into a cohesive whole.

Doing that you would see a lazy, shiftless Negro, who has "a misery" in his feet when there is any work to do, and lightning in the same feet when there is music playing. You would see a kindly and industrious old man who sells his farm and his mule so that a boy may "go north to be educated" and be of help to his people, and lying like a master to make the boy believe there has been no sacrifice. You would see death stalking into the cabin and the voodoo woman attempting to stay its icy hand. You would see more joy and happiness than sorrow, but you would experience the lump in the throat and the misty eye.

That is what you do see and experience in "Hearts of Dixie," a picture play that has plenty of comedy and plenty of authentic illustration of the Negro at work and at play, an intermingling of the details of life that is carefree in its most serious aspects and humorously purposeless in its lighter angles.

"GUMMY" SUN DODGER

Characterization is the height of naturalness. The central character is the paternal old man, "Pappy," referred to as being industrious and possessed of vision. Perversely, the opposite character, that of the lazy, good-for-nothing "Gummy," gets the most attention. "Gummy gets out of all the work he can with his excuse of "misery" and when that fails he just sneaks away from it. As Stepin Fetchit pictures him he is the sum of all the indolent Negroes ever heard of during the daytime. But at night! When the banjos strike up! How that "nigger" does step! And when a gal strikes his fancy! She is just his'n, thass all. A truly natural characterization.

There are a number of other individual portraits that will excite admiration, but "Pappy" and "Gummy" stand out.

Love interest, heart interest and a great deal of wholesome, clean comedy will be found in "Hearts in Dixie," which is an all-talkie, with incidental darkie music, and a lot of plantation dancing. It is a good picture.

Movietone news and short dialogue and audible films, including one featuring Van and Schenck, also are on the program.

Band, Picture On Harris Bill

The Brown Derby Orchestra, under the direction of Frank and Milt Britton, shows some originality in its musical presentation on the Harris vaudeville stage. Dorothy Lane helps the act along.

The screen feature is "It Can Be Done," a part talk picture. Glenn Tryon and Sue Carol are featured. Glenn begins his emoting as a shy, diffident clerk and ends up as a self-confident go-getter. Sue is seen as a telegraph clerk in a hotel lobby. Naturally, the romance between them has a lot to do with the story. Much of the action takes place in a big city hotel, and there are numerous chases and I-Spy episodes.

Other stage acts include a comedy skit, "The Man Said," presented by Gladys Dunbar Niles and Dick Mansfield. Karl and Revein offer a fun act, "Banana Oil." Hazel Crosby appears in "Opera a la Syncopation."

Short screen entertainment and orchestra music are on the bill.

'Weary River' Liberty Film

"Weary River," starring Richard Barthelmess, is being presented in the Liberty. Barthelmess is seen as a musical gangster who writes a song and undergoes reformation in prison. Betty Compson plays the heroine role. The picture has some talk sequences and some singing episodes.

Richard Barthelmess

The character played by the star sings "Weary River," a song made popular since the film was shown here originally.

Attempt to Rescue Shot Gunman Balked

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(AP.)—Tipped that gangsters planned to raid the Hahnemann Hospital and rescue William Healy, wounded gunman and jail breaker, police yesterday removed him to Moyamensing prison. Healy was shot in a fight with a detective here several weeks ago when he was recognized as one of five prisoners who had escaped from the Ohio state penitentiary.

Healy was taken from the hospital after a watchman had reported what he believed was an attempted rescue. He said several men were loitering near the hospital and that one of them approached and asked the number of Healy's room. The watchman's response was a blast on his police whistle and the men ran away.

$2,000 Stone Estate Willed to Daughter

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—The entire estate of Melville E. Stone, counselor of the Associated Press, who died February 15, was left to his daughter, Elizabeth Stone, his will filed for probate yesterday disclosed. The estate is estimated at not more than $2,000.

The entire estate was left to the daughter, the will said, "with the knowledge and at the suggestion" of Mrs. Martha Stone, his widow. Mrs. Stone had been otherwise provided for, the will said.

Athletic Goods Plea Sent from Byrd Ship

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(AP.)—From far off New Zealand yesterday came a radiogram from one college man to another asking for a supply of athletic equipment, "football and baseball stuff preferred." The message came to Al Edwards, University of Pennsylvania lacrosse star, from Carroll D. Foster, Jr., who is a member of Commander Byrd's expedition to the South Pole. Foster, a freshman at Penn last year, is now a fireman on Byrd's flagship, the Eleanor Bolling.

Edwards appealed to Ernest Cozens, graduate manager at Penn, and the various team managers were directed to round up old athletic equipment and send it to Foster and his shipmates.

Farmer Is Injured As Tractor Upsets

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., May 14.—Fred Mohrbacher, 44, New Sewickley farmer, is in the Beaver Valley Hospital with a dislocated shoulder and bruises about the chest suffered when a tractor upset.

FINE DANCER STANLEY'S BIG HIT

The sensation of the Stanley's stage bill this week is again Drena Beach, the dancer who performs sinuous evolutions as a panther maiden and is laid low by the hunter's bullet as a climax. Drena Beach is a marvel of lissome grace and feline agility.

A pair of comical cats, impersonated by Bert Albert and company, afford an amusing counterpart to this—as they imitate the emotional antics and back-fence symphonies of Thomas and Tabitha. This act is genuinely funny.

RICHARD DIX TALKS

The talking picture presents Richard Dix in William Collier's popular stage hit, "Nothing But the Truth." The film does not depart from the play very much—a few parts have been eliminated and a night-club scene put in. Dix is quite amusing in his role of rival to George Washington, and Helen Kane, as one of the show-girls, singing "Do Something," also proved an attractive feature of the film.

Grace Barry in the stage show, "Manhattan," sang the same song, so the audience had its choice between flesh-and-blood or light-and-shade. They couldn't decide.

"OLE MAN RIBBER"

Dave Broudy had woven his orchestral production, "Plantation Days," around Southland melodies, particularly those of Stephen C. Foster. In this part Milton Douglas, owner of a very rich baritone, sang "Ole Man Ribber" with much feeling and expression.

Four members of the Carr family—Pa and Ma, Son and Daughter—showed by their dancing that there's something in heredity, and a pair of singing comedians, Ross and Edwards, told some good ones. And Bernie Armstrong persuaded the crowd as usual to sing his organ melodies.

Daughter Succeeds Dennison Treasurer

DENNISON, O., May 14.—Miss Sarah Van Tine was appointed city treasurer yesterday to succeed her father, the late Samuel J. Van Tine, 90, who was treasurer for twenty years

Three New Castle Bankrupts Indicted

Norman J. Wallinger, Abe Weitzman and Moe Rosken, of New Castle, were indicted by the Federal grand jury for alleged concealment of assets from a receiver and trustee in bankruptcy. The indictment charges that tires and other accessories for automobiles were removed from Wallinger's place of business, 417 North Croton avenue, New Castle, a few days before an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against him in Federal court, October 4, 1927, by the three defendants.

GAMBLING JACK'S ONLY VICE, ESTELLE DECLARES

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 14.—(INS.)—Jack Dempsey's gambling losses at Agua Caliente, Mexico, have been the only bone of contention in the Dempsey family, according to his actress wife, Estelle Taylor, who is here on business.

When asked whether Jack's alleged fight with Joe Benjamin in New York might lead to a divorce, Miss Taylor emphatically denied the report and said that if Jack hit Joe it was in fun or Jack had a good reason to do so.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS.)—The eternal question, "Who killed Cock Robin?" has been relegated to the discard by the new and pressing query, "Who hit Joe Benjamin?"

The Broadway furore that resulted yesterday over the report that Jack Dempsey had floored his one-time "bosom friend" during the course of a whoopee party in a Fifth avenue hotel flamed anew today following the news that a "peace pact" had been signed by the pugilists.

Dempsey went on record yesterday as denying he had "socked" Benjamin or had even been aware of his presence at the whoopee party. Couple this denial with the story of the reconciliation and a split lip and black eye sported by Benjamin and you have a first-class mystery story.

Benjamin is reported to have amplified his statement of yesterday regarding his ability to "lick Dempsey the best day he ever had," to something that sounded like:

"I had it coming to me. Jack is my best friend, and I'm for him."

AILMENTS LEAVE WHEN KONJOLA IS GIVEN A TRIAL

Pittsburgh Lady Finds First Relief From Double Disease Through Master Medicine

Many of the recoveries brought about by Konjola, the new medicine, are so remarkable as to be almost incredible, were the facts of the cases not known and verified. It is astonishing how this master compound triumphs over stubborn cases that have obstinately defied every other medicine and treatment tried. It is amazing how the 32 ingredients of Konjola, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs, go to the very seat and cause of the troubles. How Konjola does this is being explained daily by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. There come daily those who would make inquiry about this super-remedy of which they have heard so many wonderful things. Konjola, remember, is not a medicine of claims and promises, but of deeds; of success when all else failed. After all, the proof of a medicine's worth is its achievements, as in the case of Mrs. Mary V. Brown, 2311 Glenmawr Avenue, Pittsburgh, who made this remarkable statement to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

MRS. MARY V. BROWN

"The small amount of money I invested in Konjola brought me health that is more valuable than all the gold and riches in the mint. For a long time I was the victim of two ailments that did not yield to any medicine or treatment until I took Konjola. My stomach and kidneys were in a dreadful state. There was never a meal that did not cause suffering afterward. Foods fermented gases that bloated me most uncomfortably. The kidney and bladder troubles were agonizing. During the night I was forced to rise from five to six times. Consequently my sleep was so disturbed that I felt just as tired in the morning as when I retired. I had about given up all hope of relief when Konjola was recommended.

"It certainly was a stubborn and chronic case that this medicine was confronted with. But do you think that made any difference? Certainly not. Konjola, just as I was told it would, went right to work and before I knew what was happening it started to bring back my lost health. Cleansing and stimulating my organs, it restored my digestion and increased my appetite. Then it began to work on my kidneys and soon they were functioning as Nature intends. I sleep soundly through the night; every night, without having to rise a single time. I have greater energy and strength and feel sure the relief is lasting. No wonder Konjola is called the master medicine of them all."

Same old story—success—when Konjola is put to the test, no matter how long the suffering has been endured; no matter what medicines and treatments have been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaing the merits of this master medicine.

JOY RIDE JAILS SPEEDING TRIO

Pursued by two motorcycle patrolmen, two men and a woman in a stolen automobile sped through the Point Breeze district at 50 miles an hour early today, according to testimony in Morals Court.

At the hearing they gave their names as E. W. Lamb, 24, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Mrs. Helen Wittmere, 25, of 112 Grandview avenue, cashier in a downtown restaurant, and her husband, Charles, 25.

Lamb admitted taking a car belonging to Joseph Radonn, grocer, of 201 Shiloh street, on pretense of purchasing it.

Lamb also admitted wrecking a car he had rented last week in Cleveland on a road near Washington, Pa., and passing a worthless $50 check on the Roosevelt Hotel. He was held for court charged with larceny by Magistrate A. D. Brandon. Wittmere and his wife were discharged.

COUNTY BONDS ORDERED SOLD

County bonds for $5,100,000 were ordered sold to the Union Trust Company and the Mellon National Bank on their joint bid by the County Commissioners today. The county obtained a total premium of $31,569 at a price of 100.619.

Of the total, $700,000 is from an issue authorized in 1924. The remainder is from the people's bond issue voted last year. The proceeds will be available tomorrow, it was announced, for county building construction.

PUT HER ON THE ROAD TO HEALTH

Sheridan Resident Says Ten Herbs Helped Stomach, Liver, Nerves and Bowels.

If you would be well—free from stomach, liver, kidney and bowel trouble, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and rundown condition—profit by the experience of thousands of local men and women, and use Ten Herbs, the famous new medicine with the ten wonderful herbal ingredients. At least find out for yourself about Ten Herbs by calling at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where this successful compound is being introduced.

"I want to tell the public how Ten Herbs put me on the road to good health," said Mrs. Annie Williams, 1116 Southland St., Sheridan, Pa., (near Pittsburgh.) "For several years I had suffered grently with my stomach. Food would lie in my stomach and sour and ferment. Gas would form, and at times it crowded around my heart and made it palpitate. For months I had not been able to eat many kinds of food. Constipation troubled me. My liver was not working right. I would get so dizzy that I would almost fall, and my complexion was extremely sallow. I was terribly drowsy during the day, but when night came my nerves kept me from getting proper rest. I had neuritis in my knees, which would become so stiff and painful that I would be in agony.

"Since taking Ten Herbs, my appetite is good, and I am free of distress after eating—no more painful gas. My bowels are regular. My liver is working better, and biliousness and dizzy spells are gone. My nerves are more quiet, and I get restful sleep at night. My complexion has become so clear that friends remark about the change in my appearance. Neuritis is gone—the stiffness and pains gradually left my knees. I really feel better in every way, and gladly give this statement for publication."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's Drug Stores.

Women Will Hold Safety Rally Friday

The first safety rally and round table conference of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council will be held in the Congress of Women's Clubs, Penn avenue, Friday at noon. Several hundred women, including members of the safe drivers' school, will attend. Speakers will be Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, vice president of the council; Frank R. Phillips, vice president of the Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas Companies; Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, Dr. C. J. Steim and George E. Clarkson.

Kills Child, Wounds Wife and Ends Life

BELLEVILLE, Ill., May 14.—(INS.)—Lee George, 26-year-old Belleville coal miner, shot and killed his 15-month-old daughter, Anna, with a shotgun, seriously wounded his wife, Elsie, 21, and then killed himself.

A scribbled note near George's body read: "I will not let my mother-in-law raise my baby."

Gambling Crusade Opens in Wheeling

WHEELING, W. Va., May 14.—Sheriff Ambrose Habig, of Ohio County, today clamped the lid down on all forms of gambling and vice here when his deputies called on all operators and issued a warning that noon Tuesday would be the zero hour for the violators.

A war between gambling, horse race, pool and slot machine interests is said to have caused the issuance of the order.

Pittsburgh Student Honored at Cornell

J. M. Veeder, 1598 Denniston avenue, has been elected to membership in Sigma Xi, national honorary engineering society, according to an announcement by the Cornell chapter of the fraternity. Veeder is a Senior at Cornell. Among other Pennsylvanians elected to membership are P. R. Burkholder, Fayetteville, W. N. Lowry, Lewisburg, Whiton Powell, Bethlehem, and F. G. Williams, State College.

$6,000 Auto Asked For Detective Bureau

Council has received a request from Safety Director James M. Clark for authority to buy a $6,000 automobile for the detective bureau to replace the present car that has been in use for two years and has been driven 58,000 miles.

Director Edward G. Lang, of the department of public works, also submitted a request for an automobile costing $2,000 to replace his present car.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Marriages in East Add Important Names to Social Roster Here

THESE eastern weddings are absorbing a lot of our attention just now, aren't they? When local men find their brides in other cities, the marriages are of particular interest to us because they add to our social group here. Next winter will see several new faces at the parties and dances and new names on important lists of patronesses, and I have no doubt that there will be considerable entertaining for these brides who are coming to live here.

One of these new names will be that of Mrs. Alexander H. Hunter, who, until her marriage to Mr. Hunter on Friday afternoon in New York, was Marjorie Gilbert, daughter of Mrs. Ada Kipp Gilbert, of New York and Englewood, N. J. I understand that Mr. and Mrs. Hunter are going to make their home down in Sewickley after they return from their wedding trip abroad.

Quite a few local folks are going East for the wedding, among them Mrs. Thomas R. Hartley, the Lewis A. Parks, the Clarence Stanleys, Mr. and Mrs. George Harton Singer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John F. Walton, the William F. Bickels, Mr. and Mrs. William Larimer Jones, the Thomas Howe Nimicks, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Orr, Pennock Orr and Stanley M. Quay. As I told you before, Mr. Singer, Mr. Park and Mr. Bickel are the Pittsburghers included in the list of Mr. Hunter's ushers.

ANOTHER wedding in the East which is of interest here took place yesterday at 5 o'clock in the Third Presbyterian Church, of Newark, when Berenice Stengel, daughter of Mrs. J. August Stengel, of Mt. Prospect avenue, Newark, and William Potter Wooldridge, of Rochester, N. Y., son of the Norman S. Wooldridges, of South Linden avenue, were married. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph F. Folsom, of the Clinton Avenue Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. Robert Scott Inglis, of the Third Church.

Berenice was given away by her brother, Edwin C. Stengel, and she wore cream satin made in medieval style, with a bustle effect and a long train, and a medici collar of Alencon lace. Her veil of cream tulle was held with a coronet of rose point lace, and she carried calla lilies and lilies of the valley. On her way to the church, she wore an embroidered silk shawl which had been worn by her great-great-grandmother.

Dorothy S. Knoepke, of South Orange, N. J., who is engaged to Edwin C. Stengel, was maid of honor, and her frock was of peach chiffon, made in cape effect, with a period skirt. Her picture hat was of leghorn trimmed with peach velvet and she carried spring flowers. Frocks of blue chiffon with leghorn hats trimmed with blue velvet were worn by the bridesmaids, Louise Dixon and Isabel Schenck, of Newark; Marguerite Schnellbacher and Margaret Agens, of East Orange; Maria T. Romero, of Bradley Beach, N. J., and Grace Shuttleworth, of Forest Hills, L. I. They carried spring flowers, too. The small flower girl, Joan Feigenstan, of Newark, wore cream net and carried a basket of spring blossoms. Lewis B. Valentyne, Jr., of Newark, was the page.

Mr. Wooldridge had his brother, John Phillips Wooldridge, for his best men and the ushers included Ralph Richardson, G. Warren Cobb, Clarence L. Waring and Martin Dunsmeier, of Rochester, N. Y.; George Calvet, of Elyria, O.; Thomas G. Conley, of Germantown, Pa.; James G. Dougherty, of New York; Norman W. Halls, of St. Louis; F. Carroll Stille, of Millburn, N. J., and Arthur H. Moore, of Newark.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the Hotel Suburban and later the young Wooldridges left for a trip to Bermuda. When they return in July they will be at home in South Goodman street, Rochester.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stengel wore a frock of beige lace made with hat to match and a coat of purple velvet. Her corsage was of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Wooldridge appeared in beige crepe with hat to match and a tan coat, while her corsage was of orchids.

AND still talking about eastern weddings, would you like to know who the attendants are to be when Evelyn Fahnestock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Fahnestock, of New York, and George S. Steele, son of the Frederick Hall Steeles, of Pittsburgh, are married on June 3.

The ceremony, you know, will be performed in St. Thomas' Church, New York, by the Rt. Rev. Ernest M. Stires, bishop of Long Island, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Roelif H. Brooks, rector of St. Thomas'. Afterwards there will be a large reception at the Fahnestock home in Fifth avenue. Evelyn will have her sister, Mrs. Charles R. Beattie, the former Mildred Fahnestock, for her matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Sarita Weekes, Clara Legg, Elizabeth Callaway, Ruth M. Peck, Lavinia Riker and Susan Todd, all New York girls. And Peter Schladermundt is going to be Mr. Steele's best man.

Dr. and Mrs. Fahnestock are planning to give a dinner on June 1 in Sherry's for the bridal party, I hear.

NOW, to get away from the topic of weddings, I want to tell you a little more about the Poverty Night Club to be held Friday night at the Dorian Club in Sewickley by the Sewickley Health Association. In the first place, it is not a "dress-up" affair and the guests are not expected to come in costume. And the committee tells me that one of the features of the evening will be the appearance of Faber Downey, David Chaplin, Robert H. McCague and Ira Fitch Brainard in a varied type of entertainment.

Mrs. Francis H. McKnight has taken over the chairmanship of the entertainment committee, I understand, and I believe I told you before that Mrs. J. Crossan Chaplin III is heading the ticket sale committee. And plans are being made to provide bridge tables for those who care to play.

MRS. WILLIAM ZANG is acting as general chairman for the Women's Exchange bridge tea which will be held May 21 at the home of Mrs. Wallac Hurtte Rowe in Morewood avenue. Mrs. Zang is being assisted by Mrs. Richard Hawkins, who is serving as treasurer, while Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl is chairman of invitations.

In charge of the tables are Mrs. Charles A. Arbuthnot and Mrs. George Macbeth, while Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. C. A. Foster are on the reception committee. Mrs. Rowe is chairman of hospitality, assisted by Mrs. Moses B. Atwood, Miss Beatrice Hawkins, Mrs. Birney K. McMechen, Mrs. E. B. Scull, Miss Eleanor Rowe, Mrs. David Gill, Mrs. Charles C. Heard, Mrs. Charles P. Orr, Mrs. James S. Hammond and Mrs. Charles Wharton.

THE engagement of Miss Garnet Johnston, daughter of Mrs. Rhoda Johnston, of Greensburg, to Olen Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Campbell, of Tampa, Fla., was announced Saturday at a bridge luncheon given in her honor in the Keystone Athletic Club by Miss Maxine Liebermann. A June wedding in Greensburg will terminate the engagement, with Miss Liebermann as maid of honor.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED C. RAPP, of Hilands avenue, Emsworth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Boyce Rapp, to Lawrence O. Ulrich, son of Mrs. Albert Ulrich, of Brighton road, Ben Avon. No wedding date has been set.

THE initial formal supper dance of Delta Phi Sigma, new evening school fraternity of Duquesne University, will be held tomorrow night in Terrace Grotto, Morrowfield Apartments. John J. Cain, chairman of the dance committee, will be toastmaster and the speakers will be Dr. J. A. Moran and R. L. Ferraro.

AT a bridge luncheon given Saturday in the Edgewood Country Club, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Margaret Alicoque Ivory, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ivory, of Maryland avenue, to Cyril H. Keating, son of Mrs. Amelia Keating, of this city. An early June wedding is planned.

THE National Park Seminary Alumnae Association will hold its monthly luncheon and meeting Friday afternoon in the Longue Vue Country Club. The hostesses will be Mrs. Charles B. Gibson, Mrs. W. M. Laird, Jr., and Mrs. Henry Holmes.

AT a luncheon given Saturday in the Keystone Athletic Club by Miss Helen J. Miller in honor of Miss Alice Cecil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen S. Cecil, of this city, announcement was made that Miss Cecil has chosen June 25 as the date for her marriage to Glenn L. Guy, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Freeman Guy, of Pittsburgh. Miss Miller will be maid of honor at the wedding. Thirty-two guests were present at the luncheon and assisting Miss Miller were Mrs. Cecil, Mrs. Guy and Mrs. Charles Nichol.

EVELYN FAHNESTOCK

Miss Fahnestock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fahnestock, New York, who has set June 3 as the date of her wedding to George S. Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hall Steele, Pittsburgh. The wedding will take place at St. Thomas' Church, New York, followed by a reception at the Fahnestock home, 954 Fifth avenue.

Club Gives Program Of Four Generations

FOUR generations of song, history and daughters was the theme around which was built yesterday's program for the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club. The meeting was held in Mrs. Adolph Krebs' lovely home in Parkway drive, and among the guests were Mrs. Krebs' grandmother, Mrs. Lucinda Goehring, of Greensburg, aged 92; her mother, Mrs. J. E. Wampler, of Irwin, and her daughters, Margaret and Katherine Krebs. Community songs of the four generations were sung by the club choral, which Mrs. Lucille Miller Werner directed. Lullabies of the same periods were sung by Mrs. Krebs, her present day cradle song being merely an admonition to the baby to be good while mother went to the club. Later there were fireside songs, some of them hymns played on an old-fashioned organ by Mrs. R. T. Charters wearing a panniered taffeta dress of bygone days. Another was by Mrs. Krebs and was pantomimed by Mrs. J. V. Gilfillan and Mrs. S. A. Schreiner, who were clothed in heirlooms. Mrs. Schreiner wore a man's dress suit of blue silk that was made by an Economite more than 100 years ago. Mrs. J. P. Moore was at the piano for the accompaniments. Jean Charters, Marion Jones, Martha Schreiner and Margaret Krebs, school girls, grouped around the piano, represented the fourth in the fireside group.

Mrs. Elmer E. E. Stewart gave something of the early history much as if she were day-dreaming, and Mrs. R. L. Kelley read a poem by Mrs. Stewart entitled "Mt. Lebanon's Hills." Recollections of his boyhood spent in the hills were brought to the women by J. C. Fetterman, the speaker recalling the old Pittsburgh Southern Railway, the United Presbyterian Church when it had nothing but a tuning fork to start the singing, the first church organ, which caused such a stir among the congregation, the first bicycle seen in the South Hills, and some interesting facts concerning the early days of the township. And then, for good measure to a delightful afternoon, there was an interesting exhibit of priceless heirlooms—a quilt of Mrs. Schreiner's that had been brought to America before the Revolution and which has its only known counterpart at Mt. Vernon; a spinning wheel, an ancient hay fork, candle moulds with the candles in the making, old portraits, candlesticks, rugs, a cradle, and chairs.

AT last night's meeting of the writing group of the Bookfellows in Carnegie Institute, John Gallishaw's method of studying and analyzing the short story was studied and discussed and selections read from his book, "Only Two Ways to Write a Short Story," Mrs. Katherine Riggs doing the reading.

THE Social Service Committee for the Blind will sponsor its annual boat excursion for the sightless on July 3. The committee members had a luncheon of 50 covers in the Congress of Clubs yesterday and heard talks by Mrs. Moses Ruslander, who presided; Guy E. Nickeson, head of placement work among the blind, and H. R. Latimer, of the Workshop for the Blind.

MEMBERS of the literary group of the University of Pittsburgh Women's Association will meet tomorrow afternoon in the home of Mrs. G. H. Robinson, Beaver road, Sewickley. Mrs. R. C. McKelvey will review Virginia Woolf's book, "Orlando."

RCA RADIOLA 33
"all electric" console receiver for $77.50

RCA Radiola 33
Console type of tuned-radio-frequency receiver, for house current operation (A.C.). Cabinet of striking modern design.
$77.50 (less Radiotrons)

RCA Loudspeaker 100B
With the rich, mellow tone characteristic of the popular "100" type of reproducer. Designed to match Radiola 33. $22

The RCA mark on a radio instrument is a guarantee of expert design, fine workmanship and super performance known the world over.

RCA Radiolas have never been built "down to a price." But the great demand for RCA sets has so increased production that large economies in manufacturing have been effected.

The new "all electric" 33 is far superior in performance to receivers that cost several times as much to build three or four years ago. It is a notable achievement of the associated research laboratories of RCA, General Electric and Westinghouse.

If you have denied yourself the satisfaction of owning a real RCA Radiola, you now have the opportunity of buying one of the latest design at the amazingly low price of $77.50. Such a fine radio instrument—RCA throughout—has never before been possible at such a price.

Any RCA Radiola Dealer will gladly demonstrate the new 33 for you in his store or—if you prefer—in your own home. And you may buy it on the convenient RCA Time Payment Plan.

When buying any make of radio receiver, make sure that it is equipped with RCA Radiotrons—the acknowledged standard of vacuum tubes.

EARLY SUMMER BRIDE

—and her attendants

Suggestions, briefly, of what the modern young woman selects for herself and her attendants.

Her Gown

White is beautiful—Blush, Pink or Eggshell White are ultra—the average bride selects White.

Gleaming Satin may be elaborate and costly, or a simple satin can be quite inexpensive.

White Tulle with lace is lovely. White Georgette is often embroidered with tiny beads.

Accessories

Her Veil will be of exquisite lace or tulle, usually with orange blossoms.

She usually wears pearls, sometimes a shoulder pin of diamonds.

Her slippers are plain satin or Crepe de Chine.

Bridal Lingerie is usually lace trimmed—either white or soft cream shade preferred.

Her Attendants

If she has one maid or a dozen she has a wide field for her color scheme.

At a beautiful wedding last week the bride wore lace with a real lace veil. Her maids wore Turquois Blue Chiffon jacket frocks with Brown hats and the mother chose to be costumed in the same soft shade of Brown.

Pastel Shades

An inspiring list—including the new Carne Pink, Aqua Blue and Water Green are here for the coming weddings. Beige accessories are smart with any of the pastel tints.

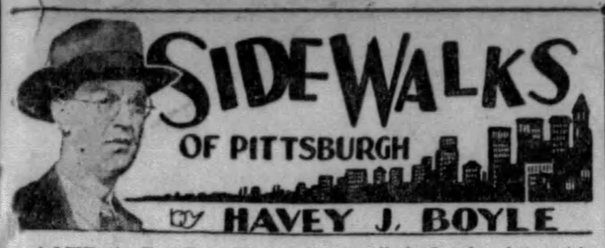
HITS 3 AUTOS, WANTED IN TWO BOROUGHS

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS

TUESDAY, MAY 14, 1929



ALFIE, the Test Tube Wrangler, naturally had a deep interest in the scene he reports he saw on the sidewalks of Pittsburgh. Two children, a boy and a girl, were walking along a street. "I judged them," writes Alfie, "to be of poor but honest parents. They trudged happily along until they came to an intersection. Here they stopped while the little girl removed from her mouth a small piece of chewing gum and handed it gravely to the little boy who then put it to use. I suspect the youngsters were taking turns with the gum, block by block. Having a minor in bacteriology I sincerely trust the gum was virgin when they got it. I do not claim the arrangement to have been wholly admirable, but commend the incident to your facile pen."

The custom is ancient, as everyone except rich children know. A professor of hygiene likely would swoon at the sight, and have a slight spell at just contemplating the affair, but I suspect there are medical practitioners who, having lived long among the working people, and who having noted their hardiness, wouldn't get much worked up at all.

No self-respecting bacteria would think of doing any harm in the face of the 50-50 arrangement as cited.

To the class in natural history is referred the inquiry as to why earthworms find the sidewalks so fascinating on rainy days. They stage a slow but imposing parade after a rain. The query has been referred to the worm department.

JAMES L. THOMAS, of the Home for Crippled Children in Dennis-ton avenue, takes the trouble to write a letter thanking Sidewalks for a compliment paid the children of that home. "I am going to try and read your column every day," writes James. Try and do it.

In the City-County Building, the stairway doors are just around the corner from the elevators. The stairway doors are marked with a red light. A stranger visiting that building the other day stood at the stairway door for 15 minutes and then complained that while the red light glowed the elevator never made a stop for him. He was led gently around to the elevators. He admitted the horse was on him.

IN THE downtown district any night you will observe a class of men who emulate the lily after a fashion. At least they neither toil nor spin. Work of a steady kind to them is just too preposterous to think about. What businesses they follow is a mystery. They dress well, (pride themselves on their appearance), are well-groomed (too slick) and have generally a metropolitan air about them. The terms, "suckers" and "saps" pass their lips frequently.

They know all the inside dope about politics, sports, everything. At least they pretend they know. To them Niagara Falls is a frame-up and the battle of Gettysburg "was in the bag." Their faith in their fellow-men is absolutely nil. They begin emerging from their beds around 4 or 5 o'clock in the evening when most other people are finishing the day's work. They are ever ready to turn a dishonest dollar, provided too much risk is not involved—some sure thing where the "sucker" hasn't a chance and where the police will not get wise. They are the big city slickers, who have turned night into day, and have topsy-turvy ideas about the world in general. Quite a few of them have blown in from small towns, where the experiences of the village sport having palled, they struck out for a larger main stem.

TWO BOYS HURT IN STREETS BY AUTOS

Julius Mamcas, 6, of 69 South Seventeenth street, is in a serious condition in the South Side Hospital suffering a probable fracture of the skull which he received when struck by a taxicab at South Seventeenth and Carson streets, driven by Thomas Love, 34, of 1342 Lincoln avenue. According to the South Side police, the boy ran into the side of the cab. Love was charged with reckless driving, and will get a hearing in Traffic Court when the boy is discharged from the hospital.

William Brodey, 8, of 228 McKean street, was treated at the same hospital for bruises on the left ear, and contusions of the left leg, which he received when struck by an automobile near his home, driven by John Reimond, 1700 Wharton street. The driver was not arrested as it was an unavoidable accident, police said.

NARROW SIDEWALK WITH SMALL AUTO PASSAGEWAYS BUILT TO SEPARATE TWO STREETS

The sidewalk built to separate Beechwood boulevard from Forbes street at the entrance to Homewood cemetery. It was erected several days ago after the two streets had converged for years. Four accidents were reported to police in two nights and there are many "scars" in the concrete. One driver, planning suit, says the "islands" are unlighted at night.

DRIVER HELD BY DORMONT OFFICERS

John Abmey, of 427 Holland avenue, Braddock, will have a lot of explaining to do before he gets through with police of two boroughs and a railroad lieutenant of police.

Sunday evening he collided with two automobiles which were stopped at West Liberty and Tennessee avenues, Dormont, while awaiting the change of the stop-and-go signal lights. The machines were driven by Arthur Bradley, of Mt. Lebanon, and John Mathias, of Dormont. He was placed under arrest by Capt. Fred Wilson on a charge of reckless driving. In default of $500 bail, he was committed to the Dormont lockup.

Yesterday he told police that he had a friend in Braddock that would furnish his bond. Capt. Wilson communicated with the Braddock police to notify his friend, when they were told to hold him on a hit-and-run charge.

Two hours before the Dormont accident, it is charged, he struck an automobile driven by Frank F. Flicks, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company lieutenant of police in Braddock. Abmey did not stop after the accident, it is said.

He will get a hearing before Burgess William S. Haddock, of Dormont, Friday, and later will be turned over to the Braddock officials.

PENAL EXPERTS TO MEET HERE

Several nationally prominent penologists and criminologists will address the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs, at the Hotel Henry, next Monday. "Treatment of the Misdemeanant" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Amos W. Butler, former secretary of the Indiana State Board of Charities. Other speakers will be Albert G. Fraser, superintendent of the department of released prisoners, Pennsylvania Prison Society; President Judge Schaeffer, of Berks County, and Cornelius D. Scully, of Pittsburgh.

Dr. A. W. Butler

Dr. Louis N. Robinson, of Swarthmore College, will preside. Dinner will be served at 6:45 p. m. Reservations may be made through Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, 729 Wabash Building. Prison-made goods from the Eastern and Western Penitentiaries will be exhibited.

AUTO WRECKED, TO SUE CITY

Louis Markowitz, of 1017 Talbot avenue, today declared he would file an information against the city to cover damages to his automobile, wrecked when it crashed into a pedestrians' walk in Beechwood boulevard east of Dallas avenue.

The accident occurred shortly after 2 a. m., when Markowitz was driving east on the boulevard. He said there were no lights on the walk or other markings which might warn motorists of the danger in the dark. Damage to his car, he said, would amount to about $100.

According to police records, this was the fourth accident at the point in two nights.

AID OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

The annual birthday social of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian Church of Braddock was held last night in the church social rooms. Wayne Dulaney, impersonator, and Doris Peoples, pianist, presented feature numbers.

The Primrose group of the society gave "Mother Goose Bazaar," a sketch. Directed by Mrs. A. W. Scullen, the cast included Mrs. H. H. Fogle, Mrs. Stanton Fogle, Mrs. James Edwards, Mrs. Frank Lehman, Mrs. H. G. Kohute, Mrs. Thomas Hale, Mrs. Anna Anderson, Mrs. John Shaffer, Mrs. Ira Dunlap, Mrs. Charles Nell and Mrs. Flora Nelson.

Several selections were given by the Sunday School Orchestra, and a bake sale was held by Mrs. Scott, Mrs. M. C. Redman, Mrs. Adolph Hoppman and Mrs. Wilson, of the Primrose group.

MEXICO'S PRESIDENT PAYS TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS

Messages commendatory of the observance of Mother's Day from President E. Portes Gil, of the Mexican Republic and other notables were read at Sunday school services, Sunday morning in the Bellevue Methodist Protestant Church.

For several years it has been the practice of Homer J. Freese, superintendent of the Sunday School, to request expressions from prominent persons to be read at Mother's Day exercises. The message by the Mexican president, sent by telegraph follows:

"Your letter relative to the service commemorative of Mother's Day. It is an obligatory act towards those who besides giving us life, without ultimate motive, know how to give us their love and encourage us with noble and healthy advice, without considering whatever sacrifice necessary. And at the time of satisfying this duty I make sincere prayer for the happiness of all mothers, sincerely wishing that their sons will always know to love, honor and respect them. Affectionately,

E. PORTES GIL."

Messages also were read from Congressman Stephen G. Porter, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, of Illinois, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, of Florida, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan.

WED 50 YEARS, CELEBRATE

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Bashline, 1222 Mutual street, Sheraden, are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary year. Four children, Mrs. H. B. Sherman, of Bergman street; Mrs. F. B. Wiley, of Prichard street; Mrs. F. A. W. Schaun, of Winebiddle avenue, and J. A.

G. C. Bashline — Mrs. Bashline

Bashline, of Glenmawr avenue; nine grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren were visitors.

They have been residents of Sheraden 30 years, going there from Clarion County. Mr. Bashline is a carpenter. He is 71 and Mrs. Bashline 72.

They were remarried by the Rev. Van Horn, of the Sheraden First Methodist Church. Mary Kane Bashline, a grandchild, was bridesmaid, and James C. Sherman, also a grandchild, was best man. Only members of the family attended.

EASTERN STARS PLAN DANCE

Allegheny Chapter No. 106, Order of Eastern Star, will hold an old-fashioned dance and card party at the North Side Masonic Temple, North avenue and Reddour street, Friday night. Mrs. Mildred Price and Mrs. Lillie M. King are general chairmen. The committees named follow:

Bridge—Miss Clara Kaiser, chairman; Mrs. Ruth Ittel, Mrs. Martha Gerber and Mrs. Laura McKinnon.

Five hundred—Mrs. Cora E. Martin, chairman; Mrs. Tillie Norton, Mrs. Anna Benny and Mrs. Clara Egerter.

Euchre—Mrs. Katie M. King, chairman; Mrs. Mary E. Angel and Mrs. Minnie D. Shaw.

Floor—All present officers.

Refreshments — Mrs. Mamie A. Thomas, chairman; Mrs. Henrietta Rowbottom, Mrs. May Hartman, Mrs. May E. Miller, Mrs. Lillian Vandergrift, Mrs. Pearl Mitchell and Mrs. Eva May Orr.

Mrs. Laura S. Long is worthy matron of the chapter and Mrs. Mildred Price associate matron.

PARENTS' BODY WILL ELECT

"A Year of European Education" will be the topic of Howard C. Kidd, commerce professor at the University of Pittsburgh, who will address the meeting tonight of the Allderdice Parent-Teacher Association in the choral room of Taylor Allderdice High School, Squirrel Hill.

Mrs. Delphine Heimert will present a program of vocal selections and will be accompanied by Harriet Werle. At the business session officers for the year will be selected, and Madeline Kann, voted Allderdice's outstanding pupil, will be awarded the association prize. O. C. Hurst, president, will be in charge of the meeting.

Haysville Class To Present Play

"A Girl's Secret," will be presented Friday night in the Haysville Presbyterian Church by members of Class No. 5 of the church. Miss Edna E. Merriman, teacher of the class, is directing the members of the cast.

CHURCHES OPEN CONVENTION

Delegates of Christian churches of the North Side and North Boroughs are among those attending the annual spring convention of the Disciples of Christ in Allegheny County, being held today in the Knoxville Christian Church, the Rev. W. H. Hanna, pastor. The morning program includes an address by Mrs. C. E. Greenbalgh, president; a sermon on "The Ministry" by the Rev. George F. Bradford, of New Kensington; an open forum on local church problems led by the Rev. Alfred Johnson, of the Squirrel Hill Christian Church. In the afternoon addresses were to be given by the Rev. H. A. Denton, missionary secretary for Western Pennsylvania; Miss Ruth McKinnis, state women's secretary, and the Rev. H. T. Holroyd, of Buenos Aires, Argentine. A banquet was scheduled for 6:30 p. m.

Play Will Follow Dinner at Church

The Woman's Guild of the Bellevue Methodist Protestant Church will serve a dinner Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the church social rooms. All women of the church are members of the guild. Following the dinner a play, "Sewing for the Heathen," will be presented by the Utopian class of the Sunday school. Included in the cast are Mrs. Spahr Hull, Mrs. Andrew Gratz, Mrs. Homer J. Freese, Mrs. William Cooper, Mrs. Herbert Pine, Mrs. Cliff Simmons, Mrs. Lawrence Lancaster, Mrs. John Watson, Mrs. J. A. Gesler and Mrs. Clarence C. Elste, chairman of the entertainment committee of the class. Others on the entertainment program are Ruth Mounsey, Virginia Crawford and Anna M. Rudolph, dramatic art students; Mrs. Carl D. Morneweck, soloist, and Mrs. Mary M. Lea, singer. The entertainment is for benefit of the mortgage fund.

Comedy Rehearsed By Avalon Class

"The Big Idea," a comedy, will be presented by the Junior class of Avalon High School Friday and Saturday nights in the school auditorium. Rehearsals have been in progress for several weeks. Included in the cast are Forrest Williams, Norman McPherson, Mary Wilson, Thelma Klein, Helen Young, Jack England, John Kress, Nelle Loux, James Hurst, Mary O'Neil, Beatrice Balsino, John Luker, Donald Vogel, John Rhodes and Robert Smith. The play is being directed by Miss Giulietta A. Plympton, instructor of English.

"Fraternity Night" Arrangements Made

Arrangements are being made by Wally Boyles of the Delta Sigma Upsilon fraternity for the "fraternity night" celebration May 23 at the Swan on the Leechburg-Frankstown road. Boyles is general chairman of the affair. Selection of the banquet, reception, dance, and program committees will be made at a meeting tonight, it was said. Representative members of the various organizations represented in the Inter-Fraternity council, and of other large East Borough clubs are to be guests at the dinner dance.

Fraternities Invited To Join in Swim

Members of the Beta Theta chapter of the Delta Sigma Upsilon fraternity are planning a swimming party for Saturday night in the Webster Hall pool, John Stanton, president, said today. Invitations have been extended to members of the Delta Sigma fraternity, Carlton club, Sigma Pi, and the Phi Kappa Delta, who will be permitted to bring their friends.

Carrick to Hold Baby Day Fete Wednesday

Carrick will observe Baby Day tomorrow. The celebration will be given under the auspices of the Carrick Mothers' Club in the clubhouse, 315 Spokane avenue.

Doctors and nurses will be present to weigh and examine the babies. The age limit for entrants has been set at three years.

The program will be in charge of the civic committee with Mrs. John F. Semmelrock, as chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. W. H. McCombs, Mrs. W. F. Provost, Mrs. Thomas Lynch, Mrs. H. L. Faragut, Mrs. W. C. Beyer and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cella.

It had been erroneously reported that the show was to be held Thursday.

WRIT DEMANDS EXPLANATION

The supervisors of Richland Township were ordered to maintain certain township roads or show cause why they should not be maintained in an alternative writ of mandamus granted by Judge Thomas J. Ford in Common Pleas Court, on petition of I. R. Datt and H. J. Crummy, taxpayers. A hearing was fixed for May 29.

Roads in the Snively and Magee plans of lots, excepting the Bakerstown road, have been neglected and are impassable, and the supervisors, H. C. Hardt, Mark Campbell and George Fonner, have refused to maintain Allegheny avenue, opened 15 years ago, and other thoroughfares, the petitioners alleged.

HIT BY TRUCK, DRIVER HELD

James Clark, 22, of 611 Mill street, received bruises on the left knee, contusions of the scalp and left hip, when struck by a truck while in the act of boarding a Carrick street car on South Eighteenth street extension and Morgan street, yesterday. He was treated at South Side Hospital, and later taken to his home.

Walter Watson, Negro, of 2450 Wadsworth street, driver of the truck, was charged with reckless driving.

Crash Kills Wife, Sues for $25,000

Adam F. Ferguson, of McKeesport, filed suit against John R. McPherson, of Duquesne Heights, in Common Pleas court, asking damages of $20,000 for the death of his wife, Mary E. Ferguson, and serious injury to himself in an automobile collision on the Monongahela pike near Monongahela City May 27 last.

Ladies' Auxiliary Plans Poppy Sale

The Ladies' Auxiliary unit of the Homewood-Brushton Post of the American Legion, at their meeting in the Homewood Carnegie Library, made plans for the selling of poppies for Memorial Day in the district. Mrs. H. L. Faas, president of the unit, urged the members to set aside Memorial Day and the preceding Sunday so that they may take part in the memorial services.

Editor of "America" Will Lecture Here

The Rev. Wilfrid Parsons, editor of "America," will lecture Sunday night in the Sheridan Square Theater under the auspices of Trinity College Alumnae. Father Parsons is a member of the Jesuit Order and a well-known journalist.

PLAN MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

Memorial Day plans have been partly completed by committees of the two remaining G. A. R. posts on the North Side, Nos. 88 and 162, in conjunction with representatives of American Legion, Sons of Veterans of Foreign Wars and other military organizations.

The annual parade, May 30, will form at Federal and Stockton avenues. Part of the parade will go to Uniondale Cemetery and the rest to Troy Hill. The Rev. M. F. Bierbaum, pastor of the Pilgrim Evangelical Church, will speak at the Troy Hill exercises.

Eight Metro Charter Meetings Scheduled

Eight meetings at which the merits of the Matropolitan Charter will be explained were scheduled for today by the Metropolitan Charter Commission. The paint and varnish council want to hold a charter meeting in the Chamber of Commerce at 12:15, and the Twenty-sixth Ward League of Women Voters at 2:30 in the American Legion rooms, 2610 Perrysville avenue.

A list of the evening meetings includes Tarentum League of Women Voters, Y. M. C. A., Tarentum; Bellevue Board of Trade, Bellevue Borough Hall; Twenty-seventh Ward League of Women Voters, John Morrow School; Twenty-seventh Ward Board of Trade, Woods Run Carnegie Library; Ingram Board of Trade, Firemen's Association Hall, Tunnel street; North Side Board of Trade, American Legion rooms, 1416 Fulton street, North Side.

Edgar J. Kaufmann Phones From Vienna

Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of Kaufmann's store, now touring Europe to study stores for ideas which he will embody in the $3,000,000 expansion of the Pittsburgh store, yesterday talked to Pittsburgh by telephone from Vienna, Austria. He discussed his trip with Oliver M. Kaufmann, vice president and treasurer of the store, and Irwin D. Wolfe. In Vienna he is opening a studio for his son, who will remain there two years to complete his studies.

Motor Club Orders Road Scout on Duty

Broken glass on streets and highways will be swept out of the paths of automobiles and dirty and illegible direction or warning road signs will be washed off or reported to the proper authorities henceforth by the road emergency department of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, according to an announcement by C. H. Roth, secretary. "The club has put on a full-time road scout and furnished him with a car," Roth said.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS REPORT

The Dormont Rotary Club held its regular weekly luncheon meeting in the Dormont Masonic Hall, West Liberty avenue, yesterday.

The meeting was in charge of President "Cap" C. F. Lauer, who made his report of the Rotary district conference which was held in Greensburg last month.

Harry Love and Barton Spear, of the Wilkinsburg Rotary Club, were the luncheon guests.

Missionary Society Meets Tomorrow

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Christian Church, Montgomery avenue and Arch street, North Side, will meet in monthly session in the church rooms at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

AUTO HITS CAR, ASK $65,000

The Pittsburgh Railways Company and Clem Pocius were joined as defendants in each of two suits filed yesterday in Common Pleas Court, in which an aggregate of $65,000 was asked for personal injuries. Anna Tawtrid, 17, through her parents, asked $40,000, and William Pocius asked $25,000, alleging they were passengers in the automobile of Clem Pocius July 16 last and suffered serious injuries in a collision with a street car at Butler and Thirty-ninth streets. Clem Pocius, driving the car, tried to "beat" the street car to the crossing, and the speedy and reckless operation of the automobile and the street car caused the collision, it was charged.

NEARNESS OF VACATION SPEEDS FREE RADIO DRIVE

Schools throughout Allegheny and surrounding counties are rushing their campaigns to obtain free radios under the Sun-Telegraph Stanley-Warner Theaters' plan.

Summer vacation is fast drawing near in many of the country school districts. Fully realizing this, and desirous of having their radio set installed and operating before summer comes, pupils in these institutions may be seen in many places helping their schools forge on toward their quota of 125 new 13-week subscriptions.

The 8-tube, $138.50 Atwater Kent radio with Electro-dynamic loud speaker self-contained in the set has won the hearts of thousands of these children.

The Sun-Telegraph and Stanley-Warner Brothers' Theaters have offered this outfit to the school or schoolroom which obtains 125 new 13-week subscriptions to the Sun-Telegraph.

Order blanks may be obtained from any Stanley theater, from the Sun-Telegraph, and in the delivery packages of United Laundries, Haller Baking Company, or Donahoe's.

Shannopin Women Open Golf Season

The women's golf season at Shannopin Country Club was scheduled to open today, two weeks ahead of the usual time. The women's golf committee includes, Mrs. Samuel Carothers, chairman; Mrs. W. S. Boggs, Mrs. J. Smith Christy, Mrs. Kenneth Holmes, Mrs. R. D. Jenkinson, Miss Hulda Kenley, Mrs. R. W Lindsay, Mrs. Homer Neely, Mrs. Roy Rose, Mrs. E. B. Thomas, Mrs. W. B. Thomas and Mrs. Carl Van der Vort.

Dot Rogers Says

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.

Flew down to Washington and back. Had dinner with Mrs. Longworth, and sat by Mrs. Gann in the Senate gallery and had a fine chat. So got everything fixed up between Alice and Dolly.

Alice is to have preferential seating relief on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and Dolly on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Sundays is neutral.

Senate was arguing over the die-benture. The die-benture is a bill that was born out of wedlock in the Senate, and will die in this House, where it should have been ligitimately born.

Yours, WILL.

P. S.—Hired help all look fine and I never heard 'em arguing better. Fess and Brookhart was to mix, but Hoover fed 'em, so when they got full, they forgot it. That's what's the matter with the Senate, they're just hungry.

Weather Conditions.

The Texas low developed northward over the plains states. It is now centered over Northern Illinois, and appears to be merging with the center that opened in the far Northwest yesterday morning. This center is now over the Dakotas, lowest barometer, 29.84 inches at Bismarck, and covers the entire Rocky Mountain section. The Texas disturbance produced showers and thunderstorms over all the Mississippi and Ohio Valley states, and the Lake Region, and rain is still falling in the Ohio Valley states and the Lake Region.

The high pressure area that appeared over Eastern Ontario is now centered over the north Atlantic Coast. The temperature changes were slight, but generally towards rising.

River Conditions.

There was a slight rise in the rivers due to light to moderately heavy rains. Stage at Franklin is 4.3 feet; Lock No. 7, 12.3; Pittsburgh, 13.7; Dam No. 2, 8.6; Dam No. 4, 11.7; Dam No. 6, 10.6; and Dam No. 12, 7.4. Dams Nos. 3 and 4 are up. The remaining dams in the district are down.

FORNEY REWARD STILL PUZZLE

The $5,000 reward which the County of Allegheny is or isn't going to pay for the capture and conviction of Alfred W. Forney, so-called missing slot-machine racketeer, was the subject of still more discussion by the commissioners today.

County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich explained that the reward could not be paid without the court's approval, so he was granted permission to petition President Judge John A. Evans, of Common Pleas Court.

VERTICAL LANDING MARKS FIRST AUTOGYRO U. S. HOP

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP.)—Harold F. Pitcairn, president of Pitcairn Aviation, landed at Bolling Field here yesterday after flying from Philadelphia in the autogyro he recently imported from England. He took off later for Langley Field, Virginia.

It was the first long trip the autogyro has made since being brought to this country. As the machine with its four-bladed horizontal propellor descended almost vertically to the field, it was surrounded by a curious throng, including Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army air corps.

Pitcairn gave an exhibition of the flying qualities of the plane and said that he expects soon to construct others that will be an improvement on the present one which was used as an experimental ship.

The present model has no method of starting the "windmill" or horizontal propellor that is attached to the top of the machine, other than by taxiing around the field until it has been started by air pressure. In the new model, Pitcairn said, the windmill will be started automatically.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 14.—(AP.)—Harold F. Pitcairn brought his autogyro type airplane to earth at Langley Field late yesterday.

U. S. Cabman Found Murdered in Mexico

DOUGLAS, Ari., May 14.—(AP.)—The body of Don Chambers, Douglas taxicab driver, was found yesterday in a shallow grave in Agua Prieta, Sonora, across the international line from here. Chambers had been missing since last Wednesday when he responded to a telephone call for a cab. Eight knife wounds were found in his back. The body had been placed in a trench recently occupied by Mexican rebel machine gunners.

Henry Bulwick, an American mining engineer of Cumpas, Sonora, told authorities he saw a car similar to Chambers' in Cumpas last Thursday. The machine was filled with well-dressed Mexicans, Bulwick said.

Priest Defends Woman From Knife Wielder

CHICAGO, May 14.—(AP.)—The Rev. N. Broccolo, assistant pastor of St. Dominic's Roman Catholic Church, fought barehanded last night in defense of a Negro woman against a Negro who was armed with a knife.

He came upon the Negro struggling with the woman in front of the church. In the rough and tumble fight that followed the Negro, getting the worst of it, pulled a long knife. The priest continued to punish him with blows until police arrived, and went to the police station to sign a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon.

MAN FIXING BRAKES FALLS TO DEATH UNDER TRAILER

Attempting to adjust the brakes of a moving truck trailer, Leo Bridge, 40, of 507 Chestnut street, Latrobe, fell to the ground and was crushed to death by the wheels at Brownsville avenue and Carson street last night.

The truck, driven by Clarence Weinsbergh, 29, of 1336 Columbus avenue, was descending Brownsville avenue, when, according to the coroner's report, the brakes began to falter.

Bridge, an engineer for the Wilkinsburg Construction Company, climbed to the back and was adjusting the brakes when he slipped. Weinsbergh was arrested by police and posted bond at the coroner's office.

FELL ASLEEP AT HIS POST

Watchman Was Sick But Thought He Just Had "Spring Fever."

NEWSPAPER TOLD ONLY PART OF THE STORY, FOR THE MAN WAS NOT ALTOGETHER TO BLAME.

When the newspapers told you how the watchman at a railroad crossing fell asleep and let a bus of people be smashed by a train, they told only half the story. The rest of it goes back to a long winter of huddling over the fire, with heavy foods and bad colds, until the man wasn't fit for a place requiring close attention. Mr. R. H. Peters, of Brackenridge, Pa., had severe headaches that oftentimes blinded him. He says: "I had to take a physic every night in order to get my bowels to move. I had to be careful what I ate as I had an ulcerated stomach and no matter what I ate my stomach would swell up with gas shortly after I finished eating."

You have felt just this way yourself in the first warm days of spring, when it seemed you just must sleep—that you couldn't keep awake. You were full of the accumulated poisons of winter confinement and winter colds and until you threw them off you had "spring fever."

Winter colds and confinement fill your system with catarrh. Its poisonous products permeate your body and dull your mind. You may suffer greatly from your stomach, or you may just be dull, heavy and sleepy. When Nature warns you this way, heed her. Start a course of treatment with World's Tonic. Help the body throw out the wastes, clear up your catarrh, and purify your blood before it is too late. World's Tonic is one of the most popular remedies for catarrh and its consequences. A bottle or two of it in the spring will help you. World's Tonic is for sale at all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch), and all other first class drug stores. (A-49)

Don Delivers the Mysterious Package and Discovers New Romance

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting, young literary aspirant, sees George Phillips, a neighbor, embracing Eve Carson, his marriage to whom has been kept secret. When he faces the couple Eve tells him he is intruding. Phillips refuses to leave and he battles with Don Carlos. In the struggle Phillips is knocked unconscious, after which Don Carlos leaves, believing his rival dead. He wanders all night and on the San Francisco docks meets Dick Randolph, an old friend, who is purser on an Orient-bound ship. He asks Don Carlos to take a berth as far as Hawaii. They learn that Phillips is not dead. Don Carlos goes to Hawaii. On the island he is accosted by a native, David Nahuli, who asks him to carry a black bag a few blocks, for which he is to receive $2,000.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.

RIVER STREET, it seemed to Don Carlos afterward, was the crookedest street in the world. The very buildings themselves were etched against the blinding white light of the tropics in crazy relief. What a delightful etching an artist could make of it!

It reminded him of some of the strange smelling alleys of San Francisco's Chinatown.

But even in the smelliness of it, and the crookedness of the paths and buildings, there was a subtle air of mystery all about it. It seeped into his veins; it brushed his nostrils as they quivered with the excitement of the moment. Quiet, peaceful Saussalito with its flowered hillsides lay behind him. Here was a whiff of the Orient—sending out its challenge to him.

No. 10 River street was a dilapidated brick building, the front of which was flanked by a dark doorway.

Don Carlos stumbled into the doorway and pressed the ancient bell which adorned the wooden door.

One thin, bony hand drew aside a dingy curtain. A hideous mask of a face intruded upon his vision. Gray, shriveled skin, like parchment, covered the mask. Eyes like embers smoldering with a face already dead.

Don Carlos shivered.

Perhaps, after all, he had been caught unawares in some trap.

And yet—the lure of the unknown! Beckoning him! The door opened to his knock. "David Nahuli sends greeting to Ah Fong," he said. The Chinaman, whose face he had glimpsed, slid into the shadows, beckoning him to come with one long emaciated forefinger.

They climbed a flight of dilapidated stairs; entered a dungeon of a room, bare save for a wooden table and two broken chairs. The wall was paneled.

The Chinaman stood before one of the panels; seemed to be fumbling with it.

Suddenly the side of the wall opened and Don Carlos was confronted with a dazzling light. So bright that it rivaled the sunshine of the warm tropical day outside. So penetrating that he started back, as though he had been struck between the eyes.

A deep, resonant voice seemed to be coming through the intensity of the light.

"Most exalted one, what is your errand?"

Don Carlos tried to penetrate the brightness of the white light; and was struck blind, as one who has come out of a dark dungeon and gazes into the whiteness of the sun.

He found his voice, even while his pulse raced and pounded.

"David Nahuli sends greetings to Ah Fong, and asks that I deliver this little black satchel into his hands only. He said to tell Ah Fong that it contained important papers."

Again the resonant voice booming through the vividness of the white light.

"Most Exalted One, you have performed your duty well. For the services which you have this day rendered, I would that you accept this trifling memento of our deep gratitude."

Through the brightness of the white light an envelope was being extended to Don Carlos.

He grasped it. Here at least was tangible evidence that he was not dreaming; that the vision was real.

The voice was speaking once again.

"That is all, Don Carlos Whiting. When we have need of you again, we shall know where to find you."

Don Carlos started.

"You — you know my name?"

"To the wise all things are known."

"Who are you? I must know."

The naivete of the Occidental battling at the ramparts of the most stoical of all races—the Oriental.

"Your fee covered the gift of silence, Most Exalted One. Lee Chin will escort you to the door."

In the shadows Don Carlos could hear the soft shuffle of feet coming towards him. Strange—the whole performance. But these Orientals took themselves so seriously.

The panel slid into place and once again he found himself in the barren room which he had first entered. He followed Lee Chin down the narrow stairway.

Don Carlos stopped suddenly.

The presence came nearer to him, breathed into his face.

A subtle fragrance came to his nostrils.

Impossible!

He reached forth his finger to touch the apparition.

"Oh!"

It was merely a breath of sound, but it struck him forcibly. He held his position, fearful of taking another step.

"So—they have caught you in their net."

He had been fumbling in his pocket. His hand struck his cigaret lighter.

Quick as a flash he lit it. In the sudden glare which sprang from it, he saw before him a tall woman. But the thing which held the gaze of Don Carlos almost unconsciously was the vibrant quality that shone from her luminous black eyes—great pools of dark light, framed in a mass of dark hair above a face of ivory pallor.

"Who are you?" he asked breathlessly.

High on a hillside, overlooking the Golden Gate, he had thought that romance was dead forever! Because his vision had been dimmed by the limitations of one woman!

The voice of Lee Chin chanting:

"It is best that the Most Exalted One leave at once."

Don Carlos found himself out in the bright sunlight of the tropical afternoon.

Had he remained there in the weird house on River street a few moments longer, he would have seen a tableau fraught with great interest to himself.

He would have seen a sliding panel on the doorway open, and the bronzed figure of David Nahuli emerge.

He had followed his prey afterwards to see that he did not escape him. As long as the satchel was not found on him—David Nahuli—he was safe.

He grasped the arm of Eugenie there as she stood in the black shadows on the stairway.

"The tall American is very good-looking, yes—my dear?"

An insolent sneer in his question.

"Let go of my arm. I warn you, David Nahuli, if you attempt to break his young life I shall—"

"You shall do what, my dear? Tell me! I am waiting."

The softness of his voice only helped to accentuate the hopelessness of her position. She knew full well the danger which lurked behind his mellow tones! God! What a farce! A voice of mellow music—and it belonged to David Nahuli!

"Your father—he is well this fair morn, my dear?"

She gave a violent start.

"Leave my father out of it this time. Have we not suffered enough? Why must you add another victim to your list? He has not harmed you. He is young and all his life is before him. Where did he come from?"

"So—the tall American has captured your interest, my wife. The wind blows in that direction. I see. He is very attractive."

A long, silent, hissing sound escaped with his last words.

The woman on the stairs shuddered.

"Oh! Let me go."

She sought to jerk her arm away from him, as he sunk his long fingers into her soft flesh.

"I trust that I shall not have to remind you of the fact that you are my wife."

The slamming of the door was his only response as the woman in white stepped into the clean air outside.

PETTING PATTY — Young Love

MIXED MAKE-UP

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

Daily Short Story

GENEVIEVE DUNCAN had stopped beside Dottie Parker's desk and was talking to her like a Dutch uncle. That is, according to Genevieve's idea of a Dutch uncle.

"Trouble with you, Dottie, is that you expect the boys to discover you all by their own selves. You don't do a thing to attract 'em."

Dottie let her slim fingers rest for a moment on the keys of her typewriter and looked wistfully up into the face of her fellow typist. "But I don't think—" she began.

"My dear," broke in Genevieve, "you ought to think and think hard. You ought to think like this, 'Here I am, by no means a bad looker, but if I am going to have the good times other girls have, I've got to compete with 'em. I've got to dress sporty like and not shy from a lipstick like it was a bomb of dynamite. I've got to think up a hotter line than how bum the dance floor is and is it going to rain tomorrow.' Get me, Dot?"

Dottie drew a long sigh that seemed to come from the very soles of her low-heeled, school girl shoes. "I'm probably meant to be an old maid!" she said resignedly.

"Bunk!" exclaimed Genevieve, and returning to her own desk promptly forgot prim little Dorothy, who had recently dropped into the office from some up-state business college.

Two nights later, however, she suddenly recalled her when a favorite cousin dropped in on his way back to the West just as Genevieve and her almost-fiance Bob Fremont were about to start out for an evening of fun.

Now Genevieve, nursing a hunch that Bob could be brought to an actual proposal given a suitable opportunity, did not cotton to the idea of a third person acting as fifth wheel to the coach if so old-fashioned a figure is permissible.

Yet not for worlds would she hurt old Jim by hinting that his presence would not be welcome. She simply must get hold of another girl and turn the twosome into a foursome.

Jim, at first, shied at the idea. "Your city girls scare me," he said frankly. "Remember I'm honestly from the wild and woolly. Sometimes I don't see a female for days at a time and when I do, like as not, she's a rancher's wife or daughter in a gingham dress carrying mash out to the hawgs."

It was at that instant Genevieve remembered Dottie and mentally patted herself on the back for the clever recollection.

Talk about killing two birds with one stone! She was going to slay three. She was going to see to it that she and Bob were free to be together, that Jim was provided with the sort of girl he could get along with, and that Dottie, poor kid, had one good time.

She called her on the telephone. "If you can be ready in 20 minutes—"

Prepared for objections, she was surprised when Dot assured her that she could. Well, very likely, the child only had the one blue serge dress she wore to the office.

"You'll like her," Genevieve promised Jim. "Innocent as a violet and as simple as your mother's grandmother."

Bob had his car outside and, in something less than 20 minutes they had reached the quiet boarding house where Dot had a fourth floor back bedroom.

She appeared so promptly that one had the feeling she had been waiting just inside the door. In the darkness it was impossible for Jim to get much of an idea of the girl who was to be his companion for the evening and Genevieve made the introductions casually.

"Dot, this is my cousin Jim from Wyo, where men are men. Jim, this is Dot, of Durhamville, where pigs is pigs and cows is cows."

Arrived at the theater, Genevieve and Bob and Jim got their first good look at Dot as she slipped off her plain little coat and removed her small felt hat, Genevieve drew in her breath quickly.

For Dot was clad in the briefest of orange velvet frocks. Her hair was slicked to her head as smoothly as a boy's. Her lovely blue eyes looked out oddly from beneath heavily blacked brows and lashes. Dabs of artificial bloom topped her own natural good color. Her lips had completely changed their normal appearance under a lipstick literally rather than artfully applied.

Genevieve saw Jim's expression change from one of astonishment to one of reproach and recalled her description of Dot.

"Simple as your mother's grandmother."

The evening passed. Oh, yes, indeed. Any evening will do that if given time enough. But it was more of a nightmare to Genevieve than an occasion of joy.

To begin with, every time Dot let fall some burning phrase or cynical wise crack, Jim threw a look over her head to Genevieve which said unmistakably, "What right had you to slander our mutual great-grandmother?"

Furthermore, Bob seemed to have taken it upon himself to help out in laughing at and with Dotty.

At the close of the play, Genevieve herself proposed that, instead of winding up at a noisy restaurant, they go for a drive up along the river that Jim might see the lights on the Jersey shore. At least, she would have Bob to herself on the front seat and Jim, in the rear, would have to look out for Dotty without Bob's help.

"Well, if we are going to do that," declared Dotty, suddenly and unexpectedly, "I'd like first to slip home—and wash my face!"

They were standing on the curb beside Bob's car and all three turned to stare at her in amazement.

"I could have stood it a while longer," explained Dotty frankly, "if we'd been going to do a night club or something. But on a drive along the Hudson, on a night like this, oh, I'd rather just be myself. You see, I was taking your advice, Genevieve, when you called. Fixing myself up in this gown I borrowed from an actress who rooms next to me. But I'm tired of it now."

Later, on the front seat, Genevieve made a confidential remark to Bob. "Dot isn't so dumb. After all, you have to choose your bait according to your fish. If Dot's careful, it wouldn't surprise me if some day she was Mrs. Jim of Pine Gulch, Wyo!"

And, sure enough, she was!

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Do give it a trial, to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.

TOTAL OF 1,078 WALKS IN 170 GAMES

CAN you recall a spring in which the pitchers of the major baseball leagues handed out more than a thousand bases on balls before 170 games had been played, or before the passing of a full month of the campaign? Well, that's what they've done this year. The combination of wild hurling and poor umpiring, the latter due to the new orders that prevented the arbiters from training with the big league clubs in the South, has continued to such an extent that the 1,000 mark in walks has been passed. And the season is only four weeks old today and the total number of games played in the two loops, counting three ties had reached only 170 up to today.

Bucky Harris

More walks have been given, and more runs have been forced in by the issuing of passes with the bases full, than ever before in a similar period within the memory of veteran fandom. Bucky Harris' Detroit pitchers alone have walked 109 batters and hold the questionable distinction of being the wildest in the big show. The Tigers, it is true, have played more games than any other club, but even at that the huge number of passes charged to their chuckers for a period of only four weeks comes pretty close to being a record.

IN ALL, 1,078 bases on balls have been given in the two big circuits, up to today, which is an average of about 6 1-3 to a game. American League moundsmen have passed 544 men, and National League slab workers have walked 534. Detroit chuckers have given the greatest number of complimentary tickets to first base, and the New York National League club's flingers have made the best record, giving only 43.

The walks charged against the pitchers of the various club in the majors follow: National League—New York 43, St. Louis 49, Cincinnati 61, Philadelphia 70, Chicago 71, Pittsburgh 78, Boston 81, Brooklyn 81. American League—Philadelphia 48, Boston 57, Washington 59, Cleveland 66, St. Louis 67, Chicago 69, New York 69, Detroit 109.

JACK HENDRICKS, pilot of the Cincinnati club, is doing a lot of popping-off this spring for the manager of a club that has spent considerable time in last places and that has not been as high as the .500 mark since the second day of the season.

Having told how inferior all of the other clubs are to the Reds, Hendricks is now turning his attention to individual players and trying to show that men on other clubs in the National League do not compare with the members of his own team.

Jack Hendricks

THE latest to be singled out as the victim of an anvil solo by the Cincinnati chief is Rogers Hornsby, "Everybody knows how close Hornsby and I have always been," chirps Hendricks. "Nothing between us but bonds. If he's a second baseman I'm the late Czar of Russia. All right. He can hit. I'll grant that. But he's ordinary on ground balls and terrible on infield flies. He can't field with Frisch or Critz or half a dozen other second sackers I could name. Ford and Critz are the world's best around second base. Our infield is the best in the league, take it or leave it. We could do with a little more punch, but we've got a great defensive team. I tell you we're good, and we're going to prove it."

SINCE Ralph Ficucello, of New York, won the amateur heavyweight boxing championship of the United States a few days ago by defeating Charles Hanson for the throne formerly occupied by Buddy Howard, there has been much discussion among the older followers of amateur boxing as to who was the best National heavyweight champion of all time in A. A. U. competition.

The consensus of opinion is that the honor belongs to Billy Rodenbach, of New York, and it is a choice that gets the solid vote of veteran Pittsburghers, for it was in this city in 1901, on the site of the present Grand Theater, at the second and final National championship tournament ever awarded to Pittsburgh, that Rodenbach first won his title.

IN winning his first championship here by flattening all opponents, Rodenbach showed ability and punching power that left no room for doubt he was the class of the country's amateur heavies. Blood poisoning forced Rodenbach to forfeit to Emery Payne, of Cleveland, in 1902, and a broken hand, made him forfeit to the same man again in 1903.

Val Picinich

In 1904, however, he came back and won the crown a second time. But for an injury to his right arm Rodenbach might have been able to make a strong bid for the professional title in later years.

BROOKLYN baseball fans are having a hard time handling the name of their new catcher, Val Picinich. They're calling him "Pickinick," "Pickinitch," and giving hs name a lot of other twists. That has been the case everywhere Picinich has played, as his name is one of the hardest in baseball to pronounce. The first "c" has the sound of "s," the "i" has the sound of "k," and the whole name is pronounced as if spelled "Pih-sin-ick," with the accent on the second syllable.

OTHER names in the majors of which some fans do not readily get the hang are Shaute, of the Indians, which is pronounced "Shay-oot," accent on the second syllable; "Yde," of the Tigers, a former Pirate, pronounced "Ee-dee," accent on the first syllable; Durocher, of the Yankees, pronounced "Du-roash-er," accent on the second syllable; Bluege, of the Senators, pronounced "Bloo-gee," accent on the first syllable; Koenig, of the Yankees, pronounced "Keh-nig," accent on the first syllable, and Cissell, of the White Sox, pronounced "Sis-sell," accent on the second syllable.

Roettger, of the Cards, pronounced "Rote-ger," accent on the first syllable; Critz, of the Reds, pronounced "Crytze," not "Critts;" O'Doul, of the Phillies, pronounced "O'Dool," not "O'Dowl;" Susce, of the Phillies, pronounced "So-say," accent on the second syllable; Prudhomme, of the Tigers, pronounced "Prude-ahm," accent on the first syllable; Bissonette, of the Robins, pronounced "Bissun-net," accent on the second syllable, and "Todt," of the Red Sox, pronounced "Tote."

TWO complete games and two victories in his first two big league starts, both contests pitched away from home, is a pretty encouraging beginning by young Larry French in the big show. He was rather wild for a time yesterday, but in the main duplicated the satisfying performance he gave on the occasion of his first start and he probably would have been even more effective if the batting spree

U. S. STARS READY FOR CUP PLAY

YOUNGSTERS SUPPLANT VETERANS

One of the youngest American Davis Cup teams in history will embark on the international play Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when John Hennessey, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn line up against the Canadians at Montreal in the first round of the American Zone play. They average 25 years of age, with Hennessey, the oldest, being 28. Allison is 24 and Van Ryn, 23. A fourth member of the squad, George Lott, Jr., will not be available for the Canadian matches, being confined by his studies at the University of Chicago. Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter will be eligible for the European Zone matches later, provided the youngsters survive to that stage. Back in 1920, Tilden, then 25, and little Bill Johnston, 24, began the assault that won the trophy for the United States from Australia. Since then, experience has ruled the American team until the present new deal caused by the slipping of the veterans.

YANKEE GIRLS ADVANCE AT ST. ANDREWS

By F. A. WRAY.
International News Service.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 14.—American women golfers swept through to an impressive victory today in the second round of the British women's open championship by winning all three matches in which they were entered.

Miss Glenna Collett, American national champion, marked up the first win for the Americans by defeating Miss M. Bryant, of Ashford, 3 up and 2 to play.

Miss Marion Hollins, of Glen Head N. Y., defeated Miss P. Ramsay, 4 up and 3 to play.

Miss Gertrude Boothby, of Rochester, Minn., who advanced to the second round of play yesterday when her opponent defaulted, earned her right to play in the third round tomorrow by defeating Mrs. J. A. D. Bell, British player, by the wide margin of 6 up and 5 to play.

GLENNA OFF GAME

Notwithstanding that she won her match, the American champion's showing today was most disappointing to the large gallery which followed her play. It was generally felt that Miss Collett should not have permitted a girl like Miss Bryant, who has a six handicap, to put up such a fight.

The leading British women also won their matches handily, contradicting any impression that might be gained from these first two elimination rounds that the championship is going to be a walk-away for the American players.

Miss Enid Wilson, one of the two players upon which British hopes to win the championship are pinned, defeated Miss Peggy Gardiner, another British girl, 5 and 4.

JOYCE WETHERED WINS

Miss Joyce Wethered, conceded as the "Glenna Collett of England," beat her elderly opponent, Mrs. Madill, of the Hermitage Club of Dublin, by the wide margin of 8 up and 7 to play. Miss Wethered played in a light-hearted manner against her elderly opponent. She scored 39 going out, but her putting was not so impressive as yesterday and she was pushing her irons slightly. Her driving, however, was long and accurate.

ENID WILSON VICTOR

Miss Enid Wilson, the English girl who played brilliantly in winning her match yesterday, eliminated Peggy Gardiner, 5 and 4. In other matches involving British players, Miss Judith Fowler beat Miss Dorothy Pim, 4 and 2; Mrs. Temple Dobell defeated Miss C. K. Uhtoff, 4 and 2, and Mrs. Guedelle eliminated Miss Jean Rice.

Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, of Toronto, defeated Miss A. M. Hyde, of Sandy Lodge, 1 up, in another second-round match. Miss S. F. Dampney, who eliminated Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, yesterday, was herself beaten today, 4 and 3, by the Irish player, Dr. Marion Alexander. In the last match today, Molly Gourlay, of England, eliminated

PITT-TECH DUAL MEET ON TODAY

By JESS CARVER.

A six-year-old track record, Jerry Allen's mark of 1:38 2-5 for the half-mile, set back in 1923, will be assaulted today by Pete Bowen, University of Pittsburgh flyer. Pete, who, up until today, has confined his running to the 100, 220 and 440-yard events, will try to lower Allen's record for the half-mile in the dual meet in the Stadium with Carnegie Tech. Allen, also a Pitt man, ranked with Frank Shea, present Panther coach, were two of the fastest humans who ever trod a tri-state district cinder path. Both attained national recognition, Shea as a quarter-miler, and Allen as a middle-distance runner.

Red Kennedy.

Bowen will compete in but two events today. He'll warm up in the 100-yard dash and then step out in the 880. He has never run a half in competition before, but tried a 600-meter amble indoors in New York during the past winter.

MAY SWEEP FIRSTS

Pitt is favored to wallop the Tartans this afternoon, with the possibility of sweeping all of the 15 first places. With Bowen out of the 220 and the 440, Jim McCullough, Everette Utterback, and Wherry will be depended upon for firsts in those events. George (Red) Kennedy, Tech's sprint star, and George Nease, sophomore runner, will be Tech's hopes in the two shorter races. Nease will also run in the quarter-mile.

Crawford, Carnegie's veteran middle distance runner, will furnish Bowen with his chief opposition in the half-mile. His running should give Bowen the necessary opposition to force "Ouah Peteh" to a new mark.

TWO NET MATCHES

One Tri-State Conference and one Big Four tennis match and a baseball game between the California Teachers and the Slippery Rockers at Slippery Rock complete the day's college program. Bethany's almost victoryless racqueteers invade Beaver Falls for a match with Geneva and Pitt and Wash-Jeff tangle at Washington. Shady Side plays Peabody at home.

High school athletes usurped the spotlight over the week-end, with Pete Bowen grabbing off his usual portion. There were few outstanding college marks turned in, aside from Bowen's performances in the stadium and Snellenback's :09 7-10 hundred at Bethany. Joe Pesci did a lot more running than most of us would care to in one afternoon when he won the 880, mile and two-mile against the Bisons.

COMBS 28 TODAY

CLEVELAND, May 14.—(AP.)—Earl B. Combs, star outfielder for the New York Yankees, was 28 years old today. Combs, one of the greatest lead-off men in baseball, was born at Pebworth, Ky., in 1901.

Maryland Comish Bans Christner And Walsh

BALTIMORE, May 14.—(AP.)—K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, and Billy Walsh, boxer, were indefinitely suspended yesterday by the Maryland Athletic Commission as the outgrowth of a one-round alleged "fixed" fight at Cumberland, Md., several weeks ago. Referee Charley Short and Vic Ricker, promoter of the bout, were reprimanded by the commission.

CLUBS TO END SHORT SERIES TOMORROW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The second battle of the series between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Brooklyn Robins scheduled here this afternoon was called off on account of rain.

The postponed game will be played off as part of a doubleheader here on Saturday, August 10, when the Pirates will be making their second invasion of the East.

Burleigh Grimes, veteran Pirate spit-ball ace, was all set to face the Robins on the mound this afternoon and likely will get the assignment in the closing contest tomorrow. Dazzy Vance is expected to work for the Robins.

Grimes has won four games without the loss of a decision to date and he is eager to make it five in a row at the expense of the Robins.

BUCS' PLAY IMPROVED

With George Grantham on second and Adam Comorosky in left, the Pirates bear resemblance to a real ball club. The latest switch was made as the result of Dick Bartell's injury, and while the team may not continue to show anything like the punch it had on display against the Robins yesterday, the new battle-front appears to have quite a punch.

Comorosky made the change look fine by reaching the Brooklyn pitchers for three smashing drives, one of which netted the Polish flyer three bases. Commy's wallop, the longest of the game, just missed bounding into the faraway bleachers for a four-sacker.

Grantham hopped around the keystone sack like a real performer. George's speed has ever made him look good on the infield. His trouble coming for the most part on easy chances. Boots has a habit of turning in dizzy assists of a sort that would be hard to duplicate even by a Critz or a Frisch.

Larry French was a rather nervous, yet effective lefthander as he drove a wedge through the Robins' attack yesterday. The Pirates pounded out no less than 18 safeties behind the Coast League star, the resultant Pittsburgh triumph carrying a 12-to-4 count.

FRENCH WILD

French was somewhat wild and he was overanxious to a marked degree, although he was a tough boy in the few emergencies that came up. There was a little flutter in the bullpen on one or two occasions, but at these moments the youngster made the relief men sit down by a game recovery.

Larry helped to win his own game by slamming out three hits, including a two-bagger. His mates, meantime, were contributing to the base-hit festival, Adam Comorosky being a star batswinger with a three-bagger and two singles.

Uncle Robbie, in his distress, sent Big Jim Elliott out to oppose French. The big lefthander has all kinds of stuff, but Dazzy Vance is the only Robin who can win with any degree of consistency in these lean days. Elliott was shelled off the hill in the second inning. Three youngsters, Dudley, Pattison and Bradshaw, followed Elliott to the mound in the order named.

Pie Traynor gave the contest a colorful feature in the eighth inning when he contributed four assists. Earl Sheely erred on one of Pie's tosses, the misplay making it possible for Pie to get in the four throws on batted balls.

Alex Simms Beaten

Memphis, May 14.—(AP.)—Charley Feraci, New Orleans, won the decision over Alex Simms, Cleveland, in 8 rounds last night.

BASS ILL, BOWL OPENER IS POSTPONED

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The opening show in the new Meyers Brothers Boxing Bowl, in North Braddock, scheduled for next Monday night, with Benny Bass and Steve Smith in the main bout, has been set back three nights to Thursday of next week, it was announced today by Matchmaker Jules Beck.

Bass is under the care of a physician in Philadelphia for a stomach disorder and has been forced to quit training. His manager, Phil Glassman, got in touch with Beck yesterday to give him this information and Beck immediately communicated with the boxing commission, which had a physician examine Bass in Philadelphia and confirmed the boxer's indisposition.

Glassman asked for a delay of several days in the match, but the club decided it would rather postpone it a full week and give Bass a chance to work himself into proper condition for the battle. It was learned that Smith is booked for Kansas City that night, so the Thursday date was clinched.

MOOSE CARDS SET

Willie Davies, Tiger Joe Randall and Buck McTiernan will box the main bouts of the last three shows before warm weather causes Promoter Francis Flynn to give up holding mitt shows in the Moose Temple arena, he announced today.

Flynn has closed for the appearance of Davies, the flyweight star, of Charleroi, who defeated Harry Goldstein, of Boston, at New Castle last night, against Frisco Grande, of Buffalo, next Friday night, and for the services of Randall on May 24 and of McTiernan on May 31. Their opponents will be selected later.

It was Flynn's original intention to use Randall against Young Rudy next Friday night, but the Tiger came out of his fight with Dominick Profio at McKeesport last Thursday night with a badly cut lip, and Rudy's manager, James (Red) Mason, would not come to terms for his end of the battle, anyway, so Flynn dropped all negotiations and signed Davies and Grande, a Filipino. This pair recently boxed at New Castle and the bout ended in a grand mixup when the judges disagreed and the referee's slip was so marked that the announcer declared Grande had been named the winner. The crowd stormed until a correction was made. Grande also gave Midget Wolgast a good battle in the Jolly Bowl.

Tug Phillips may be signed as Randall's opponent in next week's show. "Tug has been going great guns in Erie and elsewhere re-

HAGEN PACES MOORTOWN TOURNEY

MOORTOWN, England, May 14.—(A.P.)—Walter Hagen, British Open champion, took the lead in the first qualifying round of the Yorkshire Evening News Thousand Guineas Tournament today when he turned in a sensational 69. The American pro went out in 35 strokes in spite of a hard wind and came home in 34.

Hagen went out in 35 although he played in a hard wind. However, no rain fell on the champion in the first part of his round. He dropped a 30-foot putt for a birdie two at the fourth hole.

Harmon Continues Ice Club Quest

MONTREAL, Que., May 14.—(INS.)—Frank Patrick, representing Paddy Harmon, of Chicago, is here in an attempt to have a second National League franchise placed in Chicago for his big sport stadium. The application was blocked by Major McLaughlin, owner of the present Chicago N. H. L. team, who refused to agree to the incoming of a second team.

Patrick is not giving up the fight, however. He will remain here and hold several conferences in attempt to secure his desire.

ANOTHER HELEN SAILS

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS.)—Miss Helen Jacobs, second woman tennis player in the national ranking, will sail tonight for an invasion of European tennis courts. She expects to compete in the French championships, starting May 20, in the United States team matches in Berlin early in June and in the championships at Wimbledon, June 21.

NET MATCH OFF

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 14.—Continued rains and subsequent heavy courts prompted Manager Bill Stewart, of Washington and Jefferson to call off the tennis duel scheduled here today with the University of Pittsburgh. The cancellation is the second between the Presidents and the Panthers. The first bouts also were halted by inclement weather.

CUBS REGAIN LEAD; YANKS, A'S LOSE

By LES CONKLIN,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Old Barney Friberg, who a couple of months ago seemed destined to spend the season in the Phillies' dugout, today is leading the club in batting with a juicy average of .390, a mark surpassed by only three regulars in the National League.

The weeping and wailing that was heard in Philly when the brilliant Tommy Thevenow was injured in an automobile accident has died down to a whisper. For the veteran Friberg, called upon to fill the gap at shortstop because he was the only man available, has become the hitting star of a hitting club.

Friberg was the hero yesterday when the Phils overcame a seven-run lead to nose out the Cardinals, 10 to 9, and knock the champions out of first place. Barney clouted four hits, one a homer, and won the game by smacking a double in the ninth with the bases full.

SIXTH FOR UHLE

George Uhle, another old timer, who was deemed to be all washed up at Cleveland last year, hung up his sixth triumph in as many starts when he pitched Detroit to a 5-to-3 win over the Athletics. Uhle, who enjoys a good year every other season, has set 25 victories as his goal in the current campaign.

The Mackmen and the Yankees remained tied for first place, as the Yanks dropped a 4-to-3 decision to Cleveland for their third straight defeat. Willis Hudlin outpitched Heimach, although the Yanks almost tied the score in the ninth.

Taking advantage of the defeat of the Cardinals, the Chicago Cubs trimmed Boston, 6 to 4, and regained first place in the National League. The Braves kayoed Bubber Jonnard, but couldn't touch Root, his successor, Socks Seibold, former Chicago chattel, went the route for Boston.

LUQUE BLANKS GIANTS

Luque, of Cincinnati, blanked the Giants, 7 to 0, the Reds getting 14 hits. With Reese and Cohen injured, Outfielder Mel Ott played second for New York.

The Pirates combed Brooklyn's alleged pitchers for 18 hits, winning, 12 to 4. Larry French, rookie from Portland, Ore., twirled for Pittsburgh. Brooklyn has lost seven straight.

Danny MacFayden, of the Red Sox, won a 2-to-1 duel from Adkins, of the White Sox.

Fight Results

YANKEE GIRLS ADVANCE

Marjorie Miller, another British player, 7 up and 6 to play.

MISSES MANY PUTTS

Observers were not inclined to favor Glenna's chances in the later rounds of the tournament unless she can show decided improvement in her short game. Miss Bryant, handicapped at six, outplayed her on the greens throughout most of the match.

With her long shots, the American champion had no trouble whatever, but around the greens, particularly from distances of from four to seven feet, she was completely off her game. With a medal score of 41 on her outgoing trip, Miss Collett could have had a lead of four or five up instead of only one had she been able to sink holeable putts with greater consistency. The cards follow:

Miss Collett—
Out ..... 5 5 4 5 5 5 4 3 5—41
In 5 4 4 6 5 4 4
Miss Bryant—
Out ..... 5 4 4 5 6 4 6 4 5—43
In ..... 5 4 4 5 6 5 5 —34—77

TWO YANKS TO MEET

Miss Hollins frequently took three puts and her iron shots had a tendency to seek the "burns" scattered over the course, but she saved herself on many occasions with brilliant recoveries. She had five par holes, but no birdies. Her medal score of 74 for 15 holes was about on a par with her performance in the first round yesterday. The cards:

Out—
Miss Hollins . 5 6 4 6 6 5 4 4 4—44
Miss Ramsay . 6 5 4 6 5 5 3 6—47
In—
Miss Hollins . 4 5 4 5 6 6
Miss Ramsay . 5 4 4 6 7 6
Miss Boothby, American entrant from Rochester, Minn., played steady and at times brilliant golf in eliminating Mrs. Bell. She three-putted only three greens and her approaches, both the long irons and thec hip shots, were perfect. Her medal score of 80 for 13 holes was one of the best of the morning. She won eight of the 13 holes played.

If Miss Boothby had not taken three putts on the second and fourth holes, her British opponent would not have won a single hole. The cards:

Miss Boothby—
Out ..... 5 6 5 6 6 4 4 3 5—44
In 4 3 4 5
Mrs. Bell—
Out ..... 6 5 5 5 7 5 5 4 5—47
In 5 3 5 6

Due to the misfortune of the draw, Miss Boothby meets Miss Hollins, one of the other two American girls remaining in the tourney, in tomorrow's third round match. Judging from their play today, the Rochester girl will eliminate the New York player.

BELL'S ILLNESS NOT SERIOUS

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(INS.)—Herman Bell, the Cardinal baseball pitcher, who was stricken with hemorrhages of the stomach upon the arrival of the team here, is "very much better," Dr. Louis Chodoff, the attending physician, told International News Service today.

"It will be some days, however," Dr. Chodoff said, "before he can be removed to St. Louis.

"His illness is not serious, but we must keep him here a few days more for observation. To move him would be to aggravate his condition."

"Oh, yes, he will play ball again this season," Dr. Chodoff said when asked if the young hurler would be kept out of baseball for the rest of the season. "He will be able to play again in a few weeks."

HERRERA STOPS RAY NEWTON IN SIXTH

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 14.—Tony Herrera, the Mexican flash who calls Chicago home, recalled memories of the great Joe Rivers as he slashed his way through to a second knockout victory over Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., in little more than a week in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round main bout at the Washington Gardens here last night.

A veritable phantom, Herrera eluded solid punches that Newton tried desperately to land and atone for a defeat suffered at New Castle, and then countered with left jabs and crushing rights that took their inevitable toll. Newton made a courageous attempt to send Herrera to oblivion with a crushing blow to the jaw, but failed. He said it was his only chance as he entered the ring.

A terrific right to the solar plexus sent Newton to the canvas near the close of the fifth and the crowd rose to leave the arena. But on the count of eight the Blonde Tiger was on his feet and the bell rang almost immediately.

Newton did not recover from the wallop in the fifth round and the sixth was only a few seconds old until he crumpled to the floor under another crushing blow to the body and took the fatal count.

TWO CITY LOOP GAMES CARDED TONIGHT

By TOM BIRKS.

The usual flock of games for sandlotters are scheduled for this evening. The City League will stage a couple. Pleasant Valley will provide the opposition for the Stowe Civics, and seeing that neither has been defeated in league encounters, a good battle should result. The other game will find the Liberty Dairy boys meeting the North Side Civics at the Salt Works grounds.

In the Pittsburgh Central League, fans have several interesting games over which to become enthused. W. L. Reineckers and W. O. W. will stage the Class A final battle of last season all over again at Harland Field, McKees Rocks.

The Wagner Club hooks up with Mt. Washington C. M. C., at Olympia Park, and the Sheraden club is going to make a good try to break into the win column.

In the West Penn loop, the Armstrongs, of Cheswick, swing into action at North Bessemer. Pete Elder is taking no chances of Bessemer playing without him. The debacle at Wilmerding still rankles Pete's mind, so when the Cheswicks take the field, the Cement boys will be out for blood.

PHILA. LEAGUE OPENS

The Philadelphia Company League starts operations this evening. Grafton Duvall reports a big time is on the books. An automobile parade will precede the game. Duquesne Light meets Equitable Auto, the latter being a newcomer into the loop.

In the Inter-County League, Dormont will show the Falconer makeup, with Natrona providing the opposition. Another game will find Beltzhoover meeting the Homewood-Brushton outfit at the playgrounds.

President Dick Mackey, of the Commercial-Industrial loop is looking for a club to complete his league. Frigidaire was all set to go until last evening, and then decided that it would be impossible to have a club.

If any commercial or industrial company wants to get a club in a good, reliable league, get in touch with Dick Mackey at the Carnegie Steel Company, or call Kline at Honus Wagner's.

Powley, Verona ace, is shooting a mark at which the rest of the boys can throw. In Saturday's game with Mt. Washington C. M. C., he had 15 strikeouts. And umpires that work behind the bat state Powley has the stuff to go out into faster company.

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

INTER-CLUB NET LOOP CARD IS SET

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League action will get under way on Saturday, May 25, a week later than original plans demanded. The set-back in competitive dates was announced last evening when Chairman Marion Rinehart of the P. T. A. Schedule Committee released his official 1929 card of contesting for the two-section loop.

Reason for the unexpectedly late campaign inaugural lies partly in the inconsistent weather that has thus far retarded the whipping into shape of many courts, and partly in the fact that Division One will engage in but half as many matches this year as heretofore, the home-and-home feature having been eliminated from the program. This means that the upper and more powerful portion of the circuit will wind up hostilities on July 27, while the lower array, retaining the home-and-home system, will continue until August 24.

OLD IDEA RETURNS

An interesting note in regard to the Division One proceedings is the return to the old six-man team idea, discarded in 1928 for the abbeviated four-singles-two-doubles contest as the official standard. The necessity of sending half-a-dozen or more men into the milling each Saturday will unquestionably stir club leaders to the business of bringing out new talent with the result that junior players will be given frequent opportunity to exhibit their prowess.

It will be noted that in the Division One list, certain jousts are billed for either June 15 or June 29, this proviso having been inserted to care for Saturdays devoted to the Western Pennsylvania Championships, definite dates for which have yet to be settled. In Division Two, the entry of Philadelphia Company is thus far uncertified. In event of withdrawal of the Utilities outfit, the present card will stand, except that rival contingents will foul on occasions calling for them to clash with the Philly crew. Meanwhile the matter of home rectangles vexes Howard Moore and his College Avenue luminaries, who have been unable to reach satisfactory leasing terms for their historic lot at College Avenue and Walnut street. As matters rest, the East Enders, already handicapped by the loss of Austin Famariss, redoubtable southpaw ace who has taken a position in Fairmont, W. Va., face the unenviable prospect of a lengthy series of fracases abroad.

In order to obviate the possibility of postponing encounters by agreement of captains, the association keeps in force its rule of a twelvemonth ago to the effect that only rain, wet turf or cold shall be accepted as legitimate excuses for moving back regularly scheduled tussles. Otherwise victory by default shall be automatically registered for the home squad.

M'CLINTOCK ON COMMITTEE

In addition to Chairman Rinehart, a member of the Stanton Heights aggregation, the Schedule Committee includes Frank S. McClintock, of the University Club, and Thomas Spooner, of Westinghouse. The complete schedules:

DIVISION ONE.

May 25, Edgewood at Stanton Heights; Westinghouse at P. A. A.; University Club at South Hills; College Hill, open.

Frenchy Belanger Regains Title From Hill

TORONTO, May 14.—(AP.)—Albert (Frenchy) Belanger, of Toronto, last night regained the Canadian flyweight championship when he stopped Johnny Hill, of Montreal, in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round match. Hill had won the championship from Belanger only a short time ago in a bout at Montreal. Scaling 111½, Belanger had a half-pound weight advantage over his rival.

ROBINS OBTAIN EDDIE MOORE

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS.)—With Glenn Wright and Jake Flowers lost to the team, Manager Wilbert Robinson has secured Eddie Moore from the Toledo Club of the American Association to play second base for the Brooklyn Robins.

Moore, who formerly played for Pittsburgh and Boston, comes to Brooklyn in a three-cornered deal. Outfielder Nick Cullop, of the Robins, was released to the Atlanta Crackers, who will send Max Rosenfield, another outfielder, to Toledo.

Robinson also claimed Alex Ferguson, veteran pitcher of the Phillies, on waivers in an effort to strengthen his last-place club.

Chicago Turfman Buys McGonigle

CHICAGO, May 14.—(AP.)—Stuyvesant Peabody, Chicago turfman and millionaire, has purchased McGonigle from Pat Knebelkamp, of Louisville. McGonigle is expected to carry the Peabody silks in the Kentucky derby, but is given only an outside chance to win.

Heidelberg's Champions

(Inside story of the remarkable record compiled by the Heidelberg (Pa.) Soccer Club, which has won the National amateur championship twice in the last three years.)

By F. J. Balsarini

Manager of Heidelberg Soccer Club.

CHAPTER VII.—OUR DREAM IS REALIZED.

I HAVE every reason to feel elated as I write this chapter, because it tells how our Heidelberg team brought Western Pennsylvania its first national amateur soccer championship after the game had been played here for 25 years.

E. J. Balsarini

In the preceding chapter I told of the changes in our lineup, and how I thought the inclusion of the Millers Run boys, O'Donnell, Fagan and Mitchell, would add the needed punch.

This season found us getting our toughest opposition. In the first round, Dunlevy was met. Lance Smith, George Grandy and the Dunlevy boys had returned to their first love, but O'Donnell and Kusis played a great game, and we won, 2 goals to 0. Then we met Turtle Creek at Turtle Creek and won, 4 goals to 3. Then came our Nemesis, the Cleveland Magyars, once more.

Again the luck of the draw favored the Buckeye State boys, and, with misgivings, we boarded the train for Cleveland. This time, in the Magyar Club, a council of war was held before the boys boarded taxis for the grounds.

"Hit them and hit them hard, and hammer the defense!" the team was told.

MAGYARD STREAK BROKEN

WE didn't win that game, but we held them to a tie. Chappell scored for us in the second half.

Then we brought the Magyars to Pittsburgh, and a crowd, estimated at 10,000, saw the battle played on a field ankle deep in mud. It was this game that first caused soccer followers to declare that it is impossible to beat Heidelberg on a muddy field. McCosky, O'Donnell, Kusis, Chappell and Jones ran them ragged and we avenged the previous defeats by winning, 5 goals to 1.

After this we were drawn once more at Cleveland to meet the Shamrocks in the western final. This game at Luna Park found us entering the final by a 2-goals-to-0 score after a rough battle.

Once more in the final round for the coveted trophy the La Flamme team of New Bedford, Mass, was the opposition, and Pittsburgh bid for and was awarded the game, which was played in a terrific thunderstorm at the Westinghouse High School field. This time the Green and Gold was a tornado, and won, 3 to 1. Strachan, Fagan, Jones, O'Donnel and the others played themselves into our local hall of fame, along with McCosky, Chappell and Berky Jones.

At the finish Western Pennsylvania had copped its first national soccer title. Ten American boys and one Scotch lad had turned the trick.

AMERICAN GAME TRIUMPHS

THE American style had been vindicated. The La Flamme team was an old country product and did not have a chance. Its footwork was excellent, but that rock-like defense of Fagan and Strachan never let the visitors become dangerous. The only American style soccer team in the tourney out of 90 of the best teams in the United States now ruled the roost. I had not piloted a team to the Olympic games, but I had finished what I had started out to do, which was to bring to Pittsburgh a national title.

In my next and last chapter, tomorrow, I will tell how we won our second national title, a little more than a week ago.

Shoot Carded Today At Greensburg Club

The Greensburg Mountain View Gun Club will be the scene of a Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters' League event today. The event, a regular May tourney, has attracted entries from all sections of the district.

In the preliminary staged last Saturday, J. W. Napier shot 49 out of 50.

cently. He defeated Johnny O'Keefe in a main bout at Columbus, O., Monday night of last week and won over Johnny Kusic, of Youngstown, at Erie on Friday.

HERRERA TO BOX BORDE

Jimmy Borde, of Cleveland, has been chosen as Tony Herrera's opponent in the main bout at the New Castle Jolly Bowl next Monday night.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, boxes Al Corbett, of Cleveland, at Alliance, O., tonight, and Joe Boychan, at Steubenville next Tuesday night.

Maxie Strub, of Erie, and Eddie Reed, of Philadelphia, will meet in the windup at Erie next Friday night. Pedlar Palmer, local Negro Nichols, of Buffalo, will box the 10-round semi-final and Joe Ribnicky and Matty Oldach are paired for a six-round preliminary.

Johnny Carey, of Erie, and his manager, Joey Daly, have been suspended by the State Athletic Commission for their actions in Carey's bout with Buck McTiernan at the Moose Temple last Friday night.

Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, and Jack O'Banyon, of Cleveland, have been matched to box the first bout on the Benny Bass-Steve Smith card in the Meyers Brothers' bowl in North Braddock one week from next Monday. Only the second bout remains to be closed, announcement having been made of the signing of Buck McTiernan and Bobby Green for the semi-final.

$3 TOP AT BRADDOCK

The prices for the North Braddock club's opening show, incidentally, will be $1, $2 and $3, instead of $1 and $2, it develops. The entire floor space, consisting of some 1,800 ringside seats, will sell for $3. The first eight rows of elevated seats, some 2,000 in number, will go for $2, and the remaining seven rows, containing about 4,000 seats, will be sold at $1. All seats will be numbered.

Eight amateur bouts, showing the best talent in the district, will feature the closing show of the season at the Pittsburgh Lyceum this evening. Sylvester Pastorious, Paul Balint, Joey Leonard, Jimmy Bellasarias, Johnny Hazel, Walter Marm and Dick Pritchard are among those who will perform.

Despite the constant rain, the Tony Herrera-Ray Newton return bout at Little Washington last night drew a gate of almost $1,500. Herrera carried off a guarantee of $500 for repeating his knockout triumph of a week ago.

CHARTER 25 TRAINS

CHICAGO, May 14.—(AP.)—Chicago will send the largest racing delegation in its history to the Kentucky derby Saturday. Twenty-five special trains have been chartered. Thousands will travel by air and automobile.

of the Buccaners had not given him a big lead and enabled him to ease up.

Circumstances made it necessary for Manager Bush to bring George Grantham in from the outfield and station him at second base. That makes a total of five combinations that have been tried at short and second this season—Adams and Bartell, Jones and Bartell, Riconda and Bartell, Bartell and Adams, and Adams and Grantham. The majority of Pirate rooters would not fancy the present emergency arrangement as a steady diet, but it may serve until Bartell can get back in the game.

George T. Stallings

BASEBALL lost one of its best-known and most colorful figures, and one of its most capable managers, in the death of George T. Stallings. Though his greatest reputation was made in leading the Boston Nationals of 1914 from last place on July 19 to the pennant and the world championship in four straight victories over the Athletics in October, he managed the Phillies, Yankees and Tigers and eight minor league clubs. Baseball was the life of Stallings and in the opinion of many veterans of the game it also was a factor in causing his death, as the energy he expended in running a game while sitting on the bench—fuming, and storming, and fretting and pulling—and the worry that defeats occasioned after he left the field did much to burn him out.

WILLIE DAVIES WINS EASILY

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 14.—Willie Davies, the Charlerol, (Pa.), flash demonstrated his superiority over Harry Goldstein, flyweight champion of the New England states, in 10 rounds and to the satisfaction of 3,000 fight fans at Jolly Bowl last night.

Davies outboxed and outpunched the Easterner, taking every round with the exception of the eight by a wide margin. Goldstein failed to show his famous punch. The decision was awarded to Davies.

MIXED RESULTS OF HIGH RATES FOR MONEY

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE fortunes of the men and women found in the customers' rooms of brokerage houses are not the only ones vitally affected by the high rates for call money. For better or worse there are few types of activity which have not been influenced either directly or indirectly by the abnormal rates prevailing since the Federal Reserve Board decides that something should be done about the stock market. The results of high money outside of those shown directly on the market are neither universally good or bad.

"Just now my business is pretty slow," said one man. He sells a line of equipment for banks. "I know of at least a dozen banks which have been planning to erect new buildings. They have the surplus funds available and, a few months ago, they were ready to start to work. Then came high call money. They knew that such a chance for profits would not last for ever, so they are making hay while the sun shines. There will be plenty of time to think of new buildings when call money is back at 4 per cent. Just now their extra cash is in New York."

A LARGE steel company is in a remarkably strong financial position. It has far more available cash than it can use in its business. It could retire its entire funded debt without the necessity of offering rights to its stockholders. But why call 5 or 6 per cent bonds when the money can earn more in New York? The bonds will be retired when, as and if call money comes down.

Another large industrial company, until its last statement, had not shown a bank loan on the balance sheet for years. In spite of the fact that cash had grown more rapidly than the company's needs for working capital, the organization was in debt to banks to the extent of about $1,000,000. The company was adding to its profits by loaning money on call which it was getting at the lower commercial rates.

THE profits of one local company have been expanded to some extent in recent months through the loaning on call of the proceeds of the sale of additional common stock. The capital was raised for a new plant but construction will take nearly a year and the funds will not be required for some time.

Although banks have been getting a larger return on the proportion of their deposits which they can loan on call, they have been faced with the disadvantage of lost deposits of considerable size. Wide awake treasurers of corporations have been spending their days and nights figuring out how little it will be necessary for them to keep on deposit at their banks so that every dollar of surplus cash can take advantage of the demand for stock market money.

"HIGH call money is supposed to discourage the gambling element in the market," said one man the other day. "I wonder if it isn't shaking out many a good many people who are borderline cases between the pure speculator and the investor.

"The man who is looking for a quick profit is n seriously worried about call money if the market is sufficiently active. Several months ago I bought stock in four leading industrial companies whose prospects for increasing profits are exceptionally bright. I bought them with the intention of keeping them a year or more before taking a profit. To add to the profit I expect to take I am carrying them on a margin which is wide enough to allow me to withstand any temporary reactions the market may have. The interest charge on my last monthly statement has practically convinced me that I will have to reduce my holdings to an amount which I can carry outright."

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

List Fights Against Pressure.

The market made a fairly successful defense against continued selling today and, despite the fact that money rates were jacked up to 10 per cent again, there was nothing in the nature of a drastic slump in stocks. On the other hand, a few selected industrials were whirled up in exhuberent fashion, notably General Electric, which was rushed to a new high around mid-day. It was just at this time that the money screws began to tighten, and while the higher rates choked off the possibilities of a strong recovery in the general list, they failed to break the list wide open, a circumstance speaking well for the underlying strength of the general business and financial situation. The concentrated selling in two or three issues in which the attack against prices seemed to be most vicious brought whispers of a possible campaign against one of the stock market's most picturesque operators. This operator recently declared himself strongly against the throttling processes of certain authorities, and some of the market sharps were wondering today if the pressure against his particular favorites in the market were not a measure of retaliation against his outspoken criticism.

Loans and Credit Base.

Leading banking quarters in New York profess to see nothing to get gloomy about, citing the continued large industrial activity and the big railroad traffic. One banker who has given considerable of his time to domestic and international finance points to the vastly stronger position of the Federal Reserve Board in the past several months. "About six months ago," he said, "some authorities said we needed a $500,000,000 contraction in collateral loans. Since the first of the year we have had a net gain of $125,000,000 in gold in the form of excess imports and metal released from ear-marking. Taken on the conservative figure of 10 to 1 this gain in gold supply represents the basis of $1,250,000,000 of credit on the 14 to 1 average ratio. Of the Federal Reserve experience this gold gain could represent $1,700,000,000 additional credit. The necessity, if there was one, of a sharp curtailment in collateral loans is less now by far than the first of the year."

Member Banks' Loans Drop.

Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks on May 8 shows decrease for the week of $217,000,000 in loans and investments; $249,000,000 in net demand deposits and $19,000,000 in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks, while time deposits increased $11,000,000. Loans on securities declined $130,000,000.

Baldwin Increases Operations.

Baldwin Locomotive is now running at 25 per cent capacity, at which rate is expected to continue for the next several months. Indications are that this will be stepped up considerably when the fall season begins, inasmuch as work is now beginning to rapidly reach the plant from the company's engineering department. Baldwin now has on hand orders for 200 locomotives for domestic buyers. Foreign business continues slow, however.

D. and H. To Hold Cash.

At the annual meeting of Delaware and Hudson Company, L. F. Loree, president, said that the company would not distribute the profits from the sale of the Wabash and Lehigh Valley stock for the present, but would retain the cash until the company's future with regards to rail consolidations is determined. He also stated that the company managers have not discussed the question of distributing the stock of the Hudson Coal Company to the stockholders of the D. and H. Company. Mr. Loree declared that net earnings for first quarter 1929 showed an increase of $2,363,000 over 1928.

Mid-Continent Crude Raise Seen.

Important oil circles at Tulsa believe that an advance in the price of Mid-Continent crude oil will be announced shortly. It is expected that either Prairie Oil and Gas or Sinclair Oil will take initiative. For several weeks demand for crude in the mid-continent has exceeded the supply, which was the reason for lifting the restriction program in effect in that state. It is felt that at present, with the state wide open, production will not exceed 710,000 barrels a day.

The Corporation Commission has placed a limit of 727,000 barrels a day on the state, with the understanding that when production reaches that figure a proration program will again be put into effect.

NATIONAL ELECTRIC PRODUCTS
WIRING SYSTEMS 6 WIRES AND CABLES

We press a button and that still mysterious force, electric current, lights our homes and offices, and runs our factories. Coursing its invisible way through insulated wires, it flows in an unfailing stream from power house to motor, stove and lamp. Carefully controlled, it is a powerful agent for good, but unrestrained, it is a dangerous force. Hence, the elaborate precautions to keep it in its proper channels.

From the point at which they enter the house or building, electric wires are confined in conduits concealed in walls, floors, and ceilings. The National Metal Molding Company, a division of the National Electric Products Corporation, is one of the country's largest manufacturers of conduit and raceways for electrical wiring. Its products are found in the wiring systems of homes, office buildings, industrial plants, automobiles, and machinery, everywhere.

Cities Service Reports the best year in its history

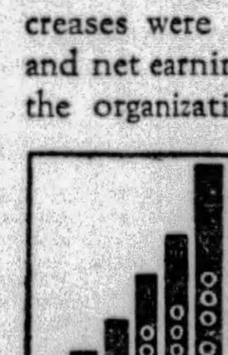
Security-owners now total 450,000

The Annual Report of Cities Service Company, just issued, shows 1928 to have been the most successful year in the Company's history. Large increases were made in assets, gross and net earnings, and the number of the organization's security holders, who now aggregate more than 450,000. Excess of current assets over current liabilities increased 26.75%, from $52,932,000 to $67,094,000.



The number of owners of securities of Cities Service organization has grown from 150,000 in 1923 to 450,000, an increase of 200 per cent in six years.

Consolidated net earnings of the Company and its subsidiaries exceeded $64,000,000, equal to 9.34% on the total capitalization and funded debt. Total consolidated assets of this nation-wide public service organization increased during the year from over $809,000,000 to more than $913,000,000.

The Annual Report shows that in 1928 Cities Service petroleum subsidiaries produced about 20,000,000 barrels of oil, a daily average of over 54,000 barrels. Gasolene, oil, and other petroleum products were marketed through its own distributing system in 4,000 communities. Public utility subsidiaries sold over 93,600,000,000 cubic feet of natural and manufactured gas and 1,421,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy.

Last year more than 100,000 investors were added to the security-holders of the Cities Service organization. Its list of security-holders is now the second largest in the world and includes many trust companies, banks and other institutions, as well as individuals in every state and in 38 foreign countries. The Company's Common stockholders alone number 122,000, having increased from 70,000 a year ago.

You participate in the success of the Cities Service organization when you invest in its securities. As a Cities Service security-owner you have the satisfaction of knowing that you have invested your money in an organization which has grown steadily through its 18 years of existence—from a small beginning in 1910 to its present commanding place among the ten largest industrial enterprises in America.

Stocks Erratic | Local Stock Quotations

MARKET SAILS ON ERRATIC COURSE

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—Erratic price movements characterized today's stock market, which was still under the influence of rumors of adverse credit developments. The market opened irregular, turned heavy when several of the copper, motor and steel shares broke through yesterday's low levels, rallied under the leadership of General Electric around mid-day and then turned heavy again in response to a stiffening in call money rates.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, but only a moderate supply of funds was available and the rate was raised to 8 around the end of the third hour. This was attributed to the semi-weekly readjustment of reserves and the approach of the mid-month settlements. Federal Reserve officials hold out little hope of any marked relaxation in money rates this summer, unless there is a marked reduction in quoted securities values.

FEARS GROUNDLESS

While most of yesterday's wild rumors bearing on the credit situation proved groundless, fears were still entertained today that either the Boston or New York Federal Reserve banks would increase the rediscount rate this week. The unusually heavy financing of the last fortnight is expected to be reflected in a substantial increase in brokers' loans on Thursday, although this may be modified if the liquidation which has been under way since last Saturday is continued through tomorrow.

Renewal of selling pressure against the copper issues was based on unconfirmed rumors that production of the red metal was running ahead of shipments, and that a further shading of prices was likely. This is in contradiction to recent trade reports that the price of copper has been stabilized around 18 cents a pound. Calumet and Hecla and Anaconda (new) sank to new low levels for the year, and Anaconda (old) sold down to 125¼, or nearly 50 points below the high record established in March. Greene Cananea dropped nearly 4 points.

One block of 10,000 shares of General Motors changed hands at 80, yesterday's resistance point, and the stock then sank to 79⅝. Marmon dropped 3 points, Packard was whirled up nearly 8 points to 135⅞, but was unable to maintain its gain.

The brisk advance of 10 points in General Electric to a new high at 272 revived rumors of a 4-for-1 split-up. Wall street also heard reports of a merger of Postum and Continental Can, although neither stock made any special demonstration.

BULLS TAKE HAND

Operators for the advance made another effort to rally the list in mid-afternoon. Granby Copper was run up 6 points, Sparks Withington and Commercial Solvents 5 each and Motor Products, By-Products Coke, Westinghouse Electric, Wright Aeronautical and American and Foreign Power sold 3 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, May 14.—Snow and rain in Canada affording relief from shortage of moisture brought about early downturns today in wheat prices here. Auspicious domestic wheat crop reports and Liverpool quotations lower than due counted also as a bear influence. Opening at ¼c to ⅞c decline, Chicago wheat afterward held near to the initial range. Corn and oats displayed considerable strength, with corn starting unchanged to ½c higher, and subsequently scoring an all-around advance. Provisions inclined downward.

Advices of better crop conditions both in Canada and this country gave a distinct advantage much of the time today to the selling side of the wheat market. Heavy snowfalls and downpours of rain were reported to be general on the Canadian prairies, where there has long been complaint of lack of sub-soil moisture threatening to deminish wheat yields. In addition to this improvement of outlook, forecasts pointed to similar relief tonight in drought sections of North Dakota.

Dispatches at hand today from a leading Chicago crop expert touring the Southwest likewise were given much notice. He wired from Enid, Okla., wheat was coming into head from Enid into Southern Kansas and that the general condition indicated a crop above average. There were also messages asserting Texas wheat promised at this time a harvest of 30,000,000 bushels to 35,000,000 bushels, against a recent government estimate of 26,000,000 bushels, and that some wheat already was being cut in Southern Texas.

A. & P. Original Chain Store.

The chain store idea, which has shown such phenomenal expansion in the last few years, and which will, it seems, make unprecedented gains in the number of stores involved during 1929, had its first inception just 71 years ago. Contrary to the impression formed by a great many people, Frank W. Woolworth did not originate the chain store idea, but, according to the Encyclopedia Americana, he founded the first "five and ten-cent store." To the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company goes the credit for establishing the first chain store in 1858, which was 21 years before Woolworth came into the limelight. The Jones Bros. Tea Company, now the Grand Union Tea Company, was formed in 1872, and was the second great chain store organization to be formed. It was in May, 1879, according to the Americana, that Frank W. Woolworth, then 27 years of age, established the first "five-cent store" at Utica, N. Y., removing the business to Lancaster, Pa., later in the year. Out of that unimpressive beginning just a half century ago there has grown 1760 Woolworth five and ten-cent stores in this country, Canada and Cuba, of which 1,625 are in the United States. In addition, there are 350 Woolworth stores in England. The growth of the chain store has been remarkable. From a humble start it is now the dominant factor in over 5,000 organizations. There are over 140,000 chain store units in the United States at present, and during the past five years their number has increased on an average of 10 per cent yearly. The gross business of all the chain store organizations in the country amounts to over $8,000,000,000 a year out of a total volume of $40,000,000,000 annual retail sales.

Small Retailers' Problems.

In the decade following the war, American industry and trade went through a revolution as a result of the heightening of efficiency by big business. As a result, large corporations have taken over a vastly large share of the volume of business and profits of the country. Little independent business concerns, slower to seize the newer technique for eliminating economic waste, have relatively languished, and have accounted for nearly all the commercial mortalities. If remarks made by spokesmen for little business at sessions of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which recently held its seventeenth annual meeting at Washington, may be taken as a criterion, the second decade after the war will be marked by a raising of the practices of small independent business houses to the new standards of efficiency set by the larger leaders. Faced by increasing competition of chain stores, independent retail distributors are at the crossroads. They recognize that they must either reduce their cost of operations or continue to lose heavily to the chains. The game of playing a lone hand against the chains has been far from uniformly successful, and accordingly there is a growing nation-wide tendency for the independents to band together in co-operative associations which give them some of the advantages of collective buying and expert management of the great chain systems.

Los Angeles-New York Trading.

The Los Angeles stock and curb exchanges are rapidly becoming important instruments for the execution by New York and Eastern traders of orders for stock now listed on New York stock and curb exchanges after the close of the New York markets, due to the 2½-hour time differential. There are at present 64 New York stocks, 28 from the "Big Board" and 36 from the curb, now listed and dealt in on the Los Angeles Exchange. This is said to be the greatest number carried by any mart outside of New York. The volume of shares in these stocks now traded in by Eastern interests after the close of the New York market is running well in excess of 200,000 shares weekly and is increasing rapidly.

Manufactured Exports Gain.

American exports of manufacturing goods are displaying a tendency to increases faster than trade in raw materials, food products, or any other item in the commercial category, the Commerce Department has found. For the first quarter of 1929, the export of finished manufactured goods, amounted to $696,000,000 out of the $1,420,000,000 value assigned to the country's total export for the period, which figures represented an increase of 34 per cent over the imports for the same period last year. There was little change in prices, the statement said, so that the increased value accurately represented the increased quantity of materials shipped abroad. Automotive products, machinery of all types, and iron and steel articles made the greatest gains which the department noted.

Investment Trust Financing.

Financial-investment trusts are revealed as having assumed first position by a wide margin in the matter of new financing during the first four months of the year. A compilation covering that period reveals that the total of new financing in that interval was $2,359,463,000, or about $2,350,000 above the same time in 1928. Of that total investment trusts accounted for approximately $728,000,000, public utilities were next with $445,000,000 and oil corporations third with $148,000,000. Following in the order named were the aviation companies, railroads, foreign corporations, merchandising companies and machinery manufacturers.

Total Security Owners in Each State Will Be Shown

By B. C. FORBES

HOW many stockholders live in your state?

How many bondholders?

And how much have they invested in stocks and bonds?

The New York Stock Exchange, I learn, is taking steps to gather this extremely illuminating information, information which will possess not merely financial interest, but deep social, not to say political interest and value.

JAMES C. AUCHINCLOSS, head of the Stock Exchange's committee on publicity, is sending out this request to presidents of companies throughout the country:

"Dear sir:

"The New York Stock Exchange is making an effort to determine as nearly as possible the geographical distribution of securities in the United States. Would it be possible for you to assist us in this effort by supplying the following information to your company?

"Total number of common shares held by residents of each state.

"Total number of preferred shares held by residents of each state.

"Total number of bonds held by residents of each state.

"Total number of common stockholders in each state.

"Total number of preferred stockholders in each state.

"Total number of bondholders in each state.

"The exchange would like this information for its statistical records."

WHEN compiled this information will reveal just how widespread stock ownership and bond ownership have become. The popular—but probably exaggerated—estimate is that there are now 15,000,000 stockholders in this country, in addition to several million bondholders.

Where do present-day security holders live? Are they, as often declared, located in large numbers in every part of the land? Or are they mainly confined to the so-called financial East?

MY guess is that the records will contain several surprises. Notwithstanding the oft-repeated statement that "everybody is now dabbling in the stock market," I have found during my travels that in the essentially agricultural states relatively little interest is taken in stocks or bonds listed in Wall Street but that where there are local enterprises with shares outstanding, interest is taken in them by a goodly number of those having surplus funds.

In the poorer states, it is likely to be found that there are very few holders of either stocks or bonds.

ON the other hand, it probably will be disclosed that stocks are very widely held in the wealthier states regardless of their geographical location.

New York is supposed to be the chief hotbed of speculation. I question whether as large a percentage of New Yorkers trade in stocks as you will find in certain other cities. After all, fewer than 117,000 New Yorkers report incomes of $5,000 or more and not quite 52,500 report $10,000 incomes.

Detroit, I should say, has developed unusually extensive interest in stocks. That city contains a great many individuals and families earning a surplus, and so much money has been made from ownership of motor securities that a speculative appetite has been developed there.

Los Angeles is another city very keenly interested in stock market operations. There, too, live a great many well-to-do retired and other families. San Francisco also is an important city financially.

Chicago's extraordinary increase in stock trading is revealed by the sensational growth of its own stock exchange. Moreover, the business done by Chicagoans through the New York exchange members has multiplied greatly during the last few years.

FOR every man, woman and child in the United States $1,000 worth of securities are listed on the New York Stock Exchange alone!

This little table shows what these securities consist of:

Security—	No. Issues.	Market Value.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP.)—The curb market fluctuated in an uncertain manner today. A few issues rallied from the low levels reached yesterday, but fears of renewed stringency in the money market prevented traders from following up the advances. Call money renewed at 7 per cent, but there was a scant surplus of funds available at that figure, and it rose to 8 per cent by early afternoon.

Fokker was an outstanding strong spot, selling up more than 4 points. Much of the buying was said to come from the Pacific Coast, and was promoted by unconfirmed rumors that the company may be taken over by powerful automobile interests. Other aviation issues were irregular, Consolidated Aircraft sagging more than a point while Bendix Aviation mounted a couple of points. Auburn Auto was again a soft spot, losing more than 3 points.

Utilities rallied rather briskly for a time, but then turned dull and lost some of their gains. United Gas Improvement mounted several points, and Electric Investors, Electric Bond and Share, American and Foreign Power Warrants, American Gas, and Associated Gas sold a point or two higher. American Superpower A dropped about 2 points, then made up its loss. Empire Power and Rochester Central Power were somewhat heavy.

Aluminum Company dropped 4 points in a single sale, and Newmont, after a brief rally, turned heavy. Noranda sagged about a point in a fair turnover. Sentry Safety Council, Goldman Sachs, and Trans-America were under moderate pressure.

Oils pointed upward for a time, Gulf making a gain of about 3 points and Indiana and Humble making small gains.

at STUDEBAKER'S
*OCCASIONAL USED CAR SALE

Starts Friday Morning at 8 o'clock

There are many Used Car Sales in Pittsburgh but there is only one Studebaker Sale and that is held only OCCASIONALLY and it is Pittsburgh's Greatest Used Car Event. The price on every used car is marked down for quick sale. More than one hundred fifty cars of all leading makes and models to select from—28 cars under $100 and prices ranging from 49c to $1,000.00. All cars in good condition and backed by Studebaker's Pledge to used car purchasers. It's going to be a great sale. Plan to be at Studebaker's early Wednesday morning!

INSPECTION
Wednesday and Thursday

Come in today, tonight, tomorrow or Thursday. Look over Studebaker's tremendous used car values and get your eye on the car that best suits your taste and pocketbook.—Then come early Friday morning and purchase YOUR car.

Positively No Cars Sold 'til Friday

Wednesday and Thursday are Used Car Inspection Days Only. No orders —no reservations—no sales to anyone until 8 A. M. Friday.

CONVENIENT TERMS IF DESIRED

Do You Remember?

our last OCCASIONAL Used Car Sale, two years ago, when twenty people stayed in line all night in order to have first choice?—and upwards of 300 people were waiting for our doors to open at 8 o'clock?—and the police kept the crowds in line? Well, the values in this sale are even greater than before—so plan to attend EARLY!

Get the Treat of Your Life!

So unusual were the values in Studebaker's last OCCASIONAL Used Car Sale that the Associated Press reported the news of the event in the newspapers from coast to coast. This sale offers you the greatest used car values for less money than you ever dreamed of. Don't fail to attend this extraordinary used car event. There won't be another for a long, long time! Come in today!

(Press Agent Item.)

"An example of the problems scenario writers must face is afforded in "The Insidious Dr. Fu Manchu," which Florence Ryerson fashioned into screen dialogue from Sax Rohmer's mystery story.

"In having Warner Oland address his wife the script writers could not have him say 'Well' what is it now?' Instead, such words as these come from his mouth: 'What do you wish, my golden jewel?'

"Throughout the film, the Chinese dialogue had to be couched in this flowery Oriental style. To digress from it would have been to possibly ruin the entire production."

CAPONE RELIEF FUND SWOLLEN

Yesterday we printed the dispatch from Chicago which told how Scarface Al Capone is stone broke and unable to pay off the mortgage on his beautiful Florida home. No sooner had we appealed for contributions than people began sending in donations to the Capone Fund. And, most touching of all, was the gift of little Axel McGillicuddy (above,) who brought in more than two hundred bottle caps. He took up a collection at the ball game.

Larger Playground Use Indicates Their Value

In four years, value of Pittsburgh municipal playgrounds and equipment have increased by $808,512 to a total value of $2,202,792. Yearly maintenance appropriations have grown from $125,071, in 1925, to $229,034, the amount set aside for recreation centers for the current year. Total attendance in 1925 was 2,434,622. This year it is expected to greatly exceed the figure of last year, 3,956,612. The statistics are from a report by W. C. Batchelder, superintendent of the Bureau of Recreation.

The utility of playgrounds also expands each year, many of them being community centers, and their facilities are being made use of by adults as well as children. It is stated that persons of both sexes and of all ages engage in their recreational activities. That is as it should be. Grownups need to play as well as youngsters and the best possible employment of playgrounds is one that involves a larger use than is suggested by equipment for the kiddies and a baseball diamond for the larger boys.

It is pleasing to note that expansion and use of recreational grounds has been constant.

Garden and Flower Show Worthy of Attendance

A garden and flower show being held on the seventeenth floor of the William Penn Hotel, to continue throughout the week, is an activity in which we can show our appreciation of the beautiful, and our interest in home surroundings, by attending. It is being conducted by various organizations, each in charge for a day, in co-operation with the management of the hotel. Its purpose is the promotion of gardening and beautification through planting. It takes the place of the annual show of a similar nature that was conducted for several years under the auspices of the Civic Club of Allegheny County.

The show is well worth a visit. Some exhibits are arranged to represent rockeries and other charming spots of the extensive gardens of large estates. Florists and nursery concerns have done a laudable job in simulating outdoor landscaping effects and in arranging formal groups in which the plants and flowers present natural pictures of great appeal.

It is a showing of ideas as well as specimens, and any person who spends much of his time in the yard around his home is sure to receive some valuable suggestion through a visit. It is a worthy step toward making Pittsburgh "A better, cleaner, more beautiful city."

'It Gets You Nowhere'

The Little Wet Calf Knows It

WISCONSIN HAS A FLING

This pleasing little cartoon from the Camden Post describes the situation of Wisconsin, voting emphatically WET.

Such votes are interesting, but, to use an old and not too accurate expression, they "get you nowhere."

You have seen a small calf, with a rope round its neck, tied to a tree. Too young to know that the tree is firmly rooted, the calf starts on a gallop, to be suddenly jerked backwards on its haunches with a pain in the neck.

This is what must happen to states that vote wet, while Volstead's law is on the statute books, and prohibition in the Constitution.

The people must make up their minds, as a whole, that they want or don't want prohibition.

They may as well dismiss from their minds immediately any question of taking prohibition out of the CONSTITUTION. That can't be done.

It went into the Constitution in war excitement. Nothing less than another war would take it out again. THIRTY-SIX STATES out of 48 must vote to change the Constitution. And a good deal more than 12 states out of 48 will always VOTE dry, even though some may LIVE wet.

However, the Volstead act CAN be changed.

There is nothing in the Constitution about forbidding Americans to drink beer.

The Constitutional amendment says that INTOXICATING liquors shall not be sold. And Congress will pass laws accordingly. But the Constitution does NOT say what "an intoxicating liquor" is.

If Congress decides, as it might do, that light wines and light beers, normal stimulants, used by hundreds of millions without intemperance, are NOT INTOXICATING, then beers and light wines could be legally permitted. And the Constitution would be in no way offended or "disregarded."

However, we are probably a long way from anything of that kind. The little wet calf will have his fling ONLY as far as the end of the rope. And the rope will not go quite as far as legal beer or wine.

Tales That Are Told

The Rhyme Went Wrong

"If you rhyme the facts of history," said the new master, "it will help you to rememeber them. For instance, 'In fourteen hundred ninety-two Columbus sailed the ocean blue.' That will help you to remember the date of the discovery of America."

The next day the master thought he would test his theory.

"When did Columbus discover America, Stimpson?" he asked.

"In fourteen hundred ninety-three Columbus sailed the dark blue sea," came the answer instantly.

Good Substitute

DARKNESS was settling down over the picturesque Scottish highlands, and the three young American college girls who were enjoying the view from the top of the creaking stage coach began to shiver in the evening breeze. "I say," called the driver to the passengers below, "is there a Mackintosh down there big enough to keep three young ladies warm?"

"No," came an eager voice from inside, "but there's a big MacPherson doon here that's willin' to try."

SANDERS meant well, but somehow he was always putting his feet in it. Invariably he said the wrong thing.

At a dance he was presented to a young woman whose proportions were anything but meager. Sanders asked her for a dance.

"I can only spare you a one-step," she replied, "and I can't guarantee that, because I'm afraid my friends will be leaving before it takes place."

"Oh, how empty the room will seem when you're gone," gurgled Sanders.

It All Depends

JACKSON was a marvel at figures. Eventually the manager himself heard rumors of his employe's skill and decided to put the genius to a test.

"Look here, Jackson," he said one day in front of all the workmen, "how many colored shirts could a man get out of a yard?"

"Ah," he answered blithely, "and it would depend on whose yard the man was in."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

A GIRL that married an absent-minded young man was terrible worried. She went to a psychoanalyst or something like that to find out about it.

"Why," she says, "I'm worried about my husband's actions. He forgets my name. Instead of calling me May, he often call me Sonia or Vera or Adrienne or Marian, and sometimes he even calls me Pearl. What do you suppose that means?"

"Well, of course, it doesn't need to worry you," says the expert. "He just knew dames by them names before he married you, and it's natural for him to slip on a name once in a while."

"Yes," she says, shouting, "that's what I suspected! And he always kisses me when he calls me them names!"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

MAMMA'S LITTLE TOOTSIE WOOTSIE USUALLY TURNS OUT TO BE LIFE'S LITTLE FLAT TIRE.

You've noticed it, haven't you?

That young smart-aleck who was recently put in charge of the Big Shop. Might have been a regular person, but he was an only son and his mother gave him everything he wanted. And what a mess he turned out to be!

And that girl your cousin married—there was another Mamma's darling, and look at her! Always pouting, sulking, throwing tantrums—making a perpetual nuisance of herself. Yet she might have been a fine woman if she hadn't been so spoiled.

You've known dozens like that—dozens of spoiled humans who've never grown up because Mamma wouldn't let them—and they've made you think plenty.

Comes now Dr. George A. Dorsey, the famous psychologist, to indorse your conclusions.

"MOTHERS HAVE RUINED MORE MEN THAN DRINK!" said Dr. Dorsey.

"Children who get their own way by crying, by bullying, by smart tricks—children who are 'mother's sweet darling, did he hurt his tootsie wootsie little finger?'—children who are cuddled and tucked to bed long after their babyhood—THESE ARE THE CHILDREN WHO BECOME FAILURES IN MARRIAGE, FAILURES IN FRIENDSHIP, FAILURES IN THEIR JOBS—BECAUSE THEY HAVE NEVER LEARNED TO STAND ON THEIR OWN FEET . . . AND GET ALONG WITH THEIR FELLOWS."

And this havoc is all worked in the name of love.

"My little girl can't get along without me—if I get out of her sight she breaks her heart," boasts one fond mother concerning her 6-year-old.

She might as reasonably have boasted that she had dislocated the child's spine and put out one of her eyes! Indeed, such physical cruelty would have been kinder than the mental infirmity she inflicted.

"Within the first years, even months of a baby's life, its mother can stimulate its emotions to turn only to herself. If she keeps that up until the child is 5 or 6 years old he will never be able to use his emotions freely in his life. THEY WILL ALWAYS REVOLVE AROUND HER," says Dr. Dorsey.

"AN INTELLIGENT MOTHER CAN TEACH A CHILD IN EIGHT YEARS TO WALK SO STRAIGHT. TO THINK SO STRAIGHT, THAT HE'LL NEVER GO CROOKED AS LONG AS HE LIVES."

But an amazing number of mothers don't want their children to "think straight!" They want them to think in a circle—a circle that will lead right back to Mamma and Mamma's notions.

Such women are filled with an insatiable hunger for attention. Their husbands and friends are too busy or bored to gratify that hunger, so they take it out on their youngsters. They focus their children's interest upon themselves—they consume their lives for their own egotistical satisfaction. They call it "love." IT IS REALLY CANNIBALISM!

Bible Passages

The Living God

(The Acts 17: 16-34)

NOW while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was stirred in him, when he saw the city wholly given to idolatry.

Therefore disputed he in the synagogue with the Jews, and with the devout persons, and in the market daily with them that met with him.

Then certain philosophers of the Epicureans and of the Stoicks, encountered him. And some said, What will this babbler say? other some, He seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods: because he preached unto them Jesus, and the resurrection.

And they took him and brought him unto Areopagus, saying, May we know what this new doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

For thou bringest certain strange things to our ears: we would know therefore what these things mean.

(For all the Athenians and strangers which were there spent their time in nothing else, but wither to tell, or to hear some new thing.)

Then Paul stood in the midst of Mars hill, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious.

For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, I found an Altar with this inscription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD. Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you.

God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in the temples made with hands;

Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed anything, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things;

And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation;

That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us.

For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.

Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device.

And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent.

Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.

And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked: and others said, We will hear thee again of this matter.

So Paul departed from among them.

Howbeit certain men clave unto him, and believed: among them which was Dionysius and Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

Isn't It So?

WORK AND LABOR

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Scientifically speaking are the meanings of labor and work the same? This argument arose in a science class, and I would be pleased to have your opinion.—D. W., Red Bank."

SINCE the question arose in a science class you ought to have a scientific definition of work to begin with. It is this: "Work is the overcoming of resistance through a certain distance."

The scientific unit of work, in English, is the "foot-pound," and a foot-pound is defined as a pressure of one pound exerted through a space of one foot.

Out of this definition of work we derive "power," which is definited as the rate at which work is done; thus a horse-power is 550-foot pounds exerted in one second, or, which is the same thing in effect, 33,000 foot-pounds exerted in one minute. You see that the idea of power introduces the element of time in addition to that of distance. First you have pressure alone, which is simply an exertion of force, without regard to distance (motion) or time. Then you introduce the element of distance, or space, through which the force acts, and the combination immediately becomes work; next you add time, and the three together constitute what the engineer calls power.

Thus it takes one unit of work to lift a weight of one pound to a height of one foot.

It takes one unit of power to lift a weight of one pound to the height of one foot, in one second.

This shows how very important time is in all such matters. By introducing time we get the idea of velocity, or of the rapidity with which work is done. But this depends upon the intensity of the force employed. It takes a greater expenditure of force to raise a pound weight one foot in a second than to raise it one foot in a minute.

So we come to another idea — that of energy. Energy has been called "store work," or "the capacity to do work," or also "possible work." It is scientifically equal to half the product of the mass (weight) multiplied by the velocity squared. To reduce this to foot pounds divide by 32 (the acceleration of gravity). Thus a weight of one ton moving with a velocity of 1,000 feet per second would have a kinetic energy of 2,000 x 1,000,000 x ½ = 1,000,000,000 units, which divided by 32 gives 31,500,000 foot-pounds, equivalent to 57,272 horse-power expended in one second.

Now, once more back to your question, whether labor is the same as work. It would be the same if a machine could talk, or even if it were conscious of itself, without the power of talking. The scientist says that there is no work if there is no motion. That is true enough by his definition of work, for, according to that, a table holding up a weight that is almost sufficient to break it down does no work at all, because the weight remains motionless. It experts pressure, to be sure, but scientifically pressure is not work until it produces motion. The scientist had no walking delegates to look out for when he made his definition of work. He took advantage of the fact that machines and tables and such inanimate things cannot help one another, or make rules and draw up constitutions for self defense.

The Five O'Clocker

By Herbert Kaufman

THE record is tattling things to the management. It knows that your brain carries a union card. It finds you more interested in closing-time than executive openings. It suspects that you're working for today's pay, not tomorrow's chance.

Eight hour clocks aren't built to hold any big ambitions in their hands.

Bushels that never brim over always cheat a bit.

You're so careful not to do too much for the money, that we're sure you're not doing enough.

Winning sprinters can't stop on the mark. Nor will a man deeply absorbed in his tasks drop a job when the whistle blows.

The mind is an erratic hen and simply won't hatch by schedule. Therefore it's impossible to follow inflexible routine, and follow straight through.

But, fifty-percenters don't elude efficiency's secret service.

Business maintains ten little detectives constantly on their trail—ten infallible sleuths, who haven't yet missed their man.

They are all over the place, spying out scampers, tracing clues to bungles and blunders, tearing down false-fronts and turning up defaulters.

You can't get away from the keen-eyed figures on the adding machine.

So move into the delivery department or move on.

Refer to the tax list if you don't believe that extra effort registers on the pay-roll.

Treasury returns are full of ladder-climbing plots. Trade and romance still collaborate on fairy tales.

Corporations habitually reach into the ranks for administrators—self-starters are everywhere operating Big Business machinery.

Favoritism was fired when commerce began to check books. Experience has long preferred dividends to fair-haired boys.

Profit is compelled to share with its producers.

Even a Chinese riverman realizes he must whack up with his fish-catching cormorants.

The trained pigs of Perigord continue to hunt truffles only so long as their masters share the spoils.

Shrewdness plays fair—on the balance sheet's advice.

Where ability is undervalued, competition promptly corrects the error. And it's cheaper to keep a first-rater than to replace him.

But increases and shoulder straps aren't distributed to the Five o'Clock Brigade.

Promotion doesn't begin to survey the organization until after the gong rings.

"Last-Minute Men" miss a lot of trains and personal engagements, to keep their dates with Opportunity.

Stay behind and come along with the other nail clinchers. Clean up before you clear out.

Join the evening class and take a postgraduate course in i-dotting and t-crossing.

Any janitor can foretell the firm's future bosses—he meets 'em regularly on his nightly rounds.

The youngsters he finds making hay while the incandescents shine are practicing for partnerships.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 14.—"Rolling the bones" is far from being the most popular gambling game along the Lenox Avenue's Anthracite Alley. For several years, a game known as "Numbers" has been the method of separating gullible colored folk from their hard-earned bankrolls.

In its extravagant odds lies its lure. It daily impoverishes easy marks and enriches wise gamblers, and the outgrowth of its popularity is a gambling trust with much of the graft and sinister murders so auspiciously characteristic of the bootleg industry.

"Numbers" is a sort of lottery based on three figures of the daily clearing house statement. Big gamblers are the bankers and have runners who sell the numbers along the street and collect the swag. The bankers are supposed to pay off, but their dishonesty is notorious.

A participant may play any amount from a penny up. The odds paid to the winner are 540 to 1. The chances of picking the right number are 1,000 to 1. Only in rare instances does a player put up more than a dollar, and one of them who won has never been seen since.

Many days may pass without a banker having to pay out a penny, and there are other times when perhaps a half dozen have selected the winner in a single day. In such instances they are more than likely to find the banker has pulled up stakes in a hurry.

Due to its obvious illegality, the game is shot with trickery. The runners who dispose of the numbers and collect therefor are hi-jacked along the streets in the manner of rum runners. And other runners who have had a good day merely skip with their loot.

It is said that about $50,000 is squandered daily in the crude Harlem variant of the old army game. The loot comes naturally from the working classes and visits its inevitable hardships on innocent families.

Incidentally, in a current play of Harlem life, the following glossary of idioms is offered: Rent party—a Saturday night apartment carouse to pay the rent. Sweetback—a man who lives off women. Hincty—snooty. Dicty—highbrow. Monkey chaser—a West Indian Negro. Love charm—a good luck piece. Goofer dust—a supposed magic powder. Monkey Hip Eater—a derisive name for a Barbadoes Negro. Mess Around—a whirlwind dance. Hot Stuff Man—seller of stolen goods. 38 and 2—that's fine. 40—Okay. Righteous—correct. Sweet man—great lover. Big Sugar, Small Sugar—terms of endearment. Jive—to josh. Lily liver—a coward. Down to bricks—to the limit. "Mon"—a West Indian Negro's pronunciation of man, hence a West Indian Negro. Picked—Robbed.

It was France's personable Maurice Chevalier who upset the fixed standards of night club entertainment several weeks ago. His art was an illuminating thrust at the dreary hocus-pocus of vo-deo-do songs and acrobatic steppers that provided night life with its biggest yawn. Chevalier proved that even after midnight people enjoy intelligent presentations. He proved that not everybody who sees Broadway by lamplight is out stalking cheap emotion with a sentimental bun. To appreciate Chevalier one must be sober, and he was vastly appreciated. Out of his triumph has come improvement in nocturnal entertaining. There are still a few undraped ladies, shouting hostesses, pet pythons and such, but the "big play" places present distinguished performers in distinguished turns.

One of the sour reactions to night clubs is the amiable stew who plops himself down in the vacant chair, empties the tankard nearest him, and relates how terribly misunderstood he is at home. A guy such as he is would be misunderstood anywhere.

A new figure attached to the house staff of several theaters is the "Governess." Her job is to look out for the juvenile dears of the chorus.

"Him and shad roe," sneered a front row $15 seat holder.

One of the literary lionets, who showers epigrams at afternoon teas, was jockeyed into a corner by a gushing young lady admirer who insisted he autograph a copy of his book she brought along with something very personal. "Something," she cooed, "that will make people think I have known you for a long time." He wrote: "How beautiful has been our 40 years of friendship!"

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ARE you a neutral individual?

Apparently agreeing with the person with whom you chance to be for fear of making enemies?

When two friends argue, in your presence, do you try to straddle?

Neither can tell which side you favor.

Don't you know that your position would carry more respect with it if you were to take a stand one way or the other?

You ought to have some opinions and strong convictions.

Not stubborn positions, which you will not change even in the face of the strongest proof that you are mistaken.

There are some men who glory in the fact that they never change.

They think it denotes character.

More likely it shows how foolishly "set" they are in their ideas.

Scores of men stand in their own light when they might be much better informed, just because they refuse to admit they are wrong when strong evidence proves it.

Are you a person of this sort?

Certainly you should have opinions and you should not be afraid to voice them.

Don't be a jellyfish.

But don't be foolishly positive in your opinions.
